Service of process is completed by posting a copy of the summons and complaint upon the water producing facility or the parcel of land upon which it is located and by personal service upon the named defendant.

The right to proceed for injunctive relief granted herein is an additional right to those which may be provided elsewhere in this act or otherwise allowed by law. The procedure provided in Part 2, Title 7, Chapter 3 of the Code of Civil Procedure regarding injunctions shall be followed except insofar as it may herein be otherwise provided. Said district shall not be required to provide an undertaking or bond as a condition to granting injunctive relief.

SEC. 44. Section 33 of said act is repealed.

SEC. 45. Section 33 is added to said act, to read:

Sec. 33. If said district has probable cause to believe that the production of water from any water producing facility is in excess of that disclosed by the sworn statements covering such water producing facility, or if no statements are filed covering any water producing facility, said district may cause an investigation and report to be made concerning the production of water from each such water producing facility. Said district may fix the amount of water production from any such water producing facility at an amount not to exceed the maximum production capacity of such water producing facility; provided, however, where a water measuring device is permanently attached thereto, the record of production as disclosed by such water measuring device shall be presumed to be accurate and the burden is upon said district to establish to the contrary.

After such determination has been made by said district, a written notice thereof shall be mailed to the person owning or operating such water producing facility at his address as shown by the district's records. Any such determination made by said district shall be conclusive on all persons having an interest in such water producing facility and the replenishment assessment interest and penalties thereon, payable in advance, unless such person files with the board of directors of said district within 10 days after the mailing of such notice a written protest setting forth the ground or grounds for protesting the amount of production so fixed. Upon the filing of such protest, said board of directors shall hold a hearing at which time the total amount of the water production and the replenishment assessment thereon shall be determined.

which shall be conclusive if based upon substantial evidence. A notice of such hearing shall be mailed to protestant at least 10 days before the date fixed for the hearing. Notice of the determination by said board of directors shall be mailed to each protestant who shall have 20 days from the date of mailing to pay the replenishment assessment, interest or penalties fixed by said board.

SEC. 46. Section 34 of said act is repealed.

SEC. 47. Section 34 is added to said act, to read:

Sec. 34. Said district may bring a suit in the court having jurisdiction against any owner or operator of a water producing facility within said district for the collection of any delinquent replenishment assessment. The court having jurisdiction of said suit may, in addition to allowing recovery of costs to said district as allowed by law, fix and allow as part of the judgment, interest and penalties as provided in Section 29. Should said district, as a provisional remedy in bringing such suit, seek an attachment against the property of any named defendant therein, said district shall not be required to provide a bond or undertaking as is otherwise provided for in the Code of Civil Procedure of the State of California in Part 2, Title 7, Chapter 4 thereof.

SEC. 48. Section 35 of said act is repealed.

SEC. 49. Section 35 is added to said act, to read:

The Board of Directors by resolution may extend the date from March 31, 1956, on a year to year basis upon its determination that availability, price of water measuring devices, or other circumstances justify such extension; provided further, however, that no extension may be made beyond March 31, 1960. Should said date be extended, notice thereof shall be given by publication in a newspaper of general circulation within said district once a week for two successive weeks to be completed not less than two months prior to said date.

This section is not applicable to owners or operators of water producing facilities having a discharge opening two inches or less in diameter and which do not provide domestic or irrigation water for an area in excess of one acre who pay, in accordance with district regulations a fixed charge in lieu of affixing a water measuring device.

It shall be unlawful to produce water from any water producing facility within the boundaries of the Orange County Water District from and after March 31, 1956, unless such water producing facility has been registered with said district and has a water measuring device affixed thereto capable of registering the accumulated amount of water produced therefrom.

Violation of this provision shall be punishable by a fine not to exceed five hundred dollars ($500) or imprisonment in the county jail for not to exceed six (6) months or by both such fine and imprisonment. Each day of operation in violation hereof shall constitute a separate offense.

SEC. 50. Section 36 of said act is repealed.

SEC. 51. Section 36 is added to said act, to read:

Sec. 36. The district shall not be bound by any contract except as hereinafter provided unless the same shall be made in writing by resolution of the board of directors and properly executed by its officers who have been so authorized to do by said district. The approval of the form of all contracts shall be indorsed thereon by an attorney for said district.

Every expenditure by said district other than the purchase of water to replenish the ground water supplies therein, and in an amount in excess of five thousand dollars ($5,000) shall be made by said district with the lowest and best bidder after the publication for at least two days in a newspaper of general circulation published within said district, of a notice calling for bids and fixing a period during which such bids will be received, which shall be not less than 10 days after the first publication of said notice. The district may reject any and all such bids presented and may re-advertise in its discretion. After rejecting such bids or if no bids are received, said district may determine and declare that in its opinion, based on estimates submitted by the engineer for said district, any work may be performed better or more economically by said district with its own employees, or after hiring additional employees; and after the adoption of a resolution to this effect by at least seven affirmative votes of the directors of said district, said district may proceed to have such work done in the manner stated and without further observance of the provisions of this section.

Expenditures, likewise, may be incurred or contracts let or work undertaken without advertising for bids if such work shall be deemed by said district to be of urgent necessity for the preservation of life, health or property and shall be authorized by a resolution passed by at least eight affirmative votes of the board of directors and containing a declaration of the facts constituting such urgency.

Any person or persons to whom a contract may be awarded shall enter into a bond, with good and sufficient sureties, to be approved by the board, payable to said district for its use, for at least 25 percent of the amount of the estimated contract price, conditioned for the faithful performance of said contract. The work shall be done under the direction and to the satisfaction of the engineer of said district, and be subject to approval by the board of directors of said district.

SEC. 52. Section 38 of said act is repealed.

SEC. 53. Section 41 of said act is amended to read:

Sec. 41. The board of directors or other officers of [the] said district shall have no power to incur any debt or liability whatever[, either by issuing bonds or otherwise,] in excess of the express provisions of this act; and any debt or liability incurred in excess of such express provisions shall be and remain absolutely void.

[Nothing contained in this section shall be construed as limiting the right of the board to enter into any contract or lease for any lands, water, water rights or other property as elsewhere in this act authorized and by said lease or contract to bind the district for the payment of the consideration specified in said lease or contract, but, except as hereinafter provided, if the smallest payment to be made under said lease or contract in any year exceeds an amount equal to one cent for each one hundred dollars or fraction thereof of the assessed valuation of property in the district assessable by said district, said lease or contract shall not be valid unless an assessment or assessments sufficient to meet all the payments to become due under said lease or contract shall have been or shall be authorized for that purpose by the qualified voters of said district in accordance with the provisions of this act; provided, that this limitation shall not apply to any contract or lease for the supplying of water to the district by a metropolitan water district organized under the Metropolitan Water District Act of this State, and, notwithstanding any other provision of this act, the board may enter into such contract or lease and thereby bind the district forthwith according to the terms and provisions of said contract or lease, and the provisions of Section 21 and Section 22 of this act shall not apply.]

SEC. 54. Section 44 of said act is amended to read:

Sec. 44. The board of directors may, at any time after the [voting of any bonds or] the levy of any assessment herein provided for, bring an action in the Superior Court of Orange County to determine the validity of any [said bonds or said levy of assessments] assessment; said action shall be in the nature of a proceeding in rem, and jurisdiction of all parties interested may be had in publication of summons for at least once a week for three weeks in some paper of general circulation published in the county where the action is pending, such paper to be designated by the court having jurisdiction of the proceedings. Jurisdiction shall be complete within 10 days after the full publication of said summons in the manner herein provided. Anyone interested may at any time before the expiration of said 10 days appear and by proper proceedings contest the validity of said [bonds or] assessments. Said action shall be speedily tried and judgment rendered declaring the matter so contested either valid or invalid. Either party may have the right to appeal to the Supreme Court at any time within 30 days after the rendition of said judgment, which appeal must be heard and determined within three months from the time of taking such appeal.

SEC. 55. Section 45 of said act is amended to read:

Sec. 45. If no such proceedings shall have been brought by the board of directors, then, at any time within 30 days after the levy of any assessment [or voting of any bonds] under the provisions of this act, any district assessment payer may bring an action in the Superior Court of Orange County to determine the validity of said assessment [or said bonds]. The [board of directors] Orange County Water District shall be [made parties] named as a defendant, and service of summons shall be made on [the members of the board] such district by personally serving any officer of said district. Said [board] district shall have the right to appear and contest said action. Said action shall be speedily tried, and either party shall have the right to appeal within the time and manner herein provided in the case of actions brought by the board to determine such matters, and any such appeal shall be heard and determined in the manner and within the time herein provided in the case of appeals in such actions brought by the board.

SEC. 56. Section 48 of said act is amended to read:

Sec. 48. No contest of any thing or matter herein provided for shall be made other than within the time and manner herein specified, and in any such contest the findings of facts or conclusions of said board of directors, upon all matters, shall be conclusive, unless the action be instituted within six months after such findings or conclusion was made, except as otherwise provided in this act.

SEC. 57. Section 50 of said act is amended to read:

Sec. 50. The boundaries of [the] said district may be changed to include within [the] said district additional land whether contiguous or not as hereinafter in this act provided, and the inclusion within [the] said district of such lands shall be deemed to effect a change of the boundaries of said districts; but no change in the boundaries of [the] said district shall impair or affect its organization or its right in or to property, or any of its rights or privileges of whatever kind or nature, nor shall it affect, impair or discharge any contract, obligation, lien or charge for or upon which it was or might become liable or chargeable had such change of its boundaries not been made.

Whenever additional land is included within said district, whether contiguous or not, the inclusion may be upon such reasonable terms and conditions as said district determines, which may include reasonable limitations as to manner of use or quantity of water used upon the included land.

SEC. 58. Section 51 of said act is amended to read:

Sec. 51. The holder or holders of title, or a majority of the holders of title, of any tract or parcel of land contiguous or noncontiguous [adjacent] to the boundaries of [the] said district, and within the County of Orange, may file in the office of the board of directors of [the] said district, a petition praying that said tract or parcel of land be included within said district; provided, that if there is more than one holder of title of said land, the petitioners must include the holders of title of at least one-half of the area of said land. If any petitioner is the owner of an undivided interest in any land described in the petition, he shall be deemed to be the owner of such proportion of the area of the land in which he has an interest as his interest bears to the whole of such land. Each signature to such petition shall be acknowledged as provided by law for signatures to an instrument to entitle it to be recorded.

SEC. 59. Section 64 of said act is amended to read:

Sec. 64. In case land is included within the district as aforesaid, the board of directors thereof, not less than 30 days before any election in said district thereafter, shall re-establish the boundaries of the divisions and election precincts within said district, so as to include said land therein and so as to make said divisions as nearly equal in area as may be practicable. In case of the inclusion of any land less than 30 days before an election within said district, the inhabitants of the land so included shall not be entitled to vote at said election. Such included land shall become part of existing divisions of said district and by inclusion of additional lands the number of the divisions of said district or the number of directors of said district shall not be changed.

SEC. 60. Section 68 of said act is amended to read:

Sec. 68. The board of directors, at the time and place mentioned in the notice, or at the time or times to which the hearing of said petition may be adjourned, shall proceed to hear the petition, and all evidence or proofs that may or shall be introduced by or on behalf of the petitioner or petitioners, and all objections to such petition that may or shall be presented in writing by any person showing cause as aforesaid, and all evidence and proofs that may be introduced in support of such objections. The failure of any person interested in said district, [other than the holders of bonds thereof outstanding at the time of the filing of said petition with said board,] to show cause, in writing, why the tract or tracts of land mentioned in said petition should not be excluded from said district, shall be deemed and taken as an assent by him to the exclusion of such tract or tracts of land, or any part thereof, from said district; and the filing of such petition with said board, as aforesaid, shall be deemed and taken as an assent by each and all such petitioners to the exclusion from such district of the lands mentioned in the petition, or any part thereof. The expenses of giving said notice and of the aforesaid proceeding shall be paid by the person or persons filing such petition.

SEC. 61. Section 69 of said act is amended to read:

Sec. 69. If, upon the hearing of any such petition, no evidence or proofs in support thereof be introduced, or if the evidence fail to sustain said petition, or if the board deem it not for the best interest of the district that the lands, or some portion thereof, mentioned in the petition, should be excluded from the district, the board shall order that said petition be denied as to such lands; but if the said board deem it for the best interest of the district that the lands mentioned in the petition, or some portion thereof, be excluded from the district, and if no person interested in the district show cause in writing why the said lands or some portion thereof, should not be excluded from the district, or if, having shown cause, withdraws the same, or upon the hearing fails to establish such objections as he may have made, then it shall be the duty of the board to, and it shall forthwith, make an order that the lands mentioned and described in the petition, or some defined portion thereof, be excluded from said district; provided, that it shall be the duty of said board to order, upon petition therefor as aforesaid, that all lands so petitioned to be excluded from said district shall be excluded therefrom which in the judgment of the board will not be benefited by the operations of the district. [Whenever lands included in any municipal corporation use water from a source or sources outside the watershed of the Santa Ana River or outside the underground water basin or basins fed by the Santa Ana River, the board of directors may consider such use as grounds for excluding said lands from the district in a proceeding for exclusion instituted in accordance with Section 66 hereof.]

SEC. 62. Section 70 of said act is repealed.

SEC. 63. Section 74 of said act is amended to read:

Sec. 74. Nothing in this act provided shall, in any manner, operate to release any of the lands so excluded from the district from any obligation to pay, or any lien thereon [of any valid outstanding bonds or other indebtedness of the district] at the time of the filing of said petition for the exclusion of said lands, but upon the contrary, said lands shall be held subject to said lien and answerable and chargeable for and with the payment and discharge of all of said outstanding obligations at the time of the filing of the petition for the exclusion of said land, as fully as though said petition for such exclusion were never filed and said order or decree of exclusion never made; and for the purpose of discharging such outstanding indebtedness, said lands so excluded shall be deemed and considered as part of the district the same as though said petition for its exclusion had never been filed or said decree of execution never made; and all provisions which may have been resorted to to compel the payment by said lands of its quota or portion of said outstanding obligations, had said exclusion never been accomplished, may, notwithstanding said exclusion, be resorted to to compel and enforce the payment on the part of said lands of its quota and portion of said outstanding obligations of the district for which it is liable, as herein provided. But said land so excluded shall not be held answerable or chargeable for any obligation of any nature or kind whatever, incurred after the filing with the board of directors of the district of the petition for the exclusion of said lands from the district; provided that the provisions of this section shall not apply to any outstanding bonds, the holders of which have assented to the exclusion of such lands from the district, as heretofore provided. Provided further, that if within ten days of the time of any order excluding any lands from the district, other lands of equal or greater assessable value, have been included within the district, such excluded lands shall no longer be subject to further assessment by the district, except in the event of proceedings on behalf of the bondholders to enforce the payment of said excluded lands of their pro rata share of any principal or interest due and unpaid on the district's bonded indebtedness incurred while such excluded lands were part of the district]."

STATE OF CALIFORNIA, OFFICE OF LEGISLATIVE COUNSEL
SACRAMENTO, March 7, 1953

Hon. John A. Murdy, Jr.
Senate Chamber

Civil Rights—No. 6488

DEAR SENATOR MURDY:

Question

You ask us to discuss the effect which Senate Constitutional Amendment No. 21 would have on civil rights, if adopted by the Legislature and by the people.

Opinion

Senate Constitutional Amendment No. 21 would modify the general language of Section 1 of Article I of the California Constitution by adding new guarantees of "inalienable rights." While it is not possible to accurately forecast the full effect of this language, we do not think it will be interpreted by the courts in such a manner as to prevent or invalidate state legislation such as Civil Code Sections 51 through 54, or comparable provisions relating to civil rights.

Analysis

The measure would amend Section 1 of Article I of the Constitution to read as quoted below by adding to the existing provisions the language underlined:

"All men are by nature free and independent, and have certain inalienable rights, among which are those of enjoying and defending life and liberty; choice of associates, customers, tenants and employees; acquiring, possessing, disposing, and protecting property; and pursuing and obtaining safety and happiness."

This section has remained in its original form since 1849 and has sometimes been regarded as merely a general statement of the principles of our form of government. Thus, in Manford v. Singh (1919), 40 Cal. App. 700, 701, the court said:

"... It is manifest, though, that as far as any substantial right or privilege of the citizen is concerned and the protection which must be accorded to it by the law, said provision of the State Constitution prescribes nothing that is not comprehended by said [14th Amendment] section of the Federal Constitution. Of course, the sonorous phrasing of the inalienable rights of the individual in said section is felicitous and impressive, but it effects in no degree an enlargement or abridgment of the civil immunities of the citizen, nor does it operate to limit or increase the authority of the legislative department of the state government."

Upon occasion, however, the courts have used this section as the basis for recognizing enforceable rights not otherwise provided in the law, as for example, the right of privacy. (See Melvin v. Reid (1931), 112 Cal. App. 285.) The amendments to be made by S.C.A. 21, because they add new concepts to the traditional language, are susceptible to being construed as creating new guarantees having effect of their own force, whether or not implementing legislation is passed concerning them. The question, then, is the extent to which such new guarantees of rights would conflict with what we know generally as "civil rights."

The term "civil rights" is susceptible of a number of definitions. In its broadest aspect it has been said to include all of the "ordinary individual rights assured to every member of a well-regulated community" (10 Am. Jur. 894). The term is most often used today, however, in relation to the "particular guarantees of civil rights contained in State and Federal Constitutions and statutes which protect persons against discriminatory legislation or discriminatory treatment by reason of race, color, or previous condition of servitude" (10 Am. Jur. 894). It is in this more restricted sense that we discuss your question concerning the possible effects of S.C.A. 21 on civil rights.

In discussing this question it should first be noted that no amendment to the California Constitution can interfere with those civil rights protected under the Federal Constitution and statutes, which documents constitute the "supreme law of the land" (U. S. Const., Art. VI, Sec. 2; 5 Cal. Jur. 567). Since the "due process" and "equal protection" clauses of the Fourteenth Amendment to the United States Constitution are binding upon the states, it is clear that the major provisions guaranteeing civil rights, which are to be found there, would not be restricted by the proposed amendment to the California Constitution.

The second point to be noted is that the addition of new provisions to the California Constitution will not operate to repeal existing provisions of that document unless an irreconcilable conflict is presented. If two provisions can be read together and reconciled so as to give effect to both, the courts will so interpret them (People v. Zolotoff (1941), 48 C.A. 2d 360, 364; Sevier v. Riley (1926), 198 Cal. 170, 176; 5 Cal. Jur.

583). It follows, therefore, that those provisions of the California Constitution which confer civil rights will continue to be effective unless irreconcilable conflict exists between them and the new language to be added to Section 1 of Article I. (See, for example, the "Declaration of Rights" contained in Article I of the California Constitution.) While there appears to be no irreconcilable conflict between the new guarantees proposed to be added by S.C.A. 21 and other provisions of the Constitution we believe it is true of constitutional provisions as well as statutes, that the test of any provision is what may reasonably be done under its authority (Abbott v. McNutt 218 Cal. 225). We do not believe it is possible to foresee all the types of statutes which might be enacted pursuant to this proposed constitutional provision, or the types of cases to which that provision or such statutes might be applied. In the absence of some specific problem arising under these constitutional provisions we find it impossible to offer any conclusion as to whether an irreconcilable conflict may be discovered between the rights guaranteed by S.C.A. 21 and rights guaranteed by other provisions of the Constitution.

Finally, it may be argued in future cases that the addition of this language to the California Constitution invalidated existing California legislation in the field of "civil rights" and restricted the power of the Legislature to enact similar statutes. For example, Sections 51 through 54 of our Civil Code, which are generally called "civil rights" statutes (5 Cal. Jur. 130), guarantee equality in securing admission to certain places of public accommodation or amusement. As an illustration of this entire problem, it could be argued in a future case that the language added by S. C. A. 21 with respect to "choice of customers" would invalidate existing legislation designed to require proprietors of such public places to grant admission without discrimination.

Our courts have heretofore pointed out that Section 1 of Article I does not confer absolute rights, and that these "inalienable rights" are subject to regulation and restriction through the exercise of the police power of the State, including the kind of regulation found in our California civil rights statutes (Greenberg v. Western Turf Assn. (1905), 148 Cal. 126, 128; aff'd 204 U. S. 359). In many other instances the courts have rejected the claim that rights under this section prevent an exercise of the taxing or police power of the State (5 Cal. Jur. 728-732). We believe, therefore, that any new guarantees created under S. C. A. 21 would be subject to similar legislative regulation in the public interest. In view of the well-established federal and state policy of guaranteeing equality of treatment to all citizens (see James v. Marinship Corp. (1944), 25 Cal. 2d 721, 740), we incline to the view that the California civil rights statutes embodied in Civil Code Sections 51 through 54, and other similar statutes, would continue to be operative as reasonable regulations of individual rights justified under the police power, notwithstanding the language proposed to be added to Section 1 of Article I by S. C. A. 21.

Very truly yours,

RALPH N. KLEPS
Legislative Counsel
By A. C. MORRISON, Deputy

LETTER OF TRANSMITTAL

February 26, 1953

*Hon. Ben Hulse, Chairman
Senate Finance Committee
State Capitol Building
Sacramento, California*

DEAR SENATOR: In connection with the Budget Act of 1952, the Senate Finance Committee requested the Real Estate Commissioner to review the subdivision situation and report back to said committee.

In accordance with that request, I am submitting herewith my report.

Sincerely,

D. D. WATSON,
Real Estate Commissioner of California

SUBDIVISION CONTROL IN CALIFORNIA REPORT TO SENATE FINANCE COMMITTEE

By

D. D. Watson, State Real Estate Commissioner

In connection with the Budget Act of 1952, you requested that I study the existing control of subdivisions in California and report my findings to your committee. Not having available personnel, the University of California was asked to correlate all the information I could gather relating to the subject, and through its Real Estate Research Program, to include information available to them from other sources. The university was requested to make its analysis independent of my personal direction or opinions, and to submit the findings, general observations, and conclusions to me personally.

I am attaching hereto, as a part of my report, the analysis of the problems as submitted to me by the University Bureau. It should be understood that the university did not have an adequate staff to make an extensive field survey, and it should be borne in mind that the report is made only after a rather limited study. Some may disagree with particular statements and conclusions in the report, but in all fairness the report must be considered as a whole and not by reading any one particular sentence or statement.

Home Builders Have Done Meritorious Job

I wish to preface this report by pointing out that nothing herein or in the accompanying research report of the University of California is intended to detract from the credit due the California home builders and subdividers for their accomplishments during the past years. They have met the challenge of an unprecedented population growth and have produced over 1,000,000 homes since the war. Throughout the State they have met the problem of housing shortages and overcome it.

Weaknesses Stressed, Good Points Omitted

It should be emphasized at this point that no attempt has been made in the university's report to comment at all upon the thousands of subdivisions and home building programs throughout the State which have been conducted in an exemplary manner. To the contrary the report is intended to deal only with what appear to be weaknesses in subdivision controls.

Growth of "Merchant Builders"

There has been a great change in the nature of our California subdivision developments in the postwar years. They have changed from primarily lot sale projects to mass production home sale products. Most subdivisions in this period have been launched by large scale builders rather than by those who are primarily subdividers. They have been interested in developing large numbers of lots at a reasonable cost, and in tracts where mass production methods were adaptable, in order to keep construction costs and selling prices to a minimum.

The subdivision of today which is improved with tract built mass-produced homes does not need the same kind and degree of regulation required for subdivisions launched for speculation. The merchant builder who subdivides only as a means of providing home sites for immediate use is usually not a subdivider by choice, but through necessity. He manufactures a finished product—a lot fully improved with all conveniences, and is really in the merchandising business.

Laws Need Review

The change in subdivision practice has created a need for reviewing present regulations with a view to adapting them to modern needs. For example, the present subdivision law administered by the Real Estate Commissioner was written in 1933—20 years ago. Extensive changes in development and marketing practices in connection with subdivisions have occurred during that period. Therefore, study of this law and other laws relating to subdivision control with a view to making them more applicable to present day practices should be undertaken.

Subdivision Expansion Presents New Problems

The rapid expansion of subdivision developments surrounding California cities has created many new particular problems, in addition to more general ones involving schools, highways and transportation. These particular problems are directly related to the subdivision and home building industry and comprise sanitation, water supply, drainage, flood control, recreational areas, access, and in some instances filled ground.

Since the war, thousands of new subdivision lots have been created to take care of the needed home building program. Much of the lands surrounding the larger centers which are particularly suited for subdivision purposes have been exhausted. Subdividers and home builders have had to move into areas where the lands are marginal for subdivision use, and are forced to develop lots at great expense. This has in many instances presented still greater difficulties in providing proper sewage disposal, control of flood hazards, drainage and filled ground. It appears that no longer can the entire burden of providing such facilities be thrust upon the shoulders of the subdivider or individual purchaser of a home.

Subdivision and Home Building Business Is Enormous

Since the war, more than a million and a half of our citizens have invested or obligated themselves to more than 15 billions of dollars in home investments in this State, and it appears that during the next 10 years, 2,000,000 additional citizens will be investing more than 20 billion dollars in homes. This means that on an average, 4,000 California citizens are investing 40 million dollars in homes each week. The necessity for providing these homes is forecast by the contemplated  $3\frac{1}{2}$  or 4 million increase in population generally predicted for the State during this period. These figures are given to emphasize the importance of the business, and the attention which should be given to the subdivider, merchant builder, and home purchaser.

Division of Real Estate Charged With Fraud Prevention

The efforts of the Division of Real Estate in the control of subdivisions are directed largely toward the disclosure of all material facts. On the other hand, the law charges the commissioner with the responsibility of investigating the subdivisions to determine that their sale would not constitute a fraud upon the public. Inasmuch as most subdivisions are sold for residential use, the sale in itself forms an implied representation that the lots are suited for home building and supplied with services which meet local health, drainage, design and other standards. It is for this reason that the commissioner concerns himself with all phases of the subdivision development. However, if any one of the vital requirements is lacking, the question arises as to the commissioner's authority to do very much about it, under existing laws.

Physical Hazards

Where physical hazards appear to exist in connection with any subdivision, the law charges the commissioner with gathering all available information and disclosing the facts in his public report. Due to scarcity of good subdivision land and the tendency to subdivide marginal lands, close check on physical hazards is becoming more and more important. These investigations should in all cases be undertaken by local agencies and not by the Division of Real Estate. However, the present law provides that the commissioner shall gather these findings and set them forth in his public report.

Regulatory Bodies Meet the Challenge

Officials concerned with subdivisions have done a splendid job, working with laws which were not designed for this great volume or type of activity, without laws to cope with new problems which arose, with understaffed departments, with a scarcity of expert and experienced help, and with confusion due to conflicting rules and overlapping efforts. Many have worked long hours in an attempt to give service under adverse circumstances.

I want to emphasize that in my opinion, all local, county and state officials, as well as the employees of these agencies, are conscientiously trying to do a good job. One of the major problems is that we have a multiplicity of laws, rules and regulations administered by such a number of various agencies—local, county, state and federal—that it is almost impossible for those doing the regulating to understand all of the complex procedures, or even why some of them are necessary.

Weaknesses in Regulation

The research bureau of the university reported that there are a maze of controls affecting subdivisions, and enforced by numerous agencies. They listed 15 of these which ordinarily enter into the final approval of the average subdivision, and pointed out that there are many others which play a part in the over-all regulation.

Although the particular activities of each of these agencies may be necessary to proper subdivision control, indications are that some do not coordinate their efforts, with the result that there is an overlapping of efforts, and consequently duplication of demands made upon the subdivider. These excessive costs must be borne by the home builder and eventually passed on to the home buyer.

Continuous Jurisdiction Needed

Weakness of the controls and lack of authority vested in these agencies results in inadequate protection of the investing public. The standards adopted in various jurisdictions throughout the State vary greatly. Many evils surrounding subdivisions are beyond controls exercised under present laws. Many of the bad features develop after the initial approval is given by the various agencies, and present laws do not provide for continuing jurisdiction in most cases. As previously pointed out, another weakness of the present system is that it creates undue delays to the subdivision and home building industry. Despite the great need for housing to meet the present demand, the subdivision and home building industry finds that often many weeks and months elapse before they can get their final product on the market. This delay also adds to the ultimate cost to the home investor.

The university bureau points out that it is difficult for the average land developer and home builder to acquaint himself with all of the various controls. They are not clearly set forth in publications, and their application varies with the interpretation given them by the particular employee handling the matter. He is further delayed in many areas because of failure of the agency to develop a staff of sufficient size to undertake the volume of work, or to properly train new employees.

Uniform Standards Lacking

As pointed out, the standards to be met by subdividers and home builders vary widely in various communities of the State, as there have been no state-wide minimum standards established which are adhered to regularly. These conditions resulting in expense and loss of time, do not result in uniform regulation encouraging proper development.

Cooperation of Subdivision Industry

While those in the industry do not welcome a never-ending mass of rules and regulations set up for them to comply with, it is felt that they would welcome and participate to the fullest extent in efforts to establish procedures resulting in a minimum number of concise, easily understood, and positive methods that would simplify the regulation of their industry.

Subdivision Regulations Need Thorough Study

There is every indication that serious review of the entire subdivision and home building industry in this State is overdue. It has developed into the State's leading industry and has expanded to enormous size under controls and practices which were designed for a different type of development than is usually undertaken today.

A full scale study should be undertaken by a committee of qualified persons with an organization which is properly staffed and financed, perhaps similar to the organization of the San Francisco Bay Area Rapid Transit Commission. They should have the power to select their own men of the right type to do the necessary work involved in making a complete documented survey, study, and recommendation. The committee's goal should be a plan for eliminating conflict in jurisdiction, correcting lack of minimum state-wide standards, and elimination of any unnecessary procedures.

Practical Approach Important

The members of any commission or committee created to study the problem of subdivision control on the various levels should be experienced and well grounded in the practical aspects of the business. They should be persons with a keen interest in the problems and be willing to make their knowledge and time available in the interest of the public welfare and orderly development of our State.

State Should Finance Survey

The State might properly provide the funds to defray the cost of the suggested survey to be conducted by the commission, since the results obtained would reflect to the benefit of all of its citizens. Possibly these funds could be allocated from the Reserve Fund of the Division of Real Estate, if it should be proper and legal to use this source of money to finance a program designed to solve some of the State's real estate development problems. Supplemental studies made by local agencies cooperating in the over-all program should be financed at the local level.

Conclusion

I submit that any industry in this State which causes 200,000 citizens to invest approximately two billion dollars annually should be properly recognized, and the laws and regulations by which they are bound should be carefully scrutinized. The industry is of such tremendous size that there should be complete understanding between those in the industry and the city, county, and state officials involved in enforcing regulations which control them.

I respectfully submit this report to you with the hope that it will result in not only clearing up much misunderstanding, but also doing away with outmoded laws, rules and regulations, and the concentration of more powers at a local level and less at the state level.

It seems desirable that any new laws or regulations be concentrated in the smallest number of agencies possible and that, most important of all, nothing be done until a thorough, complete, documented study is made. I would recommend that this study be initiated and completed at the earliest possible date.

In conclusion, may I again emphasize the magnitude and importance of the subdivision and home building industry in this State. The proper and uniform supervision of this industry will have positive and beneficial effects upon the health, comfort and prosperity of California citizens for generations to come. It is a large industry—perhaps our first in dollar volume and number of persons employed. To give it proper guidance and assistance with its problems, should assist in continued high employment in this field and result in great benefit to all our citizens.

Respectfully submitted,

D. D. WATSON
Real Estate Commissioner of California

CONTROL OF SUBDIVISIONS IN CALIFORNIA

Prepared with the advice and assistance of Paul F. Wendt

(Special report to D. D. Watson, Real Estate Commissioner of the State of California, by the Real Estate Research Program, Bureau of Business and Economic Research, University of California, Berkeley, California, January 10, 1953)

FOREWORD

In March, 1952, the Commissioner of Real Estate of California requested the University of California through the Real Estate Research Program, Bureau of Business and Economic Research, Berkeley, to prepare a memorandum on the real estate subdivision problem in California, outlining the background and importance of the problem and analyzing the deficiencies in present controls from the point of view of public agencies, home buyers, and subdividers. This report is submitted in accordance with this request.

Financial support for the Real Estate Research Program of the Bureau of Business and Economic Research is in part furnished from funds held in the California Division of Real Estate and appropriated to the University by act of the State Legislature. It is therefore appropriate that the Real Estate Commissioner should call upon the university for assistance in a study of the problem under consideration.

Acknowledgment is made to Ray D. Westcott of the Division of Real Estate for his very helpful assistance and to the following members of the division who furnished data and suggestions: M. R. Griffin, Saxon A. Lewis, Gaylord K. Nye, Harold H. Wells, and James M. Winter. Thanks are also due to the following university faculty members and research personnel who read the manuscript and offered comments and criticisms: Catherine Bauer, George Duggar, Richard Dunann, Robert O. Harvey and Stanley Scott.

SYNOPSIS

The Problem

To prepare an exploratory memorandum on the Subdivision Problem in California at the request of the Commissioner of Real Estate and to make recommendations for research on the problem.

The Approach

To describe the problem.

To analyze existing controls.

To survey alternative solutions to the problem.

To suggest a program of research leading to the solution of the problem.

The Findings

The following shortcomings of subdivision controls are pointed out in this report:

1. Present controls do not assure sound community development or adequate protection to purchasers of lots in subdivisions or to home buyers.

2. The process of obtaining approval under existing regulations is wasteful, expensive, and time-consuming.
3. The relative responsibilities of State, local, and other control agencies are not clearly defined, jurisdictions are frequently overlapping, and regulations often conflict.
4. Standards for development vary widely both geographically and among various agencies, with no state-wide minimum standards.

STEPS TO RESEARCH ON SUBDIVISION CONTROLS IN CALIFORNIA

I

INTRODUCTION TO THE PROBLEM

Its Importance

California has witnessed a speeding up of the development of agricultural land on the fringes of metropolitan areas for urban residential uses. Improved transportation and central city congestion has furnished impetus to this movement. Decentralization of population is too often accompanied by haphazard development, the guidance and control of which has become one of the major problems of communities.<sup>1</sup> Subdivision development is part of the whole urban-rural fringe problem. The increasing financial burden on cities and counties in supplying services to unincorporated residential areas is only one indication of its intensity.

Subdivision of raw land or land previously devoted to agricultural or other uses in order to create residential building sites constitutes the first step in the formation of the urban pattern. It is therefore basic to the determination of the urban and suburban structure, and its fundamental importance in the direction of future city growth is self-evident.

One of the country's leading urban land economists has summed up the importance of land subdivision in the following statement:

In the entire process of city growth, there is no step more critical than the original subdivision of raw land. To a considerable extent, the size and shape of the lots, the street system that is provided, and the general character of the land planning determine the use to which the land is to be permanently dedicated. The character of the neighborhood is largely established by the way in which the land is subdivided. Furthermore, there is little chance to offset or remedy the mistakes in judgment or the errors of shortsighted cupidity that are reflected in the land arrangements; for, once the lots have been sold off into individual ownership, even a few of them, replanning and resubdividing become virtually impracticable. Subdividers, then, are city builders, builders of a structure that lives down through the years as a boon or a burden for the men and women and children who must live out their lives within an environment over which they had no original control.<sup>2</sup>

The benefits of sound community development are far-reaching for all concerned, and it is crucial that careful consideration be given to good subdivision practice. The subdivider, developer, builder, purchaser, investor, the government, and the community as a whole have a definite stake in the subdivision of land being conducted in a far-sighted manner. Although it may appear that developers and builders have, perhaps, a shorter-term interest in their realization of profit, established land developers find it good business to have the results of their efforts recognized as an asset to the community. The purchaser's interest is long term in his desire for a home or a profitable piece of income property. The investor wants an enduring product as security for his investment. Government has a long-term interest in that it has the responsibility for furnishing schools, public utilities, and other community facilities. The community as a whole has the greatest interest in insuring the best use of the land in order to provide rational urban development and the maximum amenities in city, suburban, and country living.

In addition to planning problems, giving a certain measure of protection to the investing public is important. The average home buyer or subdivision lot purchaser is not speculating, but is acquiring an investment which he and his family propose to use more or less permanently. It is therefore important that laws be maintained to prevent misrepresentation, deceit and fraud in the sale of subdivided property. Because of the general nature of this regulation, it undoubtedly should be undertaken on a state level, with cooperation of local law enforcement agencies.

California Subdivision History

A brief review of California's subdivision history will serve as a background for consideration of today's problem.

California experienced helter skelter growth during the opening of the West as the new settlers exerted a pressure for land. In a sense, the early division of the land as it was first settled was a form of subdivision. Speculation will almost invariably accompany land settlement, and California received the full brunt of such activities. Also, as Abrams notes, "Land speculation is apt to occur in any money economy where population is on the rise and land transfer is easy. It appears wherever there is the prospect of a shift in land from one use to another, i.e., from forest to agriculture, rural to suburban, suburban to urban, urban-residential to urban-commercial."<sup>3</sup> Even before 1850 promoters were buying and selling land on speculation. For example, Benicia in 1847 was developed completely by promoters. In 1849, shortly after the ratification of the first Constitution, the first Legislature divided California into counties and provided for the incorporation of cities. At the same time the recording system was adopted to facilitate the transfer of land and to protect land ownership. Through a methodical recording system a certain measure of security was afforded land owners, but the manner in which land was divided and sold was uncontrolled. The basic elements for developing a more reasonable system had been provided, but subdivision regulation as currently practiced here and elsewhere was unknown.

This loose system persisted well into the twentieth century. The land boom of the 20's hit California with a tremendous impact in several widely separated parts of the State. An accompanying lack of an integrated subdivision policy left the urban areas of the State with many of their current problems.

Speculators at full pace, subdivided large areas of land with little or no regard to size of lots, location, relation to existing areas, availability of utilities, etc. The mistakes of this period are well known to those familiar with California history. High-pressure selling methods and promise of huge profits through speculation in lots were common. Quick profit for the subdivider was usually the motive. During those years the lots were, for the greater part, sold to tourists and others who had no idea of improving them with homes but planned to turn them over at a profit. Very few builders engaged in land subdivision, and "tract built" homes were relatively rare. Normal population increases were met through the building of individual homes. The largest problem was that of premature subdivision. Colean notes that the independent subdivider who was not also a land developer "left his mark in the form of a surplus of vacant lots in almost every large American city."<sup>4</sup> Land was cut up in advance of need and was frequently unusable in the form into which it had been divided. Consequently, tax delinquencies mounted and left large areas on which it was virtually impossible to secure title. It was reported by the National Resources Committee in 1939 that there were sewers, water mains, street paving, and sidewalks for twice the number of houses in Los Angeles County at that time. These had been provided during the land boom period. Additional taxes as the consequence of this excess subdivision were reported to amount to more than $3,000,000 annually for the maintenance of services furnished to vacant lots.<sup>5</sup>

California was an extreme example of premature subdividing. It was estimated that some cities in the southern part of the State were surrounded by lot subdivisions sufficient to take care of twice the existing population. Promoters prepared their subdivisions with the idea of making the least expenditures and throwing the burden of improvements upon the purchasers. Tracts were bonded for practically every type of improvement—street paving, water systems, ornamental lights, etc. In their anxiety to get lots ready for sale under boom conditions, promoters were irked by delays in bonding the property. The Acquisition and Improvement Act of 1925, commonly referred to as the "Mattoon" Act, was enacted. This streamlined the procedure for bonding property for improvements and made entire districts responsible for liquidation of the bonds. While it helped the promoter, it created a state-wide "head-ache" in later years. Everyone was induced to buy lots—residents, tourists, and elderly retired people. Great profits were promised. In order to attract low income investors, sales were made on land contract with small down payments. Solicitors or "bird dogs" contacted their victims in railroad stations, bus terminals, and on downtown street corners. Free sight-seeing trips with free lunch and lecture were promised. People swarmed to the subdivisions, were given high-powered lectures, and then faced the super salesman "closer" in a closing booth. A great percentage defaulted on their contracts. Many who made payments over the years were unable to obtain title when their payments were completed, the subdivider having departed.

The Division of Real Estate was created in 1919, but no provision was made for control of subdivision activity, except in the case of agricultural and land colonization projects. The Real Estate Commissioner was given no jurisdiction over subdivision of lots for residential, industrial, or other purposes. He attempted to correct some of the evils which existed through attacking the licenses of brokers and salesmen engaged in these pursuits, but this corrected the bad situation only partially.

Legislative provisions for giving the commissioner authority over all types of subdivisions were not given until 1933, after the boom period was over and the depression had slowed all types of subdivision activity. It was a typical example of providing corrective legislation after the real need has passed, although it has proved valuable during later periods.

The depression years gave rise to a number of subdivision "rackets." Promoters developed the oil and gas subdivision, and alleged oil and gas lands were sold to speculators throughout California at huge profits to the promoters. Misrepresentation was rampant. It was not until 1943 that legislation provided for the mineral, oil and gas license, and a state-wide investigation was conducted to stop these rackets. Hundreds of salesmen lost their licenses. During the building of Boulder Dam, residential lots in Nevada were widely sold by mail and through radio advertising. "Back to the land for security" was another appeal made to the public in depression years. Thousands of acres of cut-over timber lands in Oregon were offered to California residents at prices extremely profitable to promoters. "Semisubsistence" farms of an acre or half acre were in great demand surrounding metropolitan areas.

World War II brought great numbers of new people to the urban areas of California. Between 1940 and 1950 the population of the whole State increased from 6,907,387 to 10,586,233, or 53.3 percent.<sup>6</sup> These 3½ million persons placed severe pressures upon the supply of existing housing and created a huge demand for new housing. The pace of subdivision development following World War II has greatly exceeded that of the '20s. However, vacant lot sales have been in the minority since most tracts have been developed for immediate improvement with homes. Major changes in the structure of the house-building industry resulted in the emergence of the operative builder and large-scale land developer of post World War II. Significant is one of the conclusions of a recent study, "that housebuilding is no longer primarily a contract industry producing individual designed houses to order."<sup>7</sup> The type of development in which the operative builder subdivides, develops, and builds upon his own land is by far the most common in this State today.

Background of the Specific Study

New problems have arisen during these years of tremendous increase in population and volume of development. Some have been brought about by difficulties with the existing legislation, difficulty of enforcement, inadequacies in standards, and overlapping jurisdictions.

The magnitude of the postwar surge in subdivision activity is indicated by the increasing number of subdivisions approved by the Division of Real Estate over a 10-year period.

During the 10-year period prior to 1942, California's subdivision activity was at a very low ebb, except for speculative subdivisions heretofore mentioned and those of the "semi-subsistence" type. During some years in that period, the total tracts filed with the Division fell below 200 for the entire State.

Many difficulties are experienced by the Division of Real Estate in the administration of subdivision legislation. The sections of the law administered by the commissioner greatly limit his jurisdiction and largely confine his activities to disclosure of facts pertaining to the subdivision through his public report. Unless certain facts exist concerning any particular subdivision which, in his opinion, would cause its sale to work a fraud upon purchasers, he has no powers to control its development or marketing. If local agencies fail to do their job with respect to flood, utilities, streets, etc., the commissioner can do no more than to point these matters out to the purchaser. In those cases where it is evident to the commissioner that the city and county officials are not exercising their jurisdiction, he can merely mention it to the purchaser in his report. Once the public report is issued, he has no power to correct bad conditions, unless they are sufficiently serious so as to work a fraud upon the purchaser. In such cases, he can call a hearing, and if he proves his case, may issue an order stopping the sale. If unfair sales methods are used, the commissioner has no jurisdiction unless the parties happen to hold real estate licenses. The subdivider is not required to be licensed to sell his own property. Provisions of the law do not apply to the subdivision of land into four or less parcels. This furnishes an avenue of evasion. Landowners, in some cases, sell four separate parcels to friends and relatives who, in turn, make additional sales of four lots each. Sometimes sizable tracts are created in this manner without control, with the result that local controls over street alignment, drainage, etc., do not apply, and the purchaser does not have advantage of the safeguards the commissioner normally provides.

Approval of subdivisions is an expensive process for the State, cities, counties, and the subdivider. The procedure from the tentative land plat to the sale of tract houses is cumbersome and lacking in preciseness. The developer is in a position of finding it difficult to know when he has complied with all requirements.

The maze of legislative controls, private controls, deed restrictions, and the multiplicity of jurisdiction all add up to a confusing situation for all parties concerned. Sufficient protection is not afforded the purchaser, and disorderly community development results.

There is a no state agency charged with responsibility of checking to see that local agencies do the job they are empowered to do by law. Furthermore, there are no minimum standards for subdivision development provided by law which local officials are obliged to meet. While some city and county officials take the task seriously and exercise all the controls provided for them, others give these matters a minimum of attention.

The growing scarcity of undeveloped land in urban areas and the rapid postwar growth in the unincorporated fringe without proper community integration gives cause for increasing concern over the future of subdivision development.

Evidence of the growing importance of the "subdivision problem" and of its recognition by public officials of the State is found in a report by the Commissioner of Real Estate submitted to Governor Warren in 1951.

A large portion of the prime subdivision property has been used up during the past 10 years, due to  $3\frac{1}{2}$  million increase of population. It appears that the problem immediately ahead of us for the next 10 years is—more than ever before—to be careful that substandard subdivision properties being made available for homes at least meet minimum standards; particularly those pertaining to water, sanitary and drainage facilities—in other words, standards for human habitation, or else they should not be offered for sale.

It is predicted that during the next 10 years the population of California will increase by another  $3\frac{1}{2}$  or 4 million people who will have to be housed—that is the reason the commissioner is emphasizing at this time that proper regulation of subdivisions in the future is going to be more important than ever before in the history of this State.<sup>8</sup>

The present report describes existing subdivision controls in California and summarizes the problems of subdivision control from the point of view of administrative agencies, builders and subdividers, and the public.

II

EXISTING CONTROLS

Subdivision controls in California fall into three categories:

- (1) Direct legislative controls specifically designed for application to subdivisions.
- (2) Private deed restrictions or protective covenants.
- (3) Controls which have a bearing on subdivisions only incidentally in that they may apply to other development, whether subdivided or not. Enactments at all levels of government are included.

DIRECT LEGISLATION

State

State legislation directly related to subdivision procedure consists of three major pieces of legislation.

(1) Subdivision Map Act. (Division 4, Part 2, Chapter 2, Sections 11500 to 11628 of the Business and Professions Code, amended by the Statutes of 1937, 1943, 1947, and 1949.) This act is in effect an enabling act, and while it is state legislation, it lays out the scope of local subdivision enforcement. It regulates the filing of subdivision maps with the recorder in the county in which the land is located and covers certain engineering features connected with the creation of a subdivision. The authority over the design, improvement and survey data of subdivisions, together with the form and content of tentative maps, record of survey and final maps is vested in the governing body of the cities and counties. In many instances the enforcement is delegated to either the city or county planning commission concerned. The provisions of the Map Act are not under the control of the State Division of Real Estate.

Under the terms of the Map Act a subdivision is defined as "any real property, improved or unimproved, or portions thereof, shown on the last preceding tax roll as a unit or as contiguous units, which is divided for the purpose of sale, whether immediate or future, by any subdivider into five or more parcels within any one-year period."<sup>1</sup>

Excluded from the definition of a subdivision are the following:

- (a) Any parcel or parcels of land in which all of the following four conditions are present: (i) which contain less than five acres, (ii) which abut upon dedicated streets or highways, (iii) in which street opening or widening is not required by the governing body in dividing the land into lots or parcels, and (iv) the lot design meets the approval of the governing body.
- (b) Any parcel or parcels of land divided into lots or parcels, each of a net area of one acre or more for which a tentative map has been submitted to the governing body and which has been approved by the governing body as to street alignment and widths, drainage provisions and lot design.<sup>2</sup> (Unless otherwise extended by local ordinance the authority of the governing bodies of cities and counties is restricted to these latter provisions.)

Persons are forbidden to offer to sell, to contract to sell or to sell any subdivision or record of survey, or portion thereof until a final map or record of survey map which meets all requirements of the Map Act or of applicable local regulations has been recorded or filed with the recorder of the county or counties where the subdivision is located.

Deeds of conveyance, sale or contract to sell which are contrary to the provisions of this statute are voidable at the option of the purchaser.

(2) Regulations of Transactions of Subdivided Lands. (Division 4, Part 2, Chapter 1, Sections 11000 to 11021 of the Business and Professions Code amended and added to by the Statutes of 1943, 1945, 1947, and 1949.) This legislation is administered by the Commissioner of Real Estate. It is designed to prevent fraud in the sale of subdivided lots and to disclose essential facts concerning the property being offered for sale or lease before members of the buying public obligate themselves to purchase or lease.

In this act, subdivided lands and a subdivision are defined as "improved or unimproved land or lands divided or proposed to be divided for the purpose of sale or lease, whether immediate or future, into five or more lots or parcels; provided, however, that land or lands sold by lots or parcels of not less than 160 acres which are designated by such lot or parcel description by government surveys and appear as such on the current assessment roll of the county in which such land or lands are situated shall not be deemed to be 'subdivided lands' or 'a subdivision' within the meaning of this section, unless such land or lands are divided or proposed to be divided for the purpose of sale for oil and gas purposes, in which case such land or lands shall be deemed to be 'subdivided lands' or 'a subdivision' within the meaning of this section."<sup>3</sup>

All subdivided land is covered by this regulation except the following:<sup>4</sup>

- (a) Land subdivided by a public corporation such as the State, a city or county.
- (b) Public corporations such as school districts, irrigation or water districts, reclamation or drainage districts, etc.
- (c) Land subdivided, a map filed originally offered for sale prior to August 11, 1933, but expressly exempted from the provisions of the act at that time.
- (d) Those subdivided lands which in the opinion of the commissioner do not constitute a subdivision within the meaning of the definition contained in Section 11000.
- (e) Cemeteries.

The requirements imposed upon the subdivider under the provisions of this piece of legislation for the protection of the buying public are indicated in the following four steps.

Step 1 (Filing of notice of intention and/or subdivision questionnaire). Before subdivided lands can be offered for sale or lease, the owner or subdivider must notify the commissioner in writing of his intention to sell. Included in this notice of intention must be the names and addresses of the owner and subdivider; the legal description and area of lands; a true statement of the condition of the title to the land, including encumbrances; a true statement of the terms and conditions on which it is intended to dispose of the land, together with copies of any contracts intended to be used; a true statement of the provisions, if any, that have been made for public utilities in the proposed subdivision, including water, electricity, gas and telephone facilities; and any other information which the owner or subdivider feels should be presented.

Following receipt of the notice of intention, the commissioner may require any additional information concerning the project which he deems necessary and may prepare a questionnaire for the owner or subdivider to answer.

Step 2 (Filing fee). A $50 filing fee must accompany the answered questionnaire.

Step 3 (Filing of documents). Other documents may also be required to accompany the questionnaire.

After returning the questionnaire the owner or subdivider is not allowed to make a material change in the setup of his offering without first notifying the Real Estate Division in writing of his intended change. It is also unlawful for the owner or subdivider to sell land in a subdivision on which he has a lien or encumbrance unless the lien or encumbrance contains a release clause "enabling the vendor to deliver title to each parcel sold free of the lien" upon the buyer's completion of all payments and performance of all the terms and provisions required to be made and performed by him, or either, under the agreement of sale. (Section 11013).

Step 4 (Inspection and public report). The commissioner may investigate any subdivision being offered for sale or lease in the State at the owner's or subdivider's expense. The commissioner may also inspect out-of-state lands which are being offered for sale or lease in California at the owner's or subdivider's expense. (In the former case the expense is based on actual costs to the Real Estate Division. In the latter case, $0.05 a mile may be charged plus an amount for additional expense involved, not to exceed $10 a day.) When the Real Estate Division makes an examination of any subdivision, the commissioner shall make a public report of his findings thereon which he may publish.

(3) Rules and Regulations of the Real Estate Commissioner. (Contained in Title 10, Article 12 of the California Administrative Code.) The commissioner is empowered by law to adopt rules and regulations for the administration of Sections 11000 through 11021 of the Business and Professions Code. The portion concerned chiefly with subdivisions includes Sections 2790 through 2809, dealing with procedure and with the public report required by the commissioner. The significant provisions of these regulations relating to residential subdivisions follow.

The first few sections are concerned with the filing fee, questionnaire forms, and accompanying documents. It is also stated that the commissioner may waive the filing of the questionnaire if it is his opinion that the facts and circumstances so justify. The commissioner is required to make an inspection and investigation of the subdivision after the fee and questionnaire are received.<sup>5</sup>

No lots or parcels in a subdivision can be sold, leased, or offered for sale or lease until the final public report has been issued by the commissioner, nor can reservations to purchase or lease lots or parcels be taken until a preliminary or final report has been issued. This rule does not apply if the filing of a questionnaire and fee has been waived by the commissioner.<sup>6</sup>

The "preliminary report" has been developed by the Commissioner to enable the subdivider to make lot reservations prior to the time he has satisfied the commissioner in all respects. When the requirements are substantially met and it appears there may be some delay in completing them, the commissioner may issue a preliminary report. The subdivider may then make reservations and accept deposits, provided he places such deposits in a neutral escrow depository subject to return to the prospective purchaser upon demand, without deductions. To further assist certain subdividers, the commissioner has developed a special questionnaire to be used in connection with those tracts which are to be fully improved and sold with FHA- or VA-approved financing.

Step 5 (Delivery of public report). The owner or subdivider cannot enter into a binding contract or agreement for the sale or lease of any lot or parcel in a subdivision until a true copy of the commissioner's final public report has been given to the prospective purchaser, he has been given an opportunity to read it, and his receipt taken for it.<sup>7</sup>

If investigation and inspection indicate that the subdivision is subject to flood, fire, or other hazard, the commissioner may require the owner or subdivider to furnish a report upon such hazard prepared by a competent flood control engineer, fire warden, or other proper authority.<sup>8</sup>

If the commissioner doubts the suitability of any proposed subdivision for the purpose for which it is proposed to be sold, the owner or subdivider must accompany his filing by a report or reports prepared by competent authorities showing that the lands or leases have definite merit for the purpose for which they are to be sold. It is up to the commissioner to determine the sufficiency of the data submitted and the qualifications of the parties preparing such data.<sup>9</sup>

If it appears to the commissioner that there is a serious defect in the subdivision and its sale might work a fraud upon the purchaser, he may call a hearing, notifying the subdivider of the charges. If the evidence deduced at the hearing substantiates his charges, he may order the sale stopped. If the subdivider does not comply with the order, the commissioner may bring a suit in the superior court to enjoin him or may seek a criminal complaint through the district attorney's office.

Local

The Subdivision Map Act permits city and county agencies to adopt their own ordinances and rules within certain limits. Therefore, the local direct legislative controls consist of county and city ordinances of widely varying provisions throughout the State. Some of these ordinances are entitled subdivision ordinances; others are not so named but do control certain facets of subdivision activity within the jurisdiction involved. Subdivision design may be approved by the planning commission or legislative body in the case of counties and by planning commissions, city engineers, boards of public works, or city councils or a combination of two or more of these groups in the case of cities. Provisions of such ordinances often specify improvements in the form of paving, curbs, gutters, sidewalks, drainage, and sewers. In some instances it is required that improvements be completed or a guaranty bond filed by the subdivider. Minimum street widths, minimum lot frontage, and minimum lot area are frequently specified. Exceptions to provisions often may be permitted at the discretion of the approving body.

PRIVATE DEED RESTRICTIONS

Deed restrictions represent a private direct control of the development and use of land. Courts have held that if they are not unreasonable nor do not run contrary to public policy, they are usually enforceable at law as part of the free exercise of contract. Unlike government legislation under the police power, deed restrictions may be for any lawful purpose and need not serve the public welfare. Such covenants may serve as zoning and planning by private agreement and may represent an attempt to accomplish in this fashion "much the same ends which are sought through the action of public authorities in enacting zoning laws and building regulations."<sup>10</sup> However, they are also frequently used to supplement existing zoning ordinances. Since deed restrictions do not represent a part of direct governmental control of subdivision projects, they are not considered at length in this report.

OTHER CONTROLS

There is practically no limit to the miscellaneous rules and regulations which may affect subdivision activity and development since there are so many agencies which in one way or another have a say in the development, financing, and use of land. Such controls are mainly the edicts of public agencies at all levels of government, but they may also be those of quasi-governmental or private institutions. On occasion the control exercised by some authorities may appear to be remote, and such authorities may not concern themselves with all subdivisions, but when a number are involved, the coordination of their activities presents a real problem.

Federal

At the federal level, for example, the facilities operated by the Bureau of Reclamation may affect subdivisions which border on the territory of the projects. Owners of property in one subdivision found their property inundated by the rising waters of the Salton Sea! Public lands adjacent to the sea had been set aside for a public water reserve, and hence the bureau had jurisdiction over the area. A more direct example is offered in FHIA's policy in the financing of subdivisions. FHIA valuers analyze subdivision proposals submitted to the agency in anticipation of insured mortgage financing.<sup>11</sup> However, specific requirements may vary considerably with the local FHA offices.

It is also found that there is often no clear understanding between such agencies as the FHIA and the VA and the local authorities or a lack of coordination between the requirements of the two. One subdivider reported that Santa Clara County refused his proposed plan on the grounds that the lot dimensions would not be acceptable to the FHIA. A recheck with the local FHIA office disclosed that the lot dimensions were acceptable to them. The subdivider then requested the FHIA to advise the county accordingly. It is obvious that in such a situation where the developer is caught in the middle the delays and extra expense involved will be passed along to the eventual purchasers.

State

At the state level, in addition to the Division of Real Estate, the Division of Housing or the State Department of Public Health may be involved in land development. The Public Utilities Commission may have an interest in the supplying of utilities to a newly-subdivided area or in the public use of railroad crossings to gain access to a subdivision. When mutual water companies are formed to take care of water supply for a subdivision, the Division of Corporations has requirements to be met for the issuance of stock. Well digging and water contamination are within the province of the State Water Pollution Board.

Freeway planning through subdivided areas or in those areas where subdivision is contemplated brings the Division of Highways into the picture. An example of coordination and cooperation on the part of a state agency, county planning commission and subdividers is offered in the projection of the East Shore Freeway through southern Alameda County. In this instance, subdividers left space for the projected freeway in their subdivision plans, hence allowing for better orientation and eliminating an eventual need for the exercise of eminent domain to obtain the necessary space.<sup>12</sup>

Local

At the local level school districts, other special districts, municipal departments of public works, and building codes may all place requirements upon subdivision development at one stage or another.

Local health officers are given extensive jurisdiction over subdivided lands in the Health and Safety Code. First of all, they may pass upon the water supply, its adequacy, purity, and the sufficiency of the equipment, including size and material in water mains. Some local health officers take this task seriously, and the county supervisors will not permit a map to go on record unless he approves. Furthermore, the health officer is empowered to pass upon the type of sewage disposal facilities. He may refuse approval of the map if the proposed disposal plans do not meet health standards. In some counties certain areas are banned for septic tanks or cesspools because of soil conditions.

Banks and other lending institutions requiring the meeting of certain standards for qualifications for construction financing provide an example of a private control.

Other examples of the way in which regulations of various agencies affect subdivision development are cited in Chapter III in connection with specific problems encountered by the Division of Real Estate.

PROBLEMS ENCOUNTERED IN RECENTLY SUBDIVIDED AREAS

The multiplicity of legislative controls over subdivisions on the municipal, county, and state levels, supplemented by the regulations of administrative agencies and controls described in Chapter II, have not solved the subdivision problem in California. There remain areas of no control and others aggravated by conflicting controls. In many instances they are a feature of the large-scale and rapid development which has taken place in recent years without provisions being made for proper integration.

The scope and importance of the problem is seen in reports from the files of the Real Estate Commissioner. The specific problems encountered can be divided into two groups (a) those concerned with physical difficulties of design and facilities, related to the site itself, a combination of difficulties of house and site, and community arrangement and (b) those of a contractual nature involving such considerations as financing, "release clauses," completion bonds, sales methods, restrictions, contracts of sale, expenses for the installation of utilities, etc.

FLOOD HAZARD AND DRAINAGE

The storms of the winters of 1950-51 and 1951-52 served to point up most dramatically the extent of flood, drainage, and related problems in California subdivisions. Certainly they inflicted more damage than had been heretofore recorded, and they gave rise to numerous complaints to the Division of Real Estate and to local legislative bodies and agencies.

Storm drainage and other drainage problems have long been a difficulty of subdivided areas. Under the provision of the California Map Filing Act local authorities are given control of the design of drainage facilities. However, the solution of drainage problems frequently requires approval of the State Water Pollution Board.

Flood hazard reports are secured from the County Flood Control Engineer, or if none is employed, from the County Engineer's Office. Some counties do not seem to be equipped to furnish any opinions regarding flood hazards. The purchaser's attention is then called to conditions in the report. By rule the subdivider is required to deliver a copy to each purchaser and take his receipt for it. Frequently the division's reports have contained strong warnings about flood conditions.

During the winter of 1950-51 the Commissioner of Real Estate initiated a flood survey by the deputies in his offices in Sacramento, San Diego, Oakland, San Francisco, and Los Angeles. Careful inspection was made of damage, complaints were investigated, and an attempt made to evaluate conditions throughout the State.

Streams and creeks overflowed their banks under a deluge of rainfall, accompanied in many parts of the State by unusually high tides. Levees broke. Storm drains clogged or proved inadequate to handle the runoff. The downpour eroded filled hillsides and poured silt and debris over yards and into streets.

The following summary of flood conditions in a dozen counties most seriously affected by flood damage in recent years is based upon reports to the Real Estate Commissioner, supplemented by newspaper reports.

Winter 1950-51

Alameda County: Approximately 123 homes were affected in several subdivisions which lie west of San Lorenzo, namely Washington Manor (Tracts 902 and 993), Washington Gardens (Tracts 957, 996, and 1059), Washington Acres, and Sunnybilt Homes Subdivisions (Tracts 929 and 1035). In three homes flood waters poured over the floor level which is about 18 inches from the ground, and 160 owners found water from one to 18 inches in their garages. Inundation in this area was caused by a series of breaks in the San Lorenzo Creek levee, obstructions, excessive drainage causing overflow of a district drainage ditch and a series of high tides which prevented normal drainage into the San Francisco Bay.

Contra Costa County: Flood conditions during the winter of 1950-51 were severe in the northeastern section of the county. Much of the water was in the Pacheco area and covered a portion of one subdivision in this vicinity, Meadow Homes, to a depth of  $1\frac{1}{2}$  feet. Meadow Homes flooded on two separate occasions, during one of which the occupants left their homes. The following subdivisions were affected by water conditions in this part of the county: Concord Estates Units 1 to 7 inclusive, Gregory Gardens Units 1 to 7 inclusive, Fair Oaks Unit No. 1, Tree Haven Parts I and II and Unit II, Sherman Acres, El Rancho Diablo Units 1 and 2, Meadow Homes Units 1 to 5 inclusive, Meadow Homes Addition Units 1 to 3 inclusive, Meadow Village Units 1 and 2, and Orchard Grove Estates.

These subdivisions which are near the towns of Walnut Creek, Concord, Pittsburg, and Antioch, experienced flood conditions which were caused by the inability of storm sewers to handle the volume of water. All of this area has had a great deal of subdivision activity. Flood water in Gregory Gardens was claimed to be caused by water diversion from adjoining properties into a natural drainage area which had once been part of a lake.

Several subdivisions in the southern part of the county, while not experiencing great damage, suffered considerable inconvenience from run-off water from surrounding hills and Mt. Diablo. Subdivisions affected in this area were Cameo Acres and Las Lomitas Units 1 and 2.

Minor damage was inflicted throughout the county from run-off water. Natural drains in the area which normally take care of such run-off proved inadequate to handle this abnormal flow because of the volume and obstructions throughout the system.

Marin County: Excess water inflicted most damage in low areas in near the shoreline which have been the scene of considerable recent subdivision activity. Because of poor drainage in the general area, Kay Park Subdivisions No. 1 and No. 2 were inundated. Both tracts had been sold out, leaving no opportunity for the warning of prospective purchasers. Water reached sidewalk level in Strawberry Manor No. 2 as a result of a seven-foot tide condition. Lots had also been all sold in this tract. A filing on Marin Village Unit 1 was being processed at the time of the heavy rains. Inasmuch as a seven-foot tide came within one foot of the existing fill, the subdivider was asked to furnish a flood control report to the Division of Real Estate so that warning could be given purchasers.

Other tracts such as Kentfield Gardens Subdivision No. 1 near a dike were affected by the seven-foot tide. Some parcels in this particular tract had been sold and were occupied. Venetia Harbor Unit No. 2 experienced a water condition to a depth which reached the bottom of the house walls in some places. Gallinas Village No. 1 in the same vicinity was not inundated because of fill, but drainage from it did affect an area adjoining an old subdivision which was inundated. A flood report had also been required on this tract.

Drainage problems on other tracts developed because drainage facilities had not yet been installed.

Sacramento County: Water conditions in Sacramento County were attributed to excessive rainfall, choking of normal drainage facilities, seepage and levee breaks. Too great a concentration of dwelling units in relationship to drainage facilities provided in the fringe areas of the city was also a contributing factor.

The greatest amount of damage in this county was to the Sierra Oaks and Sierra Oaks Vista Subdivisions. Flood conditions in these tracts were caused by a levee break. Both subdivisions had been completely sold out. Hidden River Vista, which lies further to the east, had some damage to houses built on a ledge of the riverbank. Flooding was caused by the river overflowing its banks at this point.

Colonial Village, southeast of the City of Sacramento experienced an accumulation of surface water because adjoining properties were permitted to drain into the area to relieve pressure.

Some drainage water was in evidence on several subdivisions near Elk Grove and Florin in the central part of the county. These included the following: Bacchini Tract No. 1, Florin Addition, Kara Tract and Koshell Subdivisions. This water was due to drainage from a creek and drainage from adjoining properties. It was reported to the Division of Real Estate that the county was contemplating correcting this condition.

San Joaquin County: One subdivision in Lodi was affected. Sharps Lane Nos. 1, 2, and 3, Laurel Acres and Laurel Farms, which lie near the city limits of Stockton were reported to have had water on the streets and up to the sidewalks. Seven Oaks Subdivision which lies within the City of Stockton was threatened by water in its low area and was sand-bagged to prevent water getting through and flooding the tract.

San Mateo County: According to Division of Real Estate reports, no great material damage was done to the subdivisions in this county, although it is plain that considerable inconvenience was suffered by residents. Flood conditions were created by abnormal volume of rainfall aggravated by clogged streams and defective and badly planned construction and location of subdivisions. Flooding was encountered chiefly in the lowland along the San Francisco Bay, particularly in the City of San Mateo and Redwood City.

In San Mateo near the Bay Meadows Race Track two subdivisions known as San Mateo Village Units No. 3 and No. 4 were flooded by an overflow of Laurel Creek which was choked by an accumulation of debris in the creek bed. The blockage was caused by silt deposits resulting from subdivision activity many miles above this point of overflow. In the same developments, damage was reported to some 30 houses into which rain had filtered through weatherproofing. In this instance damage was apparently due to faulty construction rather than prevailing weather conditions.

Within the City of San Mateo, Shoreview No. 8 subdivision was inundated by excess water breaking through a dike in San Mateo Creek.

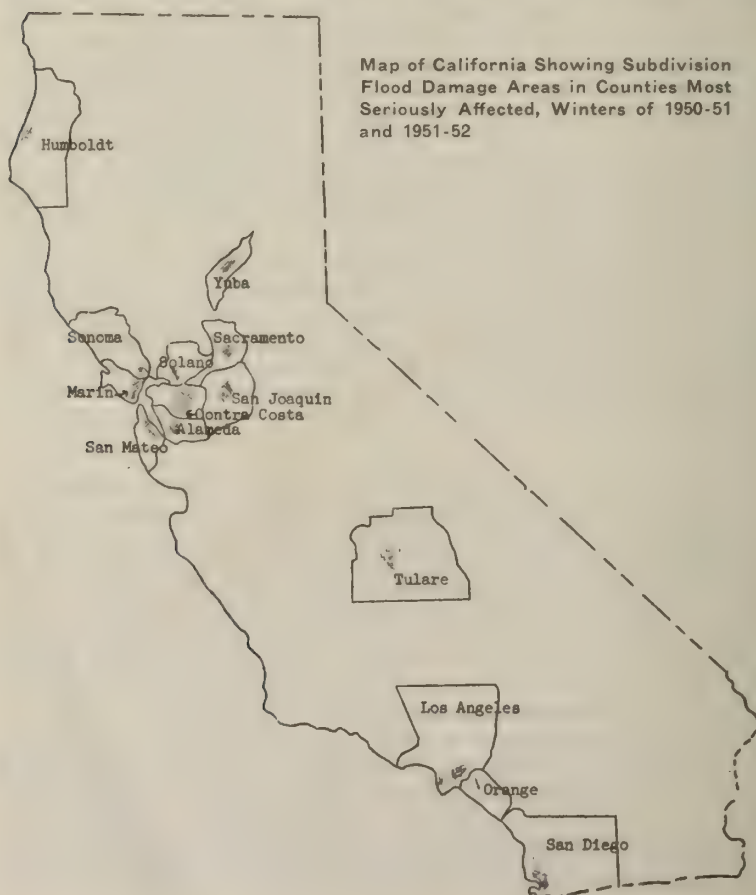

In Redwood City water flowed under several houses in Oak Ridge subdivision and seeped through the floors. This was partly caused by excessive water, but the condition was aggravated because concrete blocks used in construction were not weatherproofed and hence permitted seepage. Apparently this is one of the difficulties presented by the concrete block type house. In the same city, poor drainage caused flooding in Redwood Terrace No. 1. Some overflow in the Atherwood Subdivision was caused by drainage from surrounding properties.

Friendly Acres, which lies within the corporate limits of Redwood City experienced the effects of flood waters, and it was reported that water at this location has been as much as three feet deep and had entered one of the houses. During periods of excessive high tides drainage of this property is greatly hampered, causing flood conditions. Storm sewers were in the process of installation after the heavy rains, and it was expected that this would eliminate some of the flooding condition.

Tulare County: The storms also played havoc with several new subdivisions in this county. Green Acres, west of Visalia, flooded when Mill Creek overflowed. Cameron Creek Colony experienced some flooding. Near Woodlake, Tract No. 55 was inundated with two feet of water, and in some cases the water rose above floor levels. A break in the bank of a canal caused damage to this subdivision.

Three or four lots in Soda Springs Addition near Springville were flooded because of blocking of debris in the Tule River. One home in this tract was demolished.

Yuba County: Flood conditions in this area appeared to have been man-made. Dredging operations on both sides of the river near Hammon-ton created a channel which was inadequate in width and in turn caused a break, forming a new channel. This diversion of water caused flooding. The subdivisions affected by these flood waters were Linda Center, Wiget Center, Hammond Acres and Gledhill Tract. In Gledhill Tract residents were evacuated from their homes. Other subdivisions affected by flooding in the area were Ostrom Acres, Yuba Gardens, McClain Tract and Arboga Townsite, which is an old subdivision.

Winter 1951-52

Alameda and Contra Costa Counties: All the subdivisions adversely affected in 1950 were again having the same problem, and the circumstances and conditions surrounding water hazards were approximately the same, with certain exceptions. It may be noted that considerable damage was due to lands tributary to Alameda Creek. This condition did not prevail in 1950. It appeared that the greater portion of the damage was done to public roads and unsubdivided lands.

Difficulty because of flood conditions was experienced in El Rancho Diablo, Gregory Gardens, El Monte Terrace, El Monte Estates, Concord Village, Clayton Valley Estates, and Mira Vista Terrace.

In summarizing the flood problems of these two counties the Oakland office of the Division of Real Estate reported in February, 1952, as follows:

Many opinions were expressed to the effect that it had been brought home to the people directly involved in their local communities that if they wished to relieve themselves of many of the hazards of floods, it would be necessary for them to exert the initiative. This has been accomplished in a great measure in Contra Costa County by the initiation of a Central Drainage System. When this system has been completed and the separate districts coordinated into the main system, much of the distress in the past should be alleviated. The same system holds true in Alameda County, as the people directly involved in the "grass roots" level realize that a flood control operation is a necessity; and thoughts and work are being directed toward that end with many improvements contemplated.

Humboldt County: Several complaints were received during the winter months from residents of a subdivision known as King Salmon Resort. This was supposed to have been a recreational subdivision, and the division's public report had contained a warning to purchasers as to tide and storm conditions in that area. "

Los Angeles County: Flood damage complaints were received from residents in the City of Venice. It was found that old subdivisions were affected. This provided an example of the inability of the Division of Real Estate to do anything for residents of old subdivisions because it lacks continuing jurisdiction after the tracts are sold out.

The Bellflower Board of Realtors reported to the Division of Real Estate that flooded condition of so many homes in the southeast area of Los Angeles County warranted something being done to stop any new subdivisions from being started in what is known to be land subject to heavy overflow. Their statement emphasized that the division's public report did not constitute sufficient protection for the public.

This county maintains an excellent flood engineering service. Reports are furnished to the county, incorporated cities, and to state agencies as a matter of routine, and they have been found by the Division of Real Estate to be very accurate. Considering the extent of development in Los Angeles County for the past few years, the number of subdivisions subject to flood hazard has been very low, and those tracts complained about are some that the Flood Control Engineer's office reported might be subject to sheet overflow. This causes no real damage as a rule, but principally inconvenience.

Orange County: Residents of the Bitterbush Tract in this county protested serious inconvenience caused by flooding in their area. It was found that the builder had ignored the warning that this was a flood area.

Marin County: Areas most subjected to floods during the 1951-52 storms were in Strawberry Manor, Bret Hart area, Marina Village, Kentfield Low Land area, and the Cities of San Rafael and Novato.

Complaints were received from residents of Kay Park Subdivisions No. 1 and No. 2 in January 1952. As during the previous year, drainage continued to be a problem in these subdivisions. Unit No. 3 was on the drafting board at that time, and the subdivider planned to create Unit No. 4 in the near future. The Planning Commission advised that they were watching both units closely in regard to drainage.

Marina Village Unit No. 1 was affected more severely by the storms than any of the older subdivisions. It appeared that this subdivision had insufficient fill as the roads and practically all the land in the area were completely inundated during the storms and high tides. The division's public report had contained a strong statement to the effect that purchasers should satisfy themselves prior to purchase regarding the possibility of infrequent inundation due to excessive rain water run-off, high tides, and unfavorable weather conditions.

In brighter contrast, Madera Gardens Subdivision No. 2 might be offered as an example. This is one of the older subdivisions which was built on tideland area and which has been successful in overcoming the flood control problem. This is an example of a tideland subdivision which can be considered secure against storms and flooding because of scientific and adequate engineering on the project.

Bret Harte Village Unit No. 1 and Unit No. 2 again experienced flooding of streets and sidewalks. Gallinas Village Unit No. 1 was affected the same this year as during the previous year. The division's public report on the subdivision had contained a warning about tide and wind conditions.

Nave Gardens and Franklin Court near Novato were seriously affected by the winter storms. No public report was ever issued on Franklin Court as the original tract was recorded in 1890. The public report on Nave Gardens stated nothing about flood conditions. It was reported that the builder had had trouble with local authorities in the past in connection with drainage operations. Newspaper articles covered in detail the flood condition caused by an inadequate drain going under the Northwestern Pacific tracks which causes water to back up over the building area in severe storms. However, according to a letter from the San Francisco office of the Division of Real Estate, dated June 16, 1952, this land was subject to inundation prior to any subdivision development, and it should have been rejected as a subdivision location. A drainage canal is in the process of construction to remove danger of future flooding.

The repetition of inconvenience to residents and damage to property prompted general protests and calls for action from the residents of the county. Mass meetings were held by citizens in San Rafael with the County Board of Supervisors and other local authorities regarding possible solutions for flood conditions in Marin County. Editorial comment in the Mill Valley Record on February 7, 1952, succinctly expressed the general feeling in stating that, "The time is long past when Marin County should have done something to tighten up its subdivision laws to protect innocent buyers from buying a home in the summertime, which would be under water, come winter." It was further protested that the flood damage in recently-developed lowland areas indicated that sufficient attention had not been given to the provision of adequate drainage and flood control facilities. Protests gave rise to tightened requirements on fill, drainage, curbs and gutters, and sidewalks.

Sacramento County: In January, 1952, this county found itself again beset with flood difficulties. Several streets in Colonial Village were inundated. This was caused by the inadequate storm drainage system and disposal of water collected by the drainage system. Heavy run-off water surged into Fruitridge Manor, located south of the State Fairgrounds in Sacramento. In River Park and Orchard Terrace, run-off water endangered several of the dwellings along the drainage ditch running along the south end of the tract.

San Diego County: This county had its own special problems during the 1951-52 storms. San Diego has many new subdivisions on high ground where flooding would not normally be expected. However, a serious problem exists relative to drainage of storm waters in these new subdivisions. After the winter storms visual inspection revealed that in many instances the drainage provided for the new subdivision tracts is not sufficient to take care of an excessive amount of rainfall and that facilities provided are not substantial enough to carry an excessive overload of storm water.

It was also found that site grading in the subdivisions has a tremendous effect upon the drainage problem and that because of improper grading serious damage had already resulted.

The drainage problem in this area has been magnified to a large extent by reason of the fact that many of the new tracts, especially those with filled embankments, have not been provided with a protective grass covering so that an excessive soil erosion occurs. This was particularly evident in the new tracts which were under development at the time of the rains.

The erosion phase of the problem is intensified greatly by reason of the fact that subdivisions on filled ground are generally found in a territory where the contour is irregular and land surface is hilly and rolling, therefore accelerating the draining of falling rain water. In the development known as Redwood Village near San Diego such a condition exists, and a great deal of silt and erosion damage was observed there during the 1951-52 storms. In some instances surface water drained away from the land to the rear of the lots, eroding the ground and undermining the concrete slabs on which the houses were constructed. Serious damage was done to several houses in the Redwood Village units by water undermining slabs and causing buckling. Door frames were thrown out of plumb, and settling even broke gas connections.

In Cosgrove Annex No. 2 water action on an unsurfaced street undermined a drain sewer already constructed which then broke loose and added to the torrent of water cascading down the steep incline, eroding a canyon in the street, and depositing a large amount of silt at the bottom of the incline.

Tests indicated that some of the damage was occasioned by improper site grading rather than soil compaction. It did not seem that the subdividers and their engineers had attempted to maintain any uniformity with the recommended degree of embankment slopes as established by the City of San Diego with respect to road embankments.

Where sewer construction alongside roadways had not been completed, much damage was noted by erosion in the open ditches. It was evident that a great amount of the damage was caused by reason of the fact that construction was not completed, thereby exposing the unfinished roads, lawns, etc., to the destructive force of the excessive rainfall.

San Mateo County: The over-all picture in this county was not so serious as the one existing the previous year. Many of the city and county engineering departments tightened their regulations and obtained the necessary financing to prevent a recurrence of the 1950 storm damage.

Solano County: Flood damage was reported in the Vallejo area east of the main highway in a subdivision known as Vallejo Manor. This area is at the head of Austin Creek which eventually empties into the Napa River. Some damage also was incurred along the creek west of the highway. Residents of both areas held mass meetings and met with the city council in an effort to have some corrective measures taken. A protest was entered against the city council approving further subdivisions in the area until adequate drainage is provided. In East Vallejo, manholes were opened to relieve back pressure in the sewer system. As a result, raw sewage overflowed in this area and around the Steffan Manor School.

FILLED GROUND

Multiple problems arising in connection with subdivisions developed on filled ground have been noted in the discussion of the flood problem. Dangers of settling and erosion exist. Subdividers often delay planting which is frequently crucial in a filled ground area. Slab construction on filled ground which is not properly compacted or properly graded and drained is not advisable. Under such conditions when drainage undermines the foundations, extensive irreparable damage is done. Slab foundations are generally permissible on properly filled and drained ground unless local building codes or lending institution requirements prevent it. Because of gaps between requirements of local building codes, FIIA standards, and other controls, buyers' homes suffer cracks and settling and in some cases destruction.

In the San Diego area particularly, where supervision of grading, compaction, and drainage on filled ground has not been properly controlled, there has been extensive damage to tract-built houses. Because of rapid population expansion and attendant building in many hilly areas surrounding San Diego, subdividers have done extensive cutting and grading work to prepare lots for building. Some tracts have filled ground as much as 50 feet in depth. Despite good filling practices, filled ground is always more subject to erosion by running water because of soil disturbance. In terraced subdivisions where lots are not drained into streets, extensive washing has occurred.

In the case of San Mateo Village it was found that the tract was built upon 30 inches of rock and gravel fill. The fill has not been installed to a sufficient depth, the result being flooding in excessively wet periods. In this example there has been no settling or excessive cracking as fill was compacted and weathered before construction. Sleepy Hollow Addition near San Anselmo in Marin County was constructed over a filled-in creek bed and the creek replaced by a concrete culvert. Excessive rains caused an overflow which washed away the fill and undermined some of the houses. Some foundations cracked and others tilted. This was caused by improper fill and compaction, together with the sealing off of a natural water course.

In Alameda County four subdivisions are known to be on filled ground. (Tracts 1062, 1075, 1160, and 1151.) In Contra Costa County the following have filled ground: Sunset Gardens, Unit 3; Parkmead Oaks, No. 3; Manor Crest Village, No. 7; and Woodland Manor, Unit 2.

The public report on Faulkner Subdivision, a portion of Meadow Park Tract in Los Angeles County (Res. No. 6591, November 1951) states that the subdivider advises that two parcels have filled ground as a result of filling in oil sump holes and basins. The oil sludge beneath these fills may work up to the surface. Locations of these parcels are given in the report.

Purchasers are warned about filled ground on a portion of the lots in a tract in Los Angeles County in the public report. (Lots 1 to 5 and 33 to 36, Tract No. 17394, File Res. 6613, April 1952.) The statement is made that there is compacted fill on these lots. Grades are given along with the density of the fill and the load which will be supported.

In those communities where controls are not properly exercised, the Commissioner of Real Estate throws the burden upon the subdivider to furnish engineering reports showing that the work has been done properly.

WATER SUPPLY

Water supply constitutes one of the most serious problems in recently developed subdivisions. The availability of water as a utility is one phase of the problem, quantity another, and quality or potability a third. There may be no water lines from an existing water company or there may be no provision for wells on the property. In certain arid areas of California the problem of a dropping water table is critical. Purchasers are not always informed that there is no guarantee of continued water supply.

The Public Utilities Commission exercises control over public utility companies, and its supervision appears to be effective. Private water companies are subject to less control and have the obvious recourse to cessation of service of water to their consumers if they are unable or unwilling to meet requirements. The Division of Real Estate attempts to warn purchasers of such a contingency. In the public report for a tract in San Bernardino County (Tract No. 3754, File Res. 5318, April 1952) a statement was made to the effect that the subdivider advised that purchasers of lots would receive water from the Western Heights Water Company under certain arrangements. Purchasers were warned that the Western Heights Water Company is a "mutual" water company which is not supervised or regulated as a public utility water company would be and that the company did not yet have a permit issued by the State Board of Public Health as required by law. The company would be under no obligation to supply water to anyone who was not a shareholder. The subdivider did not propose to furnish a share of stock to each purchaser but intended instead to enter into a conditional contract of sale, containing a number of provisions of interest to prospective lot purchasers. These conditions were also stated in the report.

The Corporations Commissioner does have a certain amount of authority over mutual water companies in that he can refuse to allow shares of stock to be issued. Once shares have been issued, there does not appear to be any continuing control over such companies by any agency. The Division of Real Estate has received numerous complaints about a great many mutual water companies. A number of conferences have been held by the commissioner on this problem. During 1951 a formal hearing was held regarding several subdivisions in the Sugarloaf area near Big Bear in San Bernardino County, which appeared to have been inadequately served with water by a mutual water company. After one day of testimony the sale of lots in these subdivisions was ordered stopped until such time as a public utility water system had been issued a permit to serve the area and until an adequate supply of domestic water was actually made available to the lots in the tract.<sup>1</sup>

Another problem which must be solved for the protection of lot buyers in tracts served by mutual water companies organized by the subdividers is that of permanency of the water supply. Some provision for continuing responsibility on the part of the developers seems to be desirable. In some promotional tracts, subdividers have washed their hands of responsibility for maintenance of the mutual water company after they have issued stock to lot buyers. Unless the tract is rapidly improved with homes, a few scattered residents may have the burden of maintaining the system.

The problem of adequacy of water supply arose in Lake County in the Mount Hannah Subdivision, Canal Homesites, and Oak Knoll Subdivision—all supplied by a private water system. The particular question in this case concerned what provision was made to carry on the contract to supply water should the contracting party for one reason or another pass out of the picture.

Municipally owned water companies too may have special provisions which would greatly affect the use of lots in subdivisions. The following quotation from the public report on Tract 14490 in Los Angeles County (File Res. No. 6376, September 1951) provides an interesting example:

The Department of Water and Power advises it will supply water to all lots in Tract 14490, but lots 2, 3, and 9 inclusive, can only be supplied subject to the Department's water service Elevation Agreement. Water supply to Lot 1 is contingent on the approval by Water System Engineers of a site grading plan and, if supply is approved, will be subject to the Department's water service Elevation Agreement.

The Elevation Agreement referred to is between the purchaser and Board of Water and Power Commissioners of the City of Los Angeles wherein the purchaser agrees to accept such water supply as the Water Department is able to render from its existing distributing system and discharge the Water Department from any and all claims for damages by reason of said water service.

In the case of the Ave Marie Subdivision near Roseville in Placer County (File Res. 2176, August 1950) the original subdivider had agreed to furnish water to the tract through a supply obtained from the North Fork Ditch and collected water fees direct from the water users. Subsequently he decided not to continue collecting but required that the water users pay direct to the North Fork Ditch, which in turn refused to accept fees, claiming their agreement was with the subdivider to wholesale water to him. The difficulty was solved when the North Fork Ditch finally took over the complete supply of water to users.

In Noonan's South Land Park Subdivision near Sacramento (Res. 1283, April 1947) the subdivider represented at the time the subdivision was filed with the Division of Real Estate that he would install a water supply system which would be taken over by a Sacramento County District. This was not accomplished until four years later, and it was necessary for the division to contact the subdivider several times in order to bring about the promised action.

This last year the Los Angeles Daily News called the public's attention to the Antelope Valley water problem in the Palmdale-Lancaster areas. Water levels are dropping in wells over seven feet per year. The present rate of subdividing and well drilling in the Valley are reported to be tremendous, and tentative maps filed showed over 3,000 parcels in the last quarter of 1951. People buying in the area are not always informed about the rapid depletion of water.

A number of developments exist where the purchaser must develop his own water supply at his own expense, and if this is known, it is included in the public report on the subdivision.

Some difficulty has been experienced with regard to pollution on San Lorenzo Creek in Santa Cruz County. Other pollution problems are a feature of the combination of the sewage and water supply problems.

SEWAGE

Disposal of sewage ranks as one of the most troublesome problems encountered in current subdivision practice. Controlling measures have been woefully inadequate. The sewage problem is tied in with such other important problems as flooding, drainage, and water supply. Local ground conditions may serve to make sewage disposal on individual lots extremely difficult. For example, near La Mesa in San Diego County (and in many other parts of the State) the soil structure makes individual lot disposal almost impossible. A high ground water table in certain areas of the San Fernando Valley prevents the use of cesspools. In some hill areas at the fringes of the valley sewage disposal on a higher lot tends to drain onto lower lots because the soil is not adequately absorptive.

It has been found that in some cities local authorities fail to coordinate their efforts to control the sewage problem. Local building departments may give septic tank permits but the local health departments will not necessarily grant approval. Subdivisions may be developed and lots sold and subsequently the purchaser will find he has no means of sewage disposal. This situation has given rise to the following requirement by the

Real Estate Commissioner regarding the filing of subdivisions which are not to be served by public sewers:

If it is proposed that local means of sewage disposal are to be used, a required document in the subdivision filing will be a letter or statement from the local health officer, or authority having jurisdiction, stating that the installation of septic tanks or cesspools will be permitted on all lots in the subdivision. Any exceptions to this statement which might exist should be set forth, but it must be clear that the means of sewage disposal which are represented by the subdivider as being suitable will in fact be permitted on all of the parcels in the subdivision.<sup>2</sup>

An example of good coordination between the health officer and the board of supervisors may be found in San Diego County, where maps are not permitted to be recorded unless the health officer approves of sewage disposal plans. Health hazards have developed in that county in the past because of numerous cesspools and septic tanks in unsuitable areas. Whole areas are now banned by the health officer for this type of disposal where soil conditions are unsuitable.

Examples of some of the difficulties encountered in the sewage disposal problem are listed below.

In Del Norte there was an attempt last spring to try to install septic tanks and wells on small lots. The Northern Division of the Water Pollution Board took the matter in hand in this case.

In the Harbour Front Unit 1 tract in San Luis Obispo County (File Res. 6818, April 1952) the public report of the Real Estate Division advised that septic tanks are permitted by the Health Department if installed in duplicate on certain lots. It was the opinion of the Health Department that certain lots are too small to accommodate septic tanks, and the department requested that they be sold in multiples of not less than 4,000 square feet.

During 1949 heavy rains caused flooding in the Vollmer Tract in Santa Clara County. Septic tanks overflowed and the effluent entered in and under the houses. It was necessary as a health measure to evacuate some of the residents and to install chlorine tanks as a safety precaution.

A complaint signed by 27 purchasers was received by the Division of Real Estate concerning a sanitation condition in Hilldale Terrace Units 1 and 2 in San Diego County. Heavy rains in the Escondido area last winter had created a drainage difficulty. Septic tanks installed in the tracts apparently could not drain into the saturated soil and overflowed on the surface of the ground. It appeared that improper drainage had been provided in the tracts. The chief of the Division of Sanitation, San Diego County, reported that the only solution would be to have the area annexed to the City of Escondido so that sewer connections could be made. Meanwhile a health hazard confronted residents of the tracts.

The sanitation problem is general in several other counties. The Division of Real Estate reports that the list of subdivisions affected in Contra Costa County is a particularly long one.<sup>3</sup> The sewage problem for Cameo Acres which has suffered flood damage during the past two winters has never been solved. A private sewage disposal system had been constructed for Cameo Acres Units 1, 2, and 3 which failed to meet county, state or FHA standards. When Unit 3 was to be developed, protests were received from residents of Units 1 and 2 who claimed their property would be damaged by the use of the sewer in the third unit. In spite of difficulties the tract was developed and purchasers<sup>s</sup> allowed to occupy their homes after some delay. Both technical and legal aspects of the sewer problem for this subdivision promise to be a community problem for many years.

ROADS AND STREETS

The problem of roads and streets also causes difficulty. There is a vast difference in policy among the various cities and counties in the matter of acceptance or rejection of dedicated streets and roads. The Real Estate Commissioner made a tentative survey of the subject and sent out over 400 questionnaires for clarification. The replies have not been completely catalogued, but the following indicate the variety of policies listed.

1. Streets may be dedicated by a subdivider, but there will be no assurance to purchasers of acceptance for public use and maintenance by the local jurisdiction.
2. In some instances the offer of dedication for public use will be accepted but there will be no agreement to maintain the streets.
3. The offer of dedication will be rejected completely.
4. Portions will be accepted, the rest rejected.
5. Dedication may be accepted for public use and maintenance.
6. If roads do not meet local specification standards for widths and improvements, local governing bodies will neither accept nor maintain them.
7. There are districts where the subdivider must post a bond for street improvements prior to his subdivision being accepted for recordation.

The division also finds problems involving roads described simply by rights of way or easements which sometimes causes litigation and controversy. Some counties are apparently overcoming a portion of the problem by strengthening their requirements for the construction of roads in new subdivisions.

In the Ave Marie Subdivision near Roseville in Placer County (Res. 2176) the interior roads are private rights of way or easements which must be maintained at the expense of the purchasers. Purchasers complained that the roads put in by the subdivider were impassable and asserted that conditions and maintenance of the lots were misrepresented. Placer County will not take over roads of this type.

Roads within Alpine Tract (Res. 1855), a mountain subdivision near Colfax in the same county, are private. Complaints have been made about the improvements by the subdivider which have been claimed to be inadequate. The county will not accept them. Action on the part of the Division of Real Estate forced the subdivider to make the roads at least passable, but they had not been accepted by the county according to latest reports.

A third subdivision in Placer County, Frey Subdivision (Res. 1220) on U. S. Highway 40 near Weimar, gave similar trouble. Interior roads, although dedicated, were not accepted by the county. Complaints were received by the Division of Real Estate relating to improvement of the roads by the subdivider, and through the efforts of the division additional gravel was placed on the roads, which satisfied the complainants. However, the county will not accept the roads for maintenance.

Meadowmont Subdivision (Res. 1347) and Meadowmont Subdivision No. 2 (Res. 1483) 20 miles northeast of Angels Camp in Calaveras County have also been sources of similar trouble. Complaints were again made about the condition of the roads which were to be improved by the subdivider. A cash bond was placed with the county for the improvement of the roads, and the bond was returned to the subdivider by the county. The Division of Real Estate received numerous complaints about the road conditions, and the county refused to do anything about them, although, as stated, the cash bond was returned to the subdivider. The division has endeavored to work with the county and the purchasers to try to solve the road problem.

For Pleasant View Subdivision in Shasta County (Res. 2738, March 1952) the public report warns, "Pleasant View Drive has been dedicated for public use and has been accepted by the county with the stipulation that the County of Shasta does not agree to construct, improve or maintain said dedicated street. This may mean that future care and maintenance may have to be borne by the individual property owners." Such county policies leave subdivisions in the anomalous position of having so-called public streets with no public assumption of responsibility for their upkeep.

ACCESS

Some means of ingress and egress to subdivisions is obviously important, but there are cases where this necessary feature has been inadequately treated. Usually cities and counties exercise some jurisdiction over the installation of streets within a tract, although their authority to do so in record of survey maps is dubious, according to the Division of Real Estate. Such installation of streets makes it possible for owners to get to their property within the tract but does not insure their being able to reach the tract itself.

A special problem of access has been presented by a number of subdivisions where the only means of reaching the tracts is over private rights of way crossing railroad tracks. The crossings are steep and dangerous, and the Public Utilities Commission has the authority to close the crossings at any time. Yet subdividers are not required to obtain public crossings prior to their subdivision maps being accepted for recordation.

In a letter from the Public Utilities Commission to the Division of Real Estate on May 6, 1952, that agency stated that it is faced with a considerable problem in California with respect to private grade crossings that over the years become public through use and yet are not constructed to proper standards to insure safety to the public and often are not suitably located to serve the area in an efficient manner. Arrangement for private crossings can be made between an individual and the railroad company without recourse to the commission, but before a public crossing may be constructed authority must be obtained.<sup>4</sup> An application for such authority is made by the political body having jurisdiction over the road and if, in the judgment of the Public Utilities Commission, the crossing is deemed necessary, authority is granted by a formal order specifying certain standards of construction, type of paving, approach grades and protection.

The letter goes on to state that the commission's problem arises when a county or city comes with an application to make public one of these old private crossings. Upon investigation it is found that the people using the crossing very often have no other means of access to their homes, but at the same time the crossings are not constructed to the commission's standards and considerable expense would be involved to make them conform. In other cases, the necessity for the crossing could be eliminated entirely if a short connecting road were to be built to connect the new area with an already existing public crossing.

In such cases the commission may request the local authority making the application to improve the crossing. Other times it may suggest that a connecting road be built, eliminating the necessity for the crossing. The commission usually finds that these public bodies feel that the subdivider should have made these changes. However, the subdivider has long since sold his lots and washed his hands of the matter. Because of the large expense entailed, the county loses interest, disclaims any jurisdiction over the roadway, and the substandard crossing remains as a hazard to the public and the railroad.

The letter states,

It would be extremely helpful if real estate interests when planning a subdivision requiring access across a railroad track would: (1) prepare its plans in such a manner that the number of crossings be kept at a minimum; (2) not utilize existing private crossings for such access until they ascertain that such crossing ties in with other general plans for the development of the area; (3) make sure that any necessary public crossings can be constructed to safe standards.

An accompanying report cites specific instances where unsuitable private crossings have been utilized for subdivision developments.

- (a) Summerhill Heights—Subdivision south of Los Altos on the Los Gatos branch of the Southern Pacific Company. Objectionable grades up to 15 percent exist. Santa Clara County filed an application in 1947 to have the crossing declared public. There was a possibility of having a nearby road extended where the crossing is protected by a wigwag. Therefore the commission denied the application. The county has not constructed the extension because it is expensive, and it feels the subdivider should have made the provision. Meantime the private crossing remains in use by the general public, although the surface has deteriorated considerably since no one assumes the responsibility for its maintenance.
- (b) Woodland Acres—Subdivision also on the Los Gatos branch of the Southern Pacific Company at Simla Station. In this case the owner of a private estate on the west of the railroad obtained access to the county road on the east side of the track for many years over a private crossing. When a subdivider acquired the property, he utilized the old private road as a subdivision street, naming it Arboretum Drive. Approach conditions are similar to those for the Summerhill tract. In 1950

Santa Clara County filed an application to make this crossing public. Engineers from the Public Utilities Commission investigated and found that considerable expense would be necessary to either reduce the approaches to reasonable gradients or to build a parallel road to an already existing crossing. When these suggestions were made to the county, it withdrew its application. Arboretum Drive remains a private crossing although it serves a considerable number of newly constructed homes and further extension of the subdivision is now under way.

- (c) Tobiasson Subdivision—a few miles south of Redding. In this case the only access to the property was over an old private crossing and after the subdivision was made and many of the lots sold, Shasta County made an application for a public crossing. After hearing, the commission granted the application, but it appeared that a parallel road could have been built to another public crossing and thus eliminated the necessity for the new one.
- (d) Center Street, Millbrae, San Mateo County. The so-called Center Street crossing was originally installed many years ago under private agreement with Southern Pacific Company. It now furnishes the only means of access to a number of houses on the east side of the railroad tracks, and the commission's engineers have noted that a considerable extension of this subdivision is in progress. There is also local agitation to utilize this crossing on an access route between Millbrae and El Camino Real, and the San Francisco Airport.

AIRPORTS

The location of subdivisions in relation to airports is becoming an increasing problem. Subdivisions are gradually encroaching upon the private airports to the point where it may become hazardous to occupy houses built as close to the airstrips as they now are and directly under the airport flight pattern. In several instances the aeronautical authorities have asked the Division of Real Estate to do something about the problem. However, there is little the Division can do under present legislation, other than to make mention of the fact in its public report, and it has no way of anticipating the establishment of future airports. It is also undetermined how close subdivisions should be built to the airport flight pattern.

In Alameda County Tracts 1077, 1093, and 1141 are located immediately adjacent to the Hayward Municipal Airport. This airport is used by a National Guard unit, flying military planes. Because of the traffic in and out of the airport, it should have been obvious to purchasers that some homes were located in the flight pattern. Because of prevailing winds the general flight pattern on take-offs is in a westerly direction directly over these subdivisions.

FIRE PROTECTION

Although fire protection is in the hands of the local jurisdictions, it appears that local fire protection authorities have found it difficult to cope with the problem in a number of newly-built up areas. Cities or counties may set forth in great detail the requirements for the installation of water lines and then neglect to provide for water in the mains. In some instances subdivisions may be outside any established fire district.

The Division of Real Estate has not been besieged with complaints with respect to inadequate fire protection, but local authorities have called the division's attention to the inadequacies of this important service in subdivided areas. In certain mountain districts subdivisions are protected only by equipment made available by the Forestry Division. Usually such equipment is designed for fighting only grass or brush fires rather than residential and is not available for subdivision fires when otherwise occupied. In some instances the protection is available only during the summer months.

The Division of Real Estate includes mention of fire protection in its public report so that purchasers will at least know whether they will be protected or not. For example, the public report on Pleasant View Subdivision (Res. 2738, March 1952) in Shasta County states, "The subdivider advises there is no fire protection."

The Oakland office reported that the Mount Hannah Subdivision located near Hoberg's Resort in Lake County appears to have inadequate fire protection, even though it is developed.

SALES METHODS

Control over sales methods where misrepresentation, false promises, etc., are employed has been a particularly difficult question for the Division of Real Estate. The Attorney General has advised that the present law permits action only when there is something wrong with the subdivision itself. It is sometimes possible for the commissioner to take indirect action against a real estate licensee who may be involved. Since the subdivider is permitted to do his own selling, there are frequently no licensees involved. The Los Angeles office of the division reports, for example, that it has numerous complaints against one individual selling property in the Palm Springs area. Neither the District Attorney of Riverside County nor the division has been able to do anything about the complaints to date.

Further, the Real Estate Commissioner is empowered only to stop sales in case of fraud, misrepresentation, or deceit. Once the subdivision is sold out, his jurisdiction ceases. The division reports that this has probably been the most important bar to effective action. It also is noted that proving fraud, misrepresentation or deceit is very difficult prior to the sale of parcels. For the most part all the commissioner can do is try to insure full disclosure by means of the public report, and the division has made an all-out effort to enforce the rule that prospective purchasers be given a copy of the public report before buying property. It has been found that subdividers are often very reluctant to give out the report, particularly if there is any adverse matter in it.

As regards restrictions and contracts of sale, the law appears to imply some jurisdiction on the part of the commissioner to insure that there is no fraud, misrepresentation, or deceit in regard to their use but does not provide any effective means of enforcing this jurisdiction. Many important restrictions are placed on land, and some, such as reversionary clauses, may be highly unfavorable to purchasers.

Some "vicious" contracts of sale proposed for use by subdivisions have been encountered by the division. The following presents an extreme example:

In one case, a subdivision known as "Happy Homes," the division was able to persuade the subdivider to change some of the provisions. However, the contract of sale which he had originally intended to use, for instance, agreed that the buyer would forfeit all rights and all money that he had paid in if, for instance, he and his wife should separate and live apart.

It is pointed out that the principal trouble with buying property on a contract of sale is that the seller does not have to have title or clear title until the time for completion of the contract. Meanwhile he need not own it or, if he does, can mortgage it. Circumstances may prevent his being able to deliver title when the contract is fulfilled, and purchasers may have no remedy except civil suit, out of which they may be able to obtain only worthless judgments. The division reports that some states require that contracts of sale involving subdivisions be handled much more strictly for the protection of purchasers.

RELEASE CLAUSES

Financing and the question of "release clauses" in loans which cover the entire subdivision has always been a problem. Attempting to clarify the matter the commissioner asked the Attorney General the following question:

Does the Real Estate Commissioner have the authority and responsibility to require release provisions in a proposed subdivision project that will enable individual lot purchasers to obtain clear title upon performance of their purchase contract even if the subdivider is in default on a blanket loan on the whole subdivision?

The Attorney General's conclusion is summarized as follows:

The statute is intended to prevent defrauding subdivision lot purchasers and is a valid exercise of the police power to attain such end. The provisions of Section 11013 of the Business and Professions Code require an unconditional release clause and the Real Estate Commissioner has the authority and responsibility to require that the provision be unconditional. In its absence, after appropriate proceedings he may prohibit the sale of lots in the proposed subdivision.<sup>5</sup>

The Attorney General's opinion clarifies the aspect of the section referred to that release clauses must be effective, regardless of whether or not the basic loan is in good standing.

However, the division calls attention to the fact that there are a number of other problems in connection with release clauses which are still in doubt, namely that the meaning of the section is not clear and that it is not effective in protecting the purchaser. It is not effective in that it requires provisions which will enable the seller to deliver property free and clear of the loan, rather than provisions which would enable the buyer to obtain clear title, free and clear of the loan.

SUMMARY

The following problems in recently subdivided areas have been reviewed:

1. Flood Hazard and Drainage
2. Filled Ground
3. Water Supply
4. Sewage
5. Roads and Streets
6. Access
7. Airports
8. Fire Protection
9. Sales Methods
10. Release Clauses

The first four or five of these problems have accounted for the bulk of complaints to the Division of Real Estate in the past few years.

As the problems have become acute, many local jurisdictions have undertaken their solution. Complaints are often addressed to the Division of Real Estate, although the division does not exercise control over the causes of the problems. If it attempts to bring about solutions, it may find that it would enter fields that are properly the responsibility of other authorities or that it may no longer have jurisdiction.

A few cities and counties exercise sufficient controls and the various agencies coordinate their efforts. Others lack this cooperation. Still other cities and counties are not equipped with the necessary personnel to control subdivision developments. Many plead they do not have the funds provided to maintain the expert help needed. The Division of Real Estate has no technical help to undertake this job when it is not done locally. Their only recourse is to throw the burden upon the subdivider or landowner to furnish expert certifications. If conditions are found to be serious, the commissioner can stop the sale of the tract on the grounds that to permit it would cause constructive fraud to be worked upon purchasers.

Furthermore, warnings issued by the division in its public reports on subdivisions have frequently proved ineffective since prospective purchasers have apparently disregarded warnings. The apparent inadequacy of subdivision controls from the point of view of the investor, the local jurisdiction, the subdivider, and administrative agencies will be reviewed in Chapter V.

IV

THE SUBDIVIDER

Examination thus far has been from the point of view of public and enforcement agencies. An additional problem exists in regard to costs and delays in relation to subdivision planning. It is reported that many subdividers in California have limited activities because of the multiplicity of restrictions. Costs are most certainly shared by individuals buying homes.

Restrictions and procedures applicable to subdividers will vary from county to county and from city to city. The following outline of steps indicates the scope of approvals necessary in a typical situation.

Acquisition of Land

Land is acquired by a development company, in many cases subject to a blanket mortgage held by a financial institution. Title company requirements may be met at this point.

Engineering and Planning of the Subdivision

The subdivider hires a licensed surveyor or engineer to check the feasibility of road layouts, grading and filling, and other landscaping. Plans and suggestions are made on the division of land into individual parcels for sale with regard to the topography, drainage, natural growth of trees, etc. A check with the city engineer is made to determine whether or not the land is subject to sliding.

The surveyor surveys the tract and prepares the required maps. These will include a tentative map showing the tract number, a brief property description, and the proposed layout of the subdivision, streets, alleys, easements granted, etc. A contour map may also be prepared to accompany the tentative map.

At this stage, although he is not required to do so, the subdivider will normally make certain estimates of time and expense. He will make estimates of the time required to complete the subdivision and begin sales, to fulfill all the legal requirements, and to have the map completed and recorded. At the same time, estimates will also be made of the following expenses:

- survey and general engineering
- monumenting
- installation of utilities
- general grading and preparation of the land for sale
- recording and notarial fees
- real estate brokerage commissions
- tax and assessment bonds
- district bonds
- surety bonds for improvement
- fees for map checking
- proceedings for dedication of streets
- direct or special assessments
- other selling costs <sup>1</sup>

Submission of Tentative Map

The tentative subdivision map is submitted to the city or county planning commission. This may or may not require special hearing or land use permit. It may also be necessary to secure the approval of the local legislative body—the county board of supervisors or city council. Very frequently local authorities will require certain alterations on the basis of the tentative map before granting their approval.

After approval is granted, the final map is drawn up and the required monuments set.

Lending Institution Requirements

If the subdivision is to be insured by the F.H.A., a whole series of requirements must be met. These are reported to vary somewhat with the local offices of F.H.A., and subdividers have reported that they have variations in requirements within the same F.H.A. office. The usual practice is to require certain exhibits which will include as a minimum a subdivision map, a location map, the applicable restrictions, and the FIA 2084 form. After the subdivision and development plan are submitted to the FIA for analysis, a report is issued to the subdivider telling him what he must do to gain approval.

The private lending institution which finances the subdivision will have its own requirements to be met by the subdivider. These will differ from institution to institution, but certain requirements are typical. Exhibits will usually be required similar to those prescribed by the FIA, such as the subdivision maps, location maps, and applicable restrictions. In addition, the institution may require specifications and plans in some detail, cost estimates, and time schedules for both the preparation of the land and construction of improvements.

The Veterans Administration has played a very important part in subdivision regulation of recent years. Numerous tracts improved with homes have been financed under VA guarantees. In many areas this agency has carefully investigated new subdivisions, whereas in others it has been rather lax.<sup>2</sup>

Other Preliminary Steps

Concurrent steps may include checking with the county or city road officials with respect to road requirements, conferring with the local health officer regarding the sanitation regulations, and obtaining approval of the Water Pollution Board with reference to run-off. The distances from the proposed subdivision to elementary schools, high schools, and the availability of public transportation facilities are determined for submission to various agencies. In anticipation of Division of Real Estate requirements, letters must be obtained from the various utility companies to assure the availability of services. It is usually necessary to obtain a flood hazard report from the county flood engineer, if such an official exists in the county where the subdivision is located.

Legal Steps in Accordance With the Real Estate Law

Before land is sold and deposits accepted there are requirements to be met under the terms of the Real Estate Law, as have been previously indicated. A questionnaire must be prepared for the Division of Real Estate and a filing fee paid. Required documents to be submitted may include the following:

1. Recent certificate of title, policy of title insurance or preliminary title report.
2. Current mortgage, trust deeds, contract or option to purchase showing indebtedness with adequate release provisions.
3. Preliminary and final contract of sale or deed and trust deed to be used to convey property to owners.
4. Conditions, reservations, and covenants, restrictions that affect building, use or occupancy.
5. Map as required by the city or county in which the subdivision is located.
6. Letters from public utilities companies stating that arrangements have been completed; that ample service is available, and that it will be furnished on demand.

<sup>2</sup> The FHA has outlined subdivision standards in its Land Planning Bulletin No. 3. A recent VA order has adopted portions of these standards in that agency's subdivision requirements. See announcement in National Association of Real Estate Boards, Headlines, December 8, 1952.

7. List showing sales price of each lot.
8. Statement of local health department relative to sewage disposal if public sewers are not available.
9. Contract between subdivider and selling agent.

Inspection by the Division of Real Estate may follow to determine if the subdivision is suitable for the construction proposed and to ascertain the correctness of the information and data furnished by the subdivider.

As has been noted earlier, the division's public report on the subdivision must be given to each prospective purchaser and his receipt taken for it before a parcel may be sold.

Recording Requirements

The final map of the subdivision must be filed with the county recorder in accordance with the provisions of the Subdivision Map Act. Restrictions imposed upon the subdivision must also be recorded. Deeds of trust for the subdivision also require recordation.

SUMMARY

This brief outline of the major steps in the development of a subdivision indicates that even in the ordinary course of events the path of subdivision development is fraught with expense, delays, and confusion. Subdividers estimate that from six months to a year is typically required to complete the steps outlined above.

In addition to the usual procedures noted above which vary from jurisdiction to jurisdiction, a whole host of extra problems may crop up in connection with special locations. The sheer variety of procedures which must be followed is expensive in terms of manpower and time. Fees at every turn add to costs.

Subdividers point out that delays arise in clearing with planning commissions, in securing FHA commitments, and in obtaining approval of such regulatory agencies as the Water Pollution Board, local health departments, Division of Highways, and others.

Further, it appears that the regulations of the various supervisory authorities are not coordinated as between agencies. A requirement under one agency's rules might conflict under those of another. Similarly, two or more agencies may each require the prior approval of the other with the result that the subdivider is at a stalemate.

V

SHORTCOMINGS OF CONTROLS

The major purpose of the present report is to describe the subdivision problem from the point of view of regulatory agencies, the subdivider-builder, and the public. The over-all objectives of subdivision control were indicated in Chapter I. At the heart of good subdivision control lies the granting of reasonable protection to the investor and the insurance of sound community development. Subdividers, purchasers, investors, and government are all interested parties.

The preceding examination of the various legislative and administrative controls, the problems of enforcement in the Division of Real Estate, and the difficulties encountered by the subdivider has established that present controls are not fulfilling their purpose to the extent that they were designed to protect the public and assure orderly development.

Relative responsibilities of state and local jurisdictions are not clearly defined. As a result of this and other factors, enforcement is ineffective in terms of the accomplishment of the broader objectives. Differences in definitions create conflicts for participants in the subdivision process. Regulations of agencies only collaterally concerned with subdivision development are uncoordinated, causing delays and duplication. There is no uniformity of standards for development at various levels of control, and minimum standards are lacking or dissimilar. Enforcement of controls varies greatly in the different county and city jurisdictions. A system of subdivision controls requiring "one time prior approval" fails to provide for any continuing supervision in the interests of either the community or the individual investor. Examination of the plight of the subdivider reveals current practices are sometimes unnecessarily wasteful, time-consuming, expensive, and do not always achieve the basic objective.

The emphasis in this report has been upon current administrative problems in the protection of home buyers. More fundamental criticism of the structure of controls would call attention to the fact that existing subdivision practices and controls do not provide for orderly community development or for any standard in urban and suburban amenities. Home buyers who move to the country to escape high urban taxes find that rapid and unplanned expansion in suburban community facilities soon results in high taxation and destroys attractions of suburban living. A consideration of the subdivision problem in these broader terms poses many basic questions which cannot be explored fully in this memorandum and which go much beyond present objectives of public subdivision controls.

Shortcomings of State Legislation

State legislation, Regulations of the Real Estate Commissioner, and direct local controls are the core of direct subdivision controls in California, supplemented in only minor degree by private deed restrictions and by other regulations.

The jurisdiction of the Division of Real Estate is limited to investigating and disclosing to the public the facts concerning a subdivision and to ordering the sale stopped if it appears it will constitute fraud. However, the division is the only state agency which has a semblance of overall control in the approval of subdivision activity. Many divisions of land are not controlled by the division because of exceptions in the law. Once the subdivision is completely sold out, the commissioner has no further jurisdiction, and although fraud and bad practices may be revealed subsequently, he can take no action. His public report can only warn purchasers of undesirable features which he can detect through his investigation.

A report made by the Real Estate Commissioner on a subdivision summarizes for the purchaser pertinent facts concerning the subdivision and attempts to point out the bad features. However, the buying public cannot always rely implicitly upon the report or secure the protection the law is designed to give for various reasons, summarized as follows:

1. Control of detrimental features may extend beyond the limits of the jurisdiction of the various agencies controlling land subdivisions;
2. Political influences in some jurisdictions may prevent correction of bad features against the better judgment of technical employees;
3. Poor service due to understaffed agencies and, in some cases, incompetency of officials administering the law;
4. Permitting subdivisions to be launched in unfavorable locations unsuited for residential development, due to need for home building in the area and scarcity of favorable locations.

Conflicts in Legislation

Examples of conflicts in definitions are offered in a comparison of the Subdivision Map Act and the Real Estate Law. Important differences exist between the two pieces of legislation which cause considerable confusion on what constitutes a subdivision. In both cases the basic definition is land divided into five parcels, but there are important exceptions in the Map Act, which contains a number of exemptions under certain specified conditions. In either case the definition of subdivision into five parcels leads to numerous evasions in which four parcels are created, each of which is later divided into four more, etc. (The Division of Real Estate reports there are many examples of this type of evasion in the San Fernando Valley and Antelope Valley.)

Opportunities for evasion are also provided by the Map Act which covers subdivisions "for sale" but does not consider those "for lease" as does the Real Estate Law. Control by cities and counties is greatly limited in the case of land subdivided by means of a Record of Survey map. Jurisdiction over lot sizes, drainage, and street alignment is still maintained, however. The Real Estate Commissioner does not lose any jurisdiction over such land subdivisions.

Noncompliance with various subdivision laws constitutes a misdemeanor in every case, and prosecution usually results in a very light or suspended penalty. Some developers prefer to accept such penalties, as it results in a great saving to them.

Duplication of effort, delays and consequent pressure because of delays are also problems created by the existence of the two uncoordinated sets of laws.

Problems of Local Control

A great deal of further analysis should be made of subdivision controls at the county and municipal levels of government in California. A number of local jurisdictions in the State have proved highly effective in controlling new development of the land within their borders. However, the problems arising within other areas make it apparent that local legislation has not met the challenge of good community development.<sup>1</sup> Subdividers who operate in these areas can testify to the inadequacies of controls. Purchasers experiencing the impact of floods, sanitation problems, lack of fire protection, or access hazards are unconvinced that their legislative representatives have assured the protection that a home-buyer might reasonably expect. From the standpoint of all concerned there is no consistency from jurisdiction to jurisdiction.

Even where seemingly good subdivision or related ordinances appear on the record, variations from set practice may be readily set aside at the whim of local bodies, leaving no guarantee that good development will follow.

Other Shortcomings

The confusion and contradictions between state and local legislation is heightened by regulations of a large number of other agencies which at one point or another have a hand in subdivision development. These cause administrative difficulties. It has already been noted that the subdivider has a particular dilemma in this connection.

The subdivider too is in an untenable position. He is faced with not knowing which controls apply to his development. He is perplexed by the complexities of procedure and overlapping jurisdictions and delays caused by the various agencies with which he must deal. Consequently, his costs increase and the added expense is reflected in the selling price to the eventual purchaser.

It has been seen that inadequate local building ordinances and the lack of building site preparation standards plus a lack of drainage, flood control, or sanitation regulation has made it possible for subdivisions of questionable value on marginal lands to develop. Local reforms have been prompted in some instances after damage has been done and complaints received. However, these steps may not be enacted in the form of an ordinance. Nor will they be uniformly applied throughout the State.

Perhaps a lack of uniformity in control, a lack of minimum standards and a lack of over-all control constitute the most serious shortcomings of the existing legislation. To the prospective home buyer the advice of caveat emptor applies as it does to the purchaser of few other commodities. And yet, more frequently than not the product he buys is the largest and most important purchase of his lifetime. The average house buyer does not have the engineering or other technical skill which will permit him to make the best decision as to the quality of the product involved. Usually he is not equipped to make a complete survey of the community in which it is located to determine whether all the essential facilities are present. He finds that there is no single authority charged with the over-all responsibility to whom he can turn.

The complexity and nature of these problems will necessitate fundamental agreement on the objectives of over-all controls and the relative responsibilities of various jurisdictions. The accomplishment of these objectives will require substantial additional research and extensive consultation among federal, state, and local governmental agencies and individuals affected.

SEC. 4. This act is hereby declared to be an urgency measure necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health or safety within the meaning of Section 1 of Article IV of the Constitution, and shall therefore go into immediate effect. A statement of the facts constituting such necessity is as follows:

The demands of an ever increasing population require the rapid development of the water resources of this State. A number of public districts have such developments under way and will be issuing bonds to finance the same prior to the time that laws passed in the 1953 Session would ordinarily become effective. The success or failure of such projects depends upon selling tax free bonds at low rates of interest. The market for such bonds is limited largely to insurance companies as a result of the low rates of interest and due to the arbitrary and conflicting restrictions of the Financial Code that prevent investment of savings banks cash in such bonds irrespective of the quality of the bonds and the security behind them. In order to broaden the market for such bonds and thereby further reduce the rate of interest demanded, it is essential that savings banks be permitted to invest limited amounts in such bonds that have, after investigation by the California Districts Securities Commission, been found to be sound securities for safe investment of savings banks funds."

Amendments read, and adopted.

Bill ordered printed and re-referred to Committee on Water Resources.

The allocation and expenditure of such money, or the allocation and expenditure of moneys in the Strategic State Highways Fund, shall be subject to Section 188 of the Streets and Highways Code, but shall not be subject to Section 188.4 thereof.

SEC. 14. The California Highway Commission shall from time to time, designate the particular route or routes or portions thereof within the system, and allocate moneys available for expenditure by the Department of Public Works for the acquisition of rights of way for, and the construction of, or reconstruction of existing public ways as a part of, the route or routes or portions thereof so designated by the commission, the priority of the designation and allocation aforesaid to be made by the commission as the most urgent public needs may appear in its judgment.

It is estimated that the funds made available by this act or by the Strategic State Highway Bond Act of 1953 will be sufficient as nearly as practicable to acquire, construct and complete the system of strategic state highway routes as provided herein, but it shall not be necessary that any particular route be constructed at any particular time or in any particular order, and the routes may be constructed in portions or segments, from time to time, as in the judgment of the Department of Public Works such acquisition or construction is feasible and desirable to carry out the designations made by the California Highway Commission. The validity of any bonds issued under the Strategic State Highway Bond Act of 1953 or authorized to be issued thereunder shall not be affected by the time, manner or amount of construction of any particular route or segment or portion thereof, irrespective of any designation thereof by the California Highway Commission, and bonds may be issued under said act to obtain funds for such acquisition or construction to the extent that the proceeds thereof may be available for such purposes irrespective of whether or not the entire project can or will be completed within the funds made available by this act or by the Strategic State Highway Bond Act of 1953, it being the intention of this act, however, to provide for such acquisition or construction to the maximum extent to which the proceeds of the sale of the bonds or the additional revenues made available by this act will suffice for that purpose.

SEC. 15. The Department of Public Works and the California Highway Commission shall possess and exercise like powers, duties, and jurisdiction, not in conflict with this act, in respect to the alignment, location, relocation, acquisition, use, relinquishment, abandonment, disposition and control of rights of way for, and the construction and reconstruction of existing public ways as a part of, the system of strategic state highways as is now or hereafter may be vested by law in the department and commission in respect to other state highways and freeways and the routes thereof; provided, however, that every strategic state highway or part thereof within the system shall follow generally and substantially, as nearly as may appear feasible and practical in the judgment of the department and commission, the route thereof as depicted on the map set forth herein, and shall be designed in all cases to serve the traffic needs of the same region or area as such route.

SEC. 16. Nothing in this act shall limit or affect the power of the commission and department to realign, relocate, and acquire new rights of way for, and construct and reconstruct along such new alignment, relocation and new right of way, any strategic state highway or part thereof within the system, as public needs may appear in the judgment of the department and commission, notwithstanding any prior alignment, location, right of way, and construction along the same, of any such strategic state highway or part thereof within the system formerly open to use or in use by public traffic and irrespective of whether such new alignment, relocation, new right of way, and construction and reconstruction along the same, as aforesaid, is prior or subsequent to the payment and discharge of the principal and interest of all bonds issued under the Strategic State Highway Bond Act of 1953 and of whether the same is financed in whole or in part with moneys from out of the Strategic State Highways Fund, the additional revenues made available by this act, or other moneys available by law for such purpose.

SEC. 17. This act shall not limit, modify or abridge any of the powers, duties or jurisdiction as is now or hereafter may be provided by law in the Department of Public Works or the California Highway Commission in respect to the alignment, location, relocation, acquisition, use, relinquishment, abandonment, disposition or control of rights of way for, or the construction, reconstruction or maintenance of, other state highways and freeways not included within the system of strategic state highways, irrespective of the route, location or proximity of any such other state freeway or highway with respect to any strategic state highway or the route thereof whenever such other state freeway or highway was prior in time, or the public needs appear in the judgment of the department and commission.

SEC. 18. The commission shall allocate and the department shall expend or cause to be expended not less than 50 percent of other moneys made available by law for state highways and freeways, after deducting expenditures for maintenance and administration, including federal aid allocations for the improvement of state highways other than allocations for federal secondary highways, upon the system of strategic state highways and not less than 30 percent of such moneys upon state highways not included in the strategic system of state highways. The allocation and expenditure of such other moneys pursuant to this section shall be subject to Sections 188 and 188.4 of the Streets and Highways Code.

SEC. 19. No moneys in the Strategic State Highways Fund, or moneys in the State Highway Fund derived from the increased rates of taxes and fees provided for in this act, shall ever be expended for maintenance of any state highway, including any strategic state highway under this act; nor shall any such money ever be expended for general administration purposes of the department or commission.

Sec. 20. Section 186 of the Streets and Highways Code is amended to read:

186. For general administration and for maintenance, the department and the commission shall be limited in expenditures, out of the money available each year in the State Highway Fund, to an amount not exceeding the net revenue derived from one cent ($.01) per gallon tax on motor vehicle fuel and on the use of fuel under Part 3 of Division 2 of the Revenue and Taxation Code. Of that amount the department shall expend such proportion as the commission determines is necessary for each of the following:

COMMUNICATIONS

The following communication was received and read, and on motion of Senator McCarthy, ordered printed in the Journal:

CORPS OF ENGINEERS, UNITED STATES ARMY
OFFICE OF THE DISTRICT ENGINEER, SAN FRANCISCO DISTRICT
SAN FRANCISCO, 9 March 1953

Hon. John F. McCarthy
California State Senator
State Capitol
Sacramento, California

DEAR SENATOR MCCARTHY: In compliance with your verbal request at the meeting of California Marine Parks and Harbors Association on 4 March 1953, I am pleased to present the following information pertinent to the comprehensive investigation authorized for the San Francisco Bay.

Section 110 of the River and Harbor Act approved May 17, 1950 (Public Law 516, 81st Congress) provided authorization as follows:

* * * The Secretary of the Army is hereby authorized and directed to cause preliminary examinations and surveys to be made at the following-named localities, the cost thereof to be paid from appropriations heretofore or hereafter made for such purposes: San Francisco Bay, including San Pablo Bay, Suisun Bay, and other adjacent bays, and tributaries thereto, California.

The foregoing authorization resulted from Senate Resolution 119, 81st Congress, 1st Session. This resolution outlined, in general, the desired scope of this investigation to include study of the needs of the San Francisco Bay Area with respect to "additional transportation arteries, bridges, causeways, and other facilities designed to advance commerce, navigation, national defense, land reclamation, and residential and industrial development of the area including, but not limited to (a) the extent to which such facilities may be utilized to expand or be combined or coordinated with facilities for expansion of the fresh water supply of the area; (b) the extent to which such additional facilities will contribute to national defense, navigation, flood control, irrigation of agricultural lands, the repulsion of salinity, and other authorized Federal functions; (c) the estimated cost of such works."

A preliminary examination report is now under preparation in this office and will be submitted to the Chief of Engineers by early summer 1953. This report will consider the Bay Area problems in light of the scope outlined above, and from reconnaissance and existing data determine the feasibility and scope of a detailed comprehensive survey, including a model study. I can assure you that if the feasibility of such a survey can be substantiated by our findings, the Corps of Engineers is prepared to prosecute the comprehensive study as rapidly as funds are made available by Congress.

With reference to your request for copies of the Information Pamphlet on Small Boat Harbors and Shelters, Coast of California, published in 1949, I regret to have to inform you that the supply has been exhausted and no further printing is scheduled. I am inclosing, however, five (5) copies of our Project and Index Maps for 1952 which contain essentially the same type of information as the pamphlet; however, this information is more current.

I trust the foregoing information meets with your immediate needs in this matter. If I can assist you further, please do not hesitate to call upon me.

Very truly yours,

HENRY WALSH
Colonel, Corps of Engineers
District Engineer

REPORT OF SECRETARY

Hon. Harold J. Powers
President Pro Tempore

DEAR SENATOR POWERS: Up to and including yesterday, Sunday, March 15, we have used 33 calendar days which, under the constitutional limitation of 120 calendar days, leaves us 87 days, including Saturdays and Sundays. If we omit Saturdays and Sundays from now to June 10, we have 63 days remaining.

Thus far this session, we have passed and sent to the Assembly 148 Senate measures and the Assembly has passed and sent to us 501 measures.

Assuming that we will pass the same number of measures this session as we did in 1951, and taking into account the fact that we have finally disposed of 97 this session, we have 2,029 yet to act upon, which means that we will have to dispose of 32 measures per day from today to and including June 10.

Very truly yours,

STATE OF KANSAS

SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION No. 2

A CONCURRENT RESOLUTION memorializing the congress of the United States to enact legislation providing for the withdrawal of federal government from the field of gasoline taxes.

WHEREAS, The federal gasoline tax is levied upon the users of American highways; and

WHEREAS, The federal government is now distributing to the states only about two-thirds of the revenue which it is deriving from the federal gasoline tax and is diverting the remainder to its other purposes; and

WHEREAS, If the federal government would withdraw from the field of gasoline taxes and the several states would increase the taxes imposed by them on gasoline and motor vehicle fuels in an amount equal to the federal tax on gasoline, a much larger amount of revenue would be available to the several states for the purpose of developing and maintaining a modern system of highways therein; and

WHEREAS, The Eleventh General Assembly of the States which was held in Chicago, Ill., in the month of December, 1952, at which practically all of the states of the United States were represented, went on record as favoring the withdrawal of the federal government from the gasoline tax field; and

WHEREAS, The National Conference of Governors and the Midwestern Regional Conference of the Council of State Governments, of which the state of Kansas is a member, have declared by appropriate resolution that the federal government should withdraw from the gasoline tax field: Now, therefore,

COMMUNICATIONS

The following communications were received and read, and ordered printed in the Journal:

STATE OF CALIFORNIA, DEPARTMENT OF PUBLIC WORKS
SACRAMENTO, March 16, 1953

Hon. Joseph A. Beek
Secretary of the Senate
State Capitol
Sacramento, California

MY DEAR MR. BEEK: In compliance with Senate Resolution No. 78, adopted March 11, 1953, requesting that this Department submit to the Senate not later than March 17, 1953, what in its opinion should constitute a system of limited mileage of state highway routes of state-wide traffic importance, we submit herewith two maps of the State of California upon which there is delineated the system we suggest.

In the preparation of this presentation we have been mindful, first, of the requirement that the mileage included should constitute an integrated system and that it should importantly serve traffic through the entire State. We were likewise mindful of the obligation that the system presented be limited as to its over-all mileage. Having given your request our most careful consideration, it is the opinion of this department that the mileage shown on the accompanying maps provides the system which meets the requirements of your resolution.

The system is delineated upon two separate maps, one showing the distribution of the 1950 population of the State of California, and the other showing the relationship of the limited system to the entire State Highway System.

This system comprises approximately 4,900 miles, of which 3,850 miles are deficient. To correct these deficiencies will require an expenditure of approximately $2,400,000,000.

We are compiling the data necessary to provide the remaining information requested in Senate Resolution No. 78 and will furnish this information within the next few days.

Sincerely,

FRANK B. DURKEE
Director of Public Works

Communication read, and ordered printed in the Journal, and maps ordered filed with the Secretary of the Senate.

STATE OF CALIFORNIA, DEPARTMENT OF FINANCE
SACRAMENTO 14, January 30, 1953

Honorable Earl Warren
Mr. Arthur Ohnimus
Mr. Joseph A. Beek

Subject: Senate Concurrent Resolution No. 12, 1952 First Extraordinary Session

GENTLEMEN: Senate Concurrent Resolution No. 12, adopted at the 1952 First Extraordinary Session, calls upon the Director of Finance, the Director of Public Works, the State Architect, and the State Purchasing Agent to continue an investigation regarding effecting adequate information to California suppliers, which was requested by Senate Concurrent Resolution No. 94 and Senate Resolution No. 206 of the 1951 General Session.

Further, Senate Concurrent Resolution No. 12 requests the above-mentioned state officials to make a written report on or before February 1, 1953, to the Governor and the Legislature covering the matters specified in Senate Concurrent Resolution No. 94 and Senate Resolution No. 206 of the 1951 General Session.

Attempts have been made to arrange subsequent meetings with representatives of the industries concerned, in addition to the meeting covered in the report of January 25, 1952, but no meetings have been held since the adoption of Senate Concurrent Resolution No. 12. However, there is continued progress toward the goal set up under the two resolutions, namely that of giving California firms a better opportunity to compete for state business in the general fields of cabinet and metal work.

During the past year in accordance with instructions (copies of which were attached to the January 25, 1952 report) detailed in:

- a) memorandum on "Laboratory Equipment" for the Department of Education, dated December 21, 1951,
- b) memorandum on "Library Stacks and Furniture" Department of Education, dated December 26, 1951, bids have been solicited for various installations of library furniture and laboratory equipment through the use of detailed plans and specifications, in lieu of the prior practice of brand reference, which was the main subject of complaint.

On a number of these installations California firms have been successful in submitting the lowest responsible bid meeting specifications and have received awards. These are as follows:

Sacramento State College—Laboratory Equipment Vendor: Custom Built Laboratory Equipment Co., Burbank.

Humboldt State College—Main Building—Laboratory Equipment Vendor: Weber Showcase Co., Los Angeles.

Chico State College—Laboratory Equipment, Wood Vendor: Fink & Schindler, San Francisco.

OPINION OF LEGISLATIVE COUNSEL

STATE OF CALIFORNIA, OFFICE OF LEGISLATIVE COUNSEL

SACRAMENTO, March 16, 1953

Hon. Earl D. Desmond

Senate Chamber

*Effect of S.B. 1486 on the Sacramento-Yolo County Port District
No. 7222*

DEAR SENATOR DESMOND:

Question

You have asked whether Senate Bill No. 1486, Item No. 15 on the Senate Third Reading File for March 16, 1953, would affect the Sacramento-Yolo County Port District.

Opinion

The repeal of these sections would not affect the Sacramento-Yolo County Port District.

Analysis

Senate Bill No. 1486 was introduced pursuant to the Report on Unused District Laws prepared by the California Code Commission pursuant to Senate Resolution No. 220 of the 1951 Session. This report on unused district laws is printed as an appendix to the Report of the California Code Commission to the 1953 Session of the Legislature. It is there pointed out that Sections 5000-5601 of the Harbors and Navigation Code, providing for the creation of municipal port districts, have never been used. The Secretary of State reports that there are no districts organized under that statute. For this reason S.B. 1486 was introduced to repeal this statute.

The Sacramento-Yolo County Port District was formed under Sections 6800-6963 of the Harbors and Navigation Code as a "river port" district. Section 6802 of the Harbors and Navigation Code provides that no other law has any effect upon the part of the code relating to river port districts. We conclude, therefore, that the sections of the statute repealed by S. B. 1486 do not in any way affect the Sacramento-Yolo County Port District.

Very truly yours,

RALPH N. KLEPS, Legislative Counsel
By CHAS. W. JOHNSON, Chief Deputy

OPINION OF LEGISLATIVE COUNSEL

STATE OF CALIFORNIA, OFFICE OF LEGISLATIVE COUNSEL
SACRAMENTO, March 17, 1953

Hon. Earl D. Desmond
Senate Chamber

S.B. 1876, as amended in Senate March 13, 1953: Municipal Utility Districts—No. 7232

DEAR SENATOR DESMOND: You ask whether Senate Bill No. 1876, as amended in the Senate on March 13, 1953, would affect the tax liability of a municipal utility district with respect to any of its property located outside its boundaries.

It is our opinion that it would not.

The bill, as amended, would authorize a municipal utility district to make an annual payment on property belonging to it "in such amount as it may determine in lieu of ad valorem taxes collected by each city or county" in which the property is situated.

Under Section 1 of Article XIII of the State Constitution all property of a municipal utility district located outside its boundaries, other than land or any improvement thereon which was taxable at the time of its acquisition by the district, is exempt from taxation (see Rock Creek Water District v. County of Calaveras (1946), 29 Cal. 2d 7).

It seems to us that in view of this, Senate Bill 1876, as amended, insofar as it applies to the property of a municipal utility district located outside its boundaries, relates only to such of its property as is tax exempt, and has no application at all to its taxable property. If not so limited, it would be difficult to understand its purpose.

In the latter connection, it is to be noted that there are provisions of a comparable nature now on our books which are clearly designed to assist one political subdivision in which the tax-exempt property of another governmental unit is located from loss in revenue resulting from such exemption (e.g., see Pub. R. C., Sec. 4433). Section 12264 of the Insurance Code formerly also contained such a provision (Stats. 1943, Ch. 956).

Senate Bill 1876, as amended, appears to have been drafted in order to accomplish a generally similar object, and in no way affects the tax liability of a municipal utility district.

Very truly yours,

RALPH N. KLEPS
Legislative Counsel
By J. GOULD, Deputy

Chief Assistant Secretary Cleve V. Taylor at the Desk

LETTER OF TRANSMITTAL

SENATE CHAMBER, SACRAMENTO, March 18, 1953

Hon. Goodwin J. Knight, President and the Members of the Senate

GENTLEMEN: Pursuant to Senate Resolution No. 213, of the 1951 Regular Session, your interim committee transmits herewith its report on findings and recommendations pertaining to the regulation of highway carriers in the State of California.

This committee was created to look into the question of any need for remedial legislation in this field because of the many bills introduced having as their purpose the amendment of the present statutory provisions relating to highway carriers. The conduct of this study and investigation has proven to the members of this committee that there are wide areas of conflict on this subject with many divergent viewpoints from the many interested groups in the industry.

It is believed that this report will demonstrate to the Senate that there is a need for some legislative revision in the industry and we sincerely believe that the recommendations contained in this report will go far to correct those things which need correction and to clarify those areas needing clarification.

Respectfully submitted,

JAMES E. CUNNINGHAM, Chairman
HUGH M. BURNS, Vice-Chairman
HAROLD T. JOHNSON
EDWIN J. REGAN
CLYDE A. WATSON

COMMUNICATIONS

The following communication was received and read, and ordered printed in the Journal:

STATE OF CALIFORNIA, DEPARTMENT OF PUBLIC WORKS
SACRAMENTO, March 18, 1953

Hon. J. A. Beek
Secretary of the Senate
State Capitol
Sacramento, California

MY DEAR MR. BEEK: On March 16, 1953, we submitted to the Senate certain data requested in Senate Resolution No. 78. In addition to the information submitted on March 16, the resolution requested that the Department of Public Works submit to the Senate suggestions for the correction of the deficiencies on the limited State Highway System that was submitted with our March 16 letter, together with suggestions for the correction of all of the deficiencies on the State Highway System, and the time and the revenue required.

It has been heretofore pointed out to the Legislature that the deficiencies on the State Highway System are in the most part lack of traffic capacity: an insufficient number of traffic lanes to accommodate safely and in an orderly and expeditious manner the extremely heavy and increasing traffic load that the system is called upon to carry. This fact was made clear in both the deficiency report submitted to the Legislature in 1947 and in the report submitted to the Senate Interim Committee on Highways, Streets, and Bridges in January 1951.

Portions of the system are structurally inadequate to support the increasing tonnage load that is imposed upon the roadbed. This is particularly true with regard to a limited number of bridges. And specific sections are deficient because of the higher than average or ordinary accident pattern that prevails, this because of many factors; for example: inadequate sight distance, unexpected obstructions, conflicting traffic movements, and railroad grade crossings on high-speed, heavily-traveled routes. Traffic capacity, however, is the outstanding deficiency and is the condition that requires the major percentage of the necessary expenditures.

We submit herewith three tabulations, A, B, and C, showing by counties and by routes for rural and incorporated areas an estimate of the expenditures that will be required to correct these deficiencies. These estimates are based on current costs. Tabulation A includes the routes submitted on March 16 as a Mainline Highway System. Tabulation B shows the routes not included in that system, and Tabulation C contains like data for the entire system of state highways.

It is estimated at this time that there will be required an expenditure of $3,315,000,000 to correct all the deficiencies on the State Highway System, $2,421,000,000 on the Mainline System, and $894,000,000 on the other routes not a part of the Mainline System.

These tabulations are a reappraisal and a re-evaluation of the deficiency report submitted January 16, 1951, printed as a Partial Report of the Senate Interim Committee on Highways, Streets, and Bridges. That report shows for the entire system the description of the portions of the routes that were deficient and the type of improvement that was proposed. This situation has not materially changed in the intervening two-year period.

In order to suggest to the Senate the time that should be allowed for correcting the deficiencies on the State Highway System, we have taken into consideration the time that is required for the necessary engineering work preparatory to starting construction, the time required for the acquisition and disposition of real property, the time required for the necessary construction work, and the impact of the necessary right of way clearance operations and construction work upon the traffic movement and general economy of the area affected, particularly the metropolitan areas.

Giving consideration to these things, we conclude that all things being considered, the need of immediate improvement and at the same time the effect of actually making this improvement, the major part of the improvement program should be undertaken in a period of 10 years, and the necessary cleanup program should be completed in the succeeding five years. In order to demonstrate this suggestion, we submit Tabulation D.

Tabulation D, for convenience of comparison, is made up in identical form with similar tabulations shown on pages 74, 75, 76, and 77 of "Financing California's Highways" by Richard M. Zettel, recently submitted to the Joint Fact-Finding Committee on Highways of the California Legislature. The tabulations in the Zettel report, insofar as the amount of the deficiencies is concerned, are based upon the data shown on page 43 of the Automotive Safety Foundation report, "California State Highways." These data show an over-all deficiency on the State Highway System of $3,416,382,000, while the tabulations submitted herewith show a total of $3,315,000,000. The difference in over-all cost is insufficient to influence the time period that would be required to carry out the suggested program.

Tabulation D shows that by increasing the revenues now available for state highway purposes by one-third, an amount equal to approximately $100,000,000 a year, the major and most important portion of the present deficiencies can be corrected in a period of 10 years, and income from present sources at present rates will be sufficient to provide funds for correcting the remaining deficiencies in the next five-year period.

It is suggested to the Senate, therefore, that a program substantially as herein outlined be adopted.

Sincerely,

FRANK B. DURKEE, Director of Public Works

Communication read, and ordered printed in the Journal, and report filed with the Secretary of the Senate.

MR. PRESIDENT: Pursuant to Senate Resolution No. 189 adopted June 23, 1951, the Senate Interim Committee on Workmen's Compensation Benefits investigated many phases of the workmen's compensation law, including the administration and operation thereof.

For practical purposes, it was decided to prepare the report in several sections and to make separate filings of the sections.

The first part of the report was submitted to you on March 6, 1953. Therein we presented our findings in respect to some of the subjects explored by us.

Herewith we submit part two of our report. In this section, we present our recommendations and conclusions upon a variety of subjects. Included in these are the views of the committee on subjects of such wide general interest as (1) the Permanent Disability Rating Schedule and the Rating Bureau; (2) Liberal Interpretation; (3) Subsequent Injuries Fund; (4) Occupational Diseases; (5) Serious and Willful Misconduct by the Employer, and (6) Official Medical Fee Schedule.

Investigation into several highly important matters is in progress and as to these, we hope to present a report of findings and positive conclusions at an early date.

Respectfully submitted,

CLARENCE C. WARD, Chairman
HAROLD T. JOHNSON
FRED H. KRAFT

OPINION OF LEGISLATIVE COUNSEL

OFFICE OF LEGISLATIVE COUNSEL
SACRAMENTO, March 18, 1953*Hon. Luther E. Gibson*
Senate ChamberSchools—No. 7277

DEAR SENATOR GIBSON: You ask what powers the county superintendent of schools and county boards of education have to prepare or publish written materials.

In the short time allowed us, the following are the provisions we have been able to find in the Education Code authorizing or requiring the county superintendent of schools to make reports or to prepare or publish written materials:

He is required to keep a record of his official acts and of the proceedings of the county board of education, including a record of the standing of applicants for certificates who have been examined. (Ed. C., Sec. 352.)

He must report to the Superintendent of Public Instruction showing matters relating to the public schools in his county as may be required of him. (Ed. C., Sec. 357.)

He must submit to the Superintendent of Public Instruction a complete report of attendance of pupils in his county. (Ed. C., Sec. 358.)

He must submit to the Superintendent of Public Instruction a general annual report of financial and other statistics relating to the public schools of the county, and such additional reports as may be required by the Superintendent of Public Instruction. (Ed. C., Secs. 359 and 360.)

He is allowed to order the description of school district boundaries to be printed. (ED. C., Sec. 1572.)

He is allowed or required to make certain reports in connection with the cost of education of certain junior college pupils, the lapsation or suspension of component districts of union or joint union districts or of elementary districts, interest on registered warrants, and attendance at teachers' institutes. (Ed. C., Secs. 357, 2581, 2941, 6179, 7231, 13422, 14421, 14422, 14488 and 14492.)

There are a number of powers granted to the county superintendent of schools which may require the incidental preparation or publication of written materials. For instance, he may provide for the preparation and coordination of courses of study, and for conducting and coordinating research and guidance activities for elementary and high schools under his jurisdiction. (Ed. C., Secs. 10324 and 10506.)

He may also establish, conduct and maintain facilities for use in elementary and high schools under his jurisdiction of aural and visual curriculum materials. (Ed. C., Secs. 18941 and 18942.)

In the short time allowed we are unable to find any provisions which would allow a county board of education to prepare or publish written materials.

Very truly yours

RALPH N. KLEPS, Legislative Counsel
By BARBARA COCHRANE CALAIS, Deputy

MOTION TO TAKE BILL FROM INACTIVE FILE

Senator Cunningham moved that Senate Bill No. 520 be taken from the inactive file and be re-referred to Committee on Governmental Efficiency.

Motion carried.

REQUEST FOR UNANIMOUS CONSENT

Senator Breed asked for, and was granted, unanimous consent to have the following opinion of the Legislative Counsel regarding authors to a bill be printed in the Journal:

OPINION OF LEGISLATIVE COUNSEL

STATE OF CALIFORNIA, OFFICE OF LEGISLATIVE COUNSEL

SACRAMENTO, March 19, 1953

Hon. Arthur H. Breed, Jr.

Senate Chamber

Authors to a Bill—No. 7366

DEAR SENATOR BREED: You have asked whether additional authors names can be added to a bill.

An examination of the Senate Rules and the Joint Rules of the Senate and Assembly discloses nothing which would prevent such action, and it is our opinion that an amendment to accomplish this objective would be constitutionally unobjectionable.

Such an amendment would not increase the number of bills whether adopted before or after the recess. We note, however, that the customary form of bills does not show the name of the Senator introducing it as "author" but rather states "introduced by Senator X." If this phrase in the heading of the bill were amended to add an additional name, it would then read "introduced by Senators X and Y." Such action would not reflect what actually occurred since the member whose name is added would not in fact have introduced the bill. We do not think, even if this form of amendment were used, that the members whose names were added could be charged with having "introduced" a bill following the constitutional recess within the provisions of Section 2 of Article IV of our Constitution. In such a case the journals of the Legislature would clearly show that only "Senator X" is chargeable with the introduction of the bill.

Although the legal situation is no different, the true facts would be apparent if, instead of amending the heading to read "introduced by Senators X and Y" the heading were amended to read: "introduced by Senator X; Senators Y and Z as joint authors." For that reason we recommend this form of amendment to accomplish your purpose.

Yours truly,

RALPH N. KLEPS, Legislative Counsel
By A. C. MORRISON, Deputy

REQUEST FOR UNANIMOUS CONSENT

Senator Desmond asked for, and was granted, unanimous consent to have the following opinion of the Legislative Counsel addressed to Senator Regan regarding the repeal of land grant to the United States printed in the Journal:

OPINION OF LEGISLATIVE COUNSEL

STATE OF CALIFORNIA, OFFICE OF LEGISLATIVE COUNSEL
SACRAMENTO, March 18, 1953

Hon. Edwin J. Regan
Senate Chamber

Repeal of Land Grant to the United States—No. 7059

DEAR SENATOR REGAN: You ask what effect the enactment of Senate Bill 627 would have.

Senate Bill 627 would repeal Chapter 81 of the Statutes of 1897, which chapter granted to the United States all the right and title of the State of California to the land lying between the high-water mark and a point 300 yards beyond the low-water mark, adjacent and contiguous to such lands of the United States which lie on tidal waters in this State and are held, occupied, or reserved for military purposes or defense.

The act further provides that title to each parcel of land granted shall remain in the United States only so long as the United States continues to hold and own the adjacent lands now belonging to the United States.

It is our opinion that the repeal of Chapter 81 of the Statutes of 1897 would not affect the ownership of the lands therein described.

If Chapter 81 of the Statutes of 1897 is to be interpreted as making grants to the United States of tide lands adjacent to lands acquired by the United States for military purposes subsequent to its effective date, the repeal of the chapter will prevent the United States from acquiring title to such lands as to military establishments set up after the effective date of Senate Bill 627.

In our opinion the bill can have no other possible effect. The repeal of Chapter 81 of the Statutes of 1897 cannot affect the title to any lands that may have heretofore vested in the United States.

An act such as the one under consideration is in the nature of a deed and is subject to the same rules of interpretation as a grant, passing title in fee simple subject to the public purposes for navigation, commerce and fishing (City of Long Beach v. Marshall, 11 Cal. 2d 609).

The grant made by the act in question is conditioned upon continued use and ownership of the adjacent lands by the United States. We do not believe that the repeal of this act could be interpreted as intending to modify the grant in this respect, or that it would destroy any right in the state to recover title to the granted lands in the event of breach of this condition.

Very truly yours,

RALPH N. KLEPS, Legislative Counsel
By BERNARD CZESLA, Deputy

Two copies to Hon. James E. Cunningham pursuant to Joint Rule 34.

"SECTION 1. Section 511 of the Vehicle Code is amended to read:

511. Prima Facie Speed Limits. The speed of any vehicle upon a highway not in excess of the limits specified in this section or established as authorized in this code is lawful unless clearly proved to be in violation of the basic rule declared in Section 510 hereof.

The speed of any vehicle upon a highway in excess of any of the limits specified in this section or established as authorized in this code is prima facie unlawful unless the defendant establishes by competent evidence that any said speed in excess of said limits did not constitute a violation of the basic rule declared in Section 510 hereof at the time, place and under the conditions then existing.

The prima facie limits referred to above are as follows and the same shall be applicable unless changed as authorized in this code and, if so changed, then only when signs have been erected giving notice thereof, in which event the speed designated on the sign shall be the prima facie limit:

(a) [Fifteen] Twenty-five miles per hour[:]

[(1)] When passing a school building, or the grounds thereof, contiguous to the highway during school recess or while children are going to or leaving such school during opening or closing hours or while the playgrounds of any such school are in use by school children.

[(2)] When traversing a grade crossing of a steam electric or street railway, if during the last 100 feet of the approach to such crossing the driver does not have a clear and unobstructed view of such crossing and of any traffic on such railway for a distance of 400 feet in both directions along such railway.

(3) When approaching or upon a curve or any other part of a highway in the event the driver's view is obstructed within a distance of 100 feet along the highway in the direction in which such driver is proceeding.

(4) When traversing any intersection of highways if during the last 100 feet of his approach to such intersection the driver does not have a clear and unobstructed view of such intersection and of any traffic upon all of the highways entering such intersection for a distance of 100 feet along all such highways, except on a through highway or at a traffic-controlled intersection.]

(b) [Twenty-five] Thirty miles per hour[:]

[(1)] In any business or residence district.

[(2)] When upon the grounds of any public school, state university, state college, state, county, or municipal institution or building, veterans' home, or United States Veterans' Administration facility.

(3) Upon a highway bordering upon the grounds of any state hospital, veterans' home or United States Veterans' Administration facility when signs giving notice of the speed limit have been erected. The authority having jurisdiction over the highway may erect such signs whenever considered necessary for the protection of life or property.

(4) Upon that portion of any highway within or bordering upon any public park which passes through or borders upon any public playground or passes any building or other place of public assemblage when signs giving notice of the speed limit have been erected. The authority having jurisdiction over the highway may erect such signs whenever considered necessary for the protection of life or property.]

(c) [Fifty-five] Fifty-five miles per hour under all other conditions unless a different speed is [established as provided] specifically designated in this code [and signs are in place giving notice thereof.] or is established by competent authority under procedures set forth in this code.

(d) The driver of every vehicle shall, consistent with the requirements of Section 510, drive at an appropriate reduced speed when approaching and crossing an intersection or railway grade crossing, when approaching and going around a curve, when approaching a hill crest, when traveling upon any narrow or winding roadway, and when special hazard exists with respect to pedestrians or other traffic or by reason of weather or highway conditions.

SEC. 2. Section 511.1 of said code is amended to read:

511.1. Establishment of State Speed Zones. (a) Authority to Increase [25-mile] 30-mile Limit. Whenever the Department of Public Works determines upon the basis of an engineering and traffic investigation that [a speed of 35 miles per hour or 45 miles per hour would facilitate the orderly movement of vehicular traffic and would be reasonable and safe upon any state highway otherwise subject to a prima facie limit of 25 miles per hour under this code,] the prima facie speed limit of 30 miles per hour applicable upon any state highway is less than is reasonable or safe under the conditions, the department may determine and declare a prima facie speed of 35, 40 or 45 miles per hour, whichever is found most appropriate to facilitate the orderly movement of traffic and is reasonable and safe, which declared prima facie speed limit shall be effective when appropriate signs giving notice thereof are erected upon said highway.

(b) Authority to Decrease 55-mile Limit. Whenever the Department of Public Works determines upon the basis of an engineering and traffic survey that the prima facie limit of 55 miles per hour is more than is reasonable or safe upon any portion of a state highway where such prima facie limit of 55 miles is applicable under this code, the department may determine and declare a prima facie speed limit of [45 miles per hour or 35] 50, 45, 40, 35 or 30 miles per hour, whichever is found most appropriate to facilitate the orderly movement of traffic and is reasonable and safe, which declared prima facie speed limit shall be effective when appropriate signs giving notice thereof are erected upon said highway.

(c) The authority of the Department of Public Works as set forth in this section shall apply upon all state highways, whether within or outside of the limits of any incorporated city or city and county.

SEC. 3. Section 511.2 of said code is amended to read:

511.2. Authority to Link Districts. (a) By De Department of Public Works. Whenever the Department of Public Works determines upon the basis of an engineering and traffic investigation that the prima facie limit of 55 miles per hour is more than is reasonable or safe upon any portion of a state highway for a distance of not exceeding 2,000 feet in length between districts, either business or residence, the department may determine and declare a reasonable and safe prima facie limit thereon lower than [fifty-five] 55 miles per hour, but not less than [twenty-five] 30 miles per hour, which declared prima facie speed limit shall be effective when appropriate signs giving notice thereof are erected upon said highway.

(b) By Local Authorities. Whenever a local authority determines upon the basis of an engineering and traffic investigation that the prima facie limit of 55 miles per hour is more than is reasonable or safe upon any portion of a street or highway other than a state highway for a distance of not exceeding two thousand feet in length between districts, either business or residence, such local authority may determine and declare a reasonable and safe prima facie limit thereon lower than [fifty-five] 55 miles per hour, but not less than [twenty-five] 30 miles per hour, which declared prima facie speed limit shall be effective when appropriate signs giving notice thereof are erected upon said street or highway.

SEC. 4. Section 511.3 of said code is amended to read:

511.3. When Local Authorities May Alter Prima Facie Limits. (a) Authority to Increase [25-mile] 30-mile Limit. Whenever a local authority, as defined herein, determines upon the basis of an engineering and traffic investigation that [a speed of 35 miles per hour or 45 miles per hour would facilitate the orderly movement of vehicular traffic and would be safe upon any street otherwise subject to a prima facie limit of 25 miles per hour under this code,] the prima facie speed limit of 30 miles per hour applicable upon any street is less than is reasonable or safe under the conditions, such local authority may by ordinance determine and declare a prima facie speed of 35, 40 or 45 miles per hour, whichever is found most appropriate to facilitate the orderly movement of traffic and is reasonable and safe, which declared prima facie speed limit shall be effective when appropriate signs giving notice thereof are erected upon said street.

(b) Authority to Decrease 55-mile Limit. Whenever a local authority as defined herein determines upon the basis of an engineering and traffic survey that the prima facie limit of 55 miles per hour is more than is reasonable or safe upon any portion of any street or highway where such prima facie limit of 55 miles per hour is applicable under this code, such local authority may by ordinance determine and declare a prima facie speed limit of [45 miles per hour or 35] 50, 45, 40, 35 or 30 miles per hour, whichever is found most appropriate to facilitate the orderly movement of traffic and is reasonable and safe, which declared prima facie limit shall be effective when appropriate signs giving notice thereof are erected upon such street.

(c) No local authority shall exercise the powers set forth in this section in reference to any state highway or extension thereof.

SEC. 5. Sections 511.5 and 511.9 of said code are hereby repealed.

SEC. 6. Section 511.5 is added to said code, to read:

511.5. Maximum Speed Limit. In no event shall any motor vehicle be operated in excess of a maximum speed of 65 miles per hour on any highway.

SEC. 7. Section 512 of said code is amended to read:

512. Speed Limit on Highways Where Persons Are At Work. No person shall drive a vehicle [at a speed greater than 25 miles per hour] in excess of a 30 mile per hour prima facie speed limit upon any portion of a highway where officers or employees of the agency having jurisdiction of the same, or any contractor of such agency or his employees, are at work on the roadway or within the right of way so close thereto as to be endangered by passing traffic. The provisions of this section shall apply only when appropriate signs, indicating the limits of the restricted zone, and the speed limit applicable therein, are placed by such agency within 400 feet of each end of such zone. Sec. 12. The board in any year shall have the power to levy a tax, which shall be in addition to taxes for the payment of and interest on any bonded indebtedness, upon the taxable property in said district. Said tax shall be levied and collected at the same time and in the same manner, together with and not separately from taxes for county purposes, and not to exceed, however, the sum of [two cents ($.02)] four cents ($.04) on each one hundred dollars ($100) of the assessed valuation of all property within the district, measured by the county assessment roll last equalized prior to the levying of said tax, to pay the costs and expenses of surveys, compensation for clerical, engineering, legal, printing and advertising of all resolutions, notices, and other matter required to be printed, posted or published, all costs and expenses of legal actions or proceedings, and also the rental or purchase of real or personal property used in connection with such work and surveys, or any other of its purposes and to repay the county any and all moneys loaned to the district for the purposes herein stated and prior to the receipt of taxes.

SEC. 2. Section 13.1 is added to said act, to read :

Sec. 13.1. The board may establish zones within the district to undertake any project or works of improvement. As used in Sections 13.1 to 13.9, inclusive, of this act, "works of improvement" includes, without limitation as to the generality thereof, maintenance, repair, or reconstruction of existing works.

Proceedings for the establishment of a zone may be instituted by the board, by resolution, on its own initiative and shall be instituted by the board upon receipt of a petition requesting the formation of a zone and signed by not less than 25 percent of the owners of real property in the territory proposed to be included within the zone as shown by the last equalized assessment roll of the county. The petition may consist of any number of separate instruments, each of which must comply with all of the requirements of a petition except as to number of signatures.

The procedure for undertaking projects or works of improvement through the creation of zones is an alternate method for undertaking district projects and shall not affect or limit any other provisions of law authorizing or providing for undertaking such projects or works of improvement by the district as a whole.

SEC. 3. Section 13.2 is added to said act, to read :

SEC. 5. Section 13.4 is added to said act, to read :

Sec. 13.4. Prior to the hearing on the proposal to establish any zone, the board shall direct the chief engineer of the district to make and file a report with the board which shall show :

(b) A general description of any lands, rights of way, easements, and property to be taken, acquired, or injured in carrying out such work.

(c) An estimate of the cost of the project or works, including an estimate of the cost of any lands, rights of way, easements, and property proposed to be taken, acquired, or injured in carrying out said work, and also of all incidental expenses and of all operating, maintenance, and other costs which may be incurred in connection therewith.

The report shall be considered by the board which may either accept the report as filed or refer it back to the chief engineer of the district for consideration of such modification or change as the board deems necessary in the best interests of the district.

SEC. 5.5. Section 13.5 is added to said act, to read:

Sec. 13.5. Within thirty days, after receiving an engineer's report on the proposal to establish a zone, which report is satisfactory to the board, the board shall adopt a resolution of intention to establish a zone, which resolution shall contain the following:

(b) A statement as to the name proposed for the zone in substantially the following form: "Sonoma County Flood Control and Water Conservation District, Zone No. _____"

(c) A description of the project or works of improvement for which the zone is to be created and an estimate of the rate of assessment which must be levied to secure funds for the project or works of improvement and for the maintenance thereof, which will be levied annually upon all taxable real property within the zone.

Sec. 13.6. The district clerk of the board of supervisors shall publish a notice of hearing at least once seven days prior to the date of the hearing in a newspaper of general circulation published in the county. Notice of the hearing shall also be posted in not less than three public places in the zone at least two weeks before the date of the hearing. The notice shall contain:

(a) The text of the resolution.

(b) A statement of the time and place of the hearing.

(c) A statement as to the place where the engineer's report may be examined.

(d) A statement that at the hearing all written protests against establishment of the zone will be considered and testimony of all interested persons for or against the establishment of the zone will be heard.

SEC. 7. Section 13.7 is added to said act, to read:

Sec. 13.7. At the hearing the board shall hear testimony of all interested persons for or against the establishment of the zone, the inclusion therein of any lands that would not be benefited or the failure to include any lands which would be benefited, and the undertaking of the project of works of improvement. The board shall also receive any written protests by any interested person concerning the establishment of the zone which are filed with the clerk of the board on or before the time fixed for the hearing. Written protests may be withdrawn at any time before the hearing. The hearing may be continued from time to time for a period not to exceed sixty days. At the conclusion of the hearing the board shall consider all testimony and protests presented to it concerning the establishment of the zone, and may, if it determines it to be in the best interests of the district, establish the zone. If the board determines to establish the zone, it shall, by resolution, so declare and fix the boundaries and designate the projects or works of improvement to be performed therein. No land which will not be benefited shall be included in any zone. No zone initiated by petition shall be created, (a) for any project or works of improvement not included in the petition or amendment thereof or (b) which includes lands not within the boundaries proposed in the petition or any amendment thereof.

SEC. 8. Section 13.8 is added to said act, to read:

Sec. 13.8. If at any time before the establishment of a zone there is a written protest filed with the clerk by the owners of real property in excess of 50 percent of the assessed valuation of such property within the zone as shown by the last equalized assessment roll of the county, the proceedings shall be forthwith abandoned and the board shall not, for a period of one year from the filing of the written protest, initiate any proceedings to establish a zone for the same project or works of improvement as that proposed.

SEC. 9. Section 13.9 is added to said act, to read:

Sec. 13.9. Each year at the time the board of supervisors fixes and levies taxes for county purposes, they shall also fix the rates of zone assessments and shall levy the assessment upon the zone. The rate shall be such as will produce, after allowance of not to exceed 15 percent for delinquencies, the amount required to meet the expenditures incident to the project or works of improvement for which the zone is established and the cost of the maintenance thereof or both, during the current fiscal year. The assessment in any one fiscal year shall not exceed an aggregate of twenty-five cents

($0.25) on each one hundred dollars ($100) of assessed valuation for any and all zone projects or works of improvement unless the excess is authorized at an election as provided in this section.

The assessments levied pursuant to this section shall be in addition to any other taxes or assessments provided by this act and shall be levied and collected at the same time and in the same manner as other district taxes and assessments. All funds collected by reason of the assessment shall be expended only on behalf of the zone and only for the purpose for which the zone was formed as set forth in the notice of hearing on the proposal to establish the zone.

Whenever the board determines it in the best interest of a zone to undertake a project or works of improvement which will require a rate of zone assessment in excess of twenty-five cents ($0.25) on each one hundred dollars ($100) of assessed valuation it may submit the proposition to the electors within the zone. The board shall, by resolution, call an election for the purpose of proposing the question as to whether or not the assessments in excess of twenty-five cents ($0.25) for each one hundred dollars ($100) of excess valuation shall be proposed within the zone, prescribing the notice, time, place, and manner of conducting the election in conformity, as nearly as practicable, with the provisions of the Elections Code governing general elections. An election is invalid unless held within the zone and notice of the time, place, and purpose of the election has been given by publication once a week for at least two weeks in a newspaper of general circulation published within the district and posted in not less than three public places in the zone.

SEC. 10. Section 16 of said act is amended to read :

SEC. 16. After the adoption of said report and estimate of the amount of money required to be raised the board shall call a special election and submit to the qualified voters of said district the proposition :

Shall the district incur a bonded indebtedness for the purpose of providing for the conservation, control and disposition of flood and storm waters of said district and to protect from damage from such storm and flood waters, the waterways, property, public highways, and public places in said district, generating electric energy, and for any other purpose set forth in Section 3 hereof?

The resolution calling the special election shall state the estimated cost of the proposed work and improvements, the amount of the principal of the indebtedness to be incurred therefor and shall fix the maximum rate of interest to be paid on said indebtedness which shall not exceed 5 percent per annum, and shall fix the date on which the special election shall be held and the manner of voting for and against the incurring of such indebtedness.

For the purpose of such election, the board shall, in its resolution, establish election precincts within the boundaries of said district, and may form election precincts by consolidating the precincts established for general election purposes in said district to a number not exceeding six for each such bond election precinct, and shall designate a polling place and appoint two inspectors, two judges and two clerks for each of such precincts.

In all particulars not recited in such resolution, such election shall be held as nearly as practicable in conformity with the general election laws of the State.

At such election all persons whose names appear on the last great register of County of Sonoma as residing within the district shall be entitled to vote, except as herein-after otherwise provided.

Such resolution calling such election shall be published once a day for at least seven days, in some newspaper published at least six days a week in said district, or once a week for two weeks in some newspaper published less than six days a week in such district, and one insertion each week for two succeeding weeks shall be a sufficient publication in such newspaper published less than six days a week. No further notice of such election need be given.

Any defect or irregularity in the proceedings prior to the election shall not affect the validity of the bonds.

If at such election, two-thirds or more of the votes are cast in favor of the incurring of such bonded indebtedness, then the bonds of said district, for the amounts stated in such proceedings, shall be issued and sold as provided in this act.

Notwithstanding any other provision of this act, a majority vote shall be sufficient to authorize the issuance of revenue bonds, and a two-thirds vote shall be required only for the issuance of general obligation bonds.

SEC. 11. Section 19 of said act is amended to read :

SEC. 19. Subject to the provisions of this act, the board shall prescribe by resolution the form of the bonds and of the interest coupons attached thereto and shall fix the rate of interest said bonds shall bear, not to exceed 5 percent per annum. The bonds shall mature serially in amounts to be fixed by the board, payment of the bonds commencing not later than five years from the date thereof and being completed in not more than 40 years from said date. The board shall fix the place, or places (which may be within or without the State of California and which shall be designated in said bonds) where said bonds together with the interest thereon shall be payable.

Callable bonds may be redeemed in such amounts and manner and at such prices as the board may prescribe by resolution.

SEC. 12. Section 22 of said act is amended to read:

SEC. 22. [The board shall issue and sell the whole or any part of the bonds to the highest bidder or bidders for cash at the best price obtainable therefor, but in no event for less than the par value of such bonds and the accrued interest thereon. Before making a sale of any of the bonds, notices of the sale shall be given by publication in at least one newspaper of general circulation, published in the district by two insertions therein; and no sale shall be had prior to the expiration of fifteen days from the first publication of the notice. The board shall have the right to reject any and all bids when, in its discretion it appears to be the best interest of the district to do so, and may thereafter readvertise as provided in this section for original sale.] The district may sell the bonds so issued at the times or in the manner the board deems to be to the public interest; provided, that all bonds shall be sold on sealed proposals to the highest bidder after advertising for bids by publication of notice of sale once, not less than ten days prior to the date of sale, in a newspaper of general circulation circulating in the district. If satisfactory bids are received, the bonds offered for sale shall be awarded to the highest responsible bidder. If no bids are received or if the board determines that the bids received are not satisfactory as to price or responsibility of the bidders, the board may reject all bids received, if any, and either readvertise or sell the bonds at private sale.

The bonds may be registered with the treasurer in accordance with the provisions of any law applicable to the registration of municipal bonds, and thereafter the principal and interest thereon shall be paid to the proper registered owner thereof.

SEC. 13. Section 26 of said act is amended to read:

SEC. 26. All proceeds received from the sale of the bonds hereunder shall be deposited with the County Treasurer of the County of Sonoma, and be paid out by him only upon authority of the board and by proper warrant. All proceeds from the sale of bonds and interest on such proceeds in excess of the actual cost of all work and improvement and proceedings thereunder may be used for any lawful purposes for which said district was created as in this act provided.

Notwithstanding any other provisions of this act the board may, in a resolution relating to the issuance of revenue bonds, designate a trustee, fiscal agent or depository to receive the proceeds of sale of said revenue bonds or all or a part of any revenues received or to be received by the district from any enterprise of the district or from any services or facilities furnished or to be furnished the district, all as set forth in such resolution. Any such trustee, fiscal agent, or depository shall be a bank or trust company qualified to do business in the State.

SEC. 14. Section 28 of said act is amended to read:

SEC. 28. The board shall, at the time for fixing the general tax levy for county purposes and in the manner of such general tax levy provided, levy and collect annually each year until said bonds are paid or until there shall be a sum in the treasury of such district set apart for that purpose to meet all sums coming due for principal and interest on said bonds, a tax sufficient to pay the annual interest on said bonds and also such part of the principal thereof as shall become due before the time for fixing the next general tax levy. There may be included in such tax a sum sufficient, in the judgment of the board to take care of anticipated delinquencies, except that if the maturity of the indebtedness created by the issuance of bonds be made to begin more than one year after the date of the issuance thereof, tax shall be levied and collected annually at the time and in the aforesaid manner, in an amount sufficient to pay the interest on said indebtedness as it falls due and also to constitute a sinking fund for the redemption thereof on or before maturity. The tax herein required to be levied and collected shall be in addition to all other taxes levied for district purposes and shall be collected at the time and in the same manner as other district taxes are collected, and be used for no other purpose than the payment of said bonds and accruing interest.

Such tax shall be levied only upon all taxable real property, including both land and improvements thereon, within the district excluding any property belonging to any county, municipality, or political subdivision within the district, or property belonging to the State of California or the United States.

The provisions of law of this State prescribing the time and manner of levying, assessing, equalizing and collecting county property taxes including the sale of property for delinquency, and for redemption from such sale, and the duties of the several county officers with respect thereto, so far as they are applicable, and not in conflict with the specific provisions of this act, are hereby adopted and made a part hereof. Such officers shall be liable upon their several official bonds for the faithful discharge of the duties imposed upon them by this act.

The board shall take the assessment on the equalized roll of the County of Sonoma as the basis for district taxes and have its taxes collected by the county officials of said county. The auditor of such county must, on or before the second Monday of August of each year, transmit to the board a statement in writing showing the total value of all real property within the district, which value shall be ascertained from the equalized roll of such county for that year.

The board shall, on or before the first week day in September, or if such week day falls upon a holiday, then upon the first business day thereafter, fix the rate of tax, and designate the number of cents upon each one hundred dollars ($100) on the equalized roll, which rate of taxation shall be sufficient to raise the amount previously fixed by the board as hereinabove prescribed. Such acts by the board shall constitute a valid assessment of the property and a valid levy of the tax so fixed. The board must immediately thereafter transmit to the county auditor a statement of the rate of taxes so fixed by said board and the county auditor shall enter such rate upon the county tax roll. Such taxes so levied shall be collected at the same time and in the same manner as county taxes and when collected, the net amount ascertained as hereinafter provided shall be paid to the treasurer of the district under the general requirements and penalties provided by law for the settlement of other taxes.

All taxes levied under the provisions of this act shall be a lien upon the property on which they are levied and unless the board has by resolution otherwise provided the enforcement of the collection of such taxes shall be had in the same manner and by the same means as provided by law for the enforcement of the liens for state and county taxes, all provisions of law relating to the enforcement of the latter being hereby made a part of this act.

The amount of compensation to be charged by and paid to the county for the performance of service, as in this section provided, for and on behalf of such district, shall be fixed by agreement between the board of supervisors of the County of Sonoma, and the board, except that such compensation shall not exceed one-half percent of all moneys collected for such district as in this act provided. The amount so collected by such county shall be placed to the credit of the county salary fund.

SEC. 15. Section 30.17 is added to said act, to read:

Sec. 30.17. Notwithstanding any other provision of this act, the district may authorize, issue and sell revenue bonds pursuant to the provisions of Chapter 6, Part 1, Division 2, Title 5 of the Government Code to provide funds for the acquisition, construction, improving, or financing any one or more revenue producing enterprises for any one or more of the purposes for which the district has been formed. "Enterprise" as used in the section means a revenue producing system, plant, works, or undertaking used for or useful in carrying out any one or more of the purposes of the district. In connection with the authorization, issue and sale of revenue bonds pursuant to this section and so long as any of these bonds remain outstanding, the district may exercise, in addition to the powers covered by this section, any or all of the powers of local agencies provided for in said Chapter 6, Part 1, Division 2, Title 5 of this act."

The citrus industry of California has suffered great damage from the ravages of armored scale insects, especially "Yellow Scale." A program for controlling and eradicating this pest has been developed but it requires spot chemical treatment of the infected area immediately upon discovery of the infested trees, followed by two eradication treatments over the entire cultivated unit or over an area 240 feet out in all directions from the infested trees. The first eradication treatment must be commenced in April or May, after the blooming of the citrus trees, and the second eradication treatment must be given not less than 30 days, but not more than 45 days, after the first eradication treatment; in any event, however, both eradication treatments must be completed by September of the same year. These treatments are necessary not only to save the crops of the infested citrus trees, but also to prevent the spread of "Yellow Scale" to uninfested areas. These treatments require an immediate expenditure of funds by pest abatement districts, but it is presently possible to raise this money only by taxation, which funds will not become available before January, 1954. Therefore, in order for infested areas to be treated this year, this act, which gives pest abatement districts the power to borrow money, and which is necessary for the preservation of the peace, health, and safety of the citizens of this State, must take effect immediately."

No such order shall operate as a final determination of the proceeding, and the commission may at any time thereafter make such further orders as it deems advisable with respect to the matters considered and determined in the order or to other matters involved in the proceeding.

5426. After the making of an interim, interlocutory, or other order, any party to the proceeding or any stockholder or bondholder or other party peculiarly interested in the agricultural carrier affected may file a petition for rehearing, within the time and for the reasons provided in Sections 1731 to 1736, inclusive, and the commission may act upon the petition within the time and in the manner provided therein.

5427. Any interim, interlocutory, or other order may be reviewed as provided in Sections 1756 to 1759, inclusive. Upon such review, only that portion of the record in the proceeding considered by the commission and upon which it acted in making the order sought to be reviewed, need be certified to and considered by the Supreme Court.

5428. No person shall be excused from attending and testifying or from producing any book, document, paper, or account in any investigation or inquiry by or hearing before the commission or any commissioner or examiner, or in obedience to the subpoena of the commission, or in any cause or proceeding, criminal or otherwise, based upon or growing out of any alleged violation of any of the provisions of this chapter, when ordered to do so, upon the ground that the testimony or evidence, book, document, paper or account required of him may tend to incriminate him or subject him to penalty or forfeiture, but no person shall be prosecuted, punished, or subjected to any penalty or forfeiture for or on account of any act, transaction, matter, or thing concerning which, under oath, he has testified or produced documentary evidence before the commission, or in obedience to its subpoena, or in any such cause or proceeding. No person so testifying shall be exempt from prosecution or punishment for any perjury committed by him in his testimony.

Article 7. Suspension and Revocation of Permits

5431. The commission may, at the request of any agricultural carrier, suspend the operating permit of the carrier for a definite time during which it is unlawful for the carrier to conduct any operations as an agricultural carrier.

5432. A permit shall remain in effect until suspended or terminated as provided in this chapter. No permit shall be sold, leased, assigned or otherwise transferred or encumbered by the holder thereof without first having secured from the commission an order authorizing the same. Any such sale, lease, assignment, transfer or encumbrance made otherwise than in accordance with the order of the commission authorizing the same shall be void.

5433. The commission may cancel, revoke, or suspend the operating permit or permits of any agricultural carrier upon any of the following grounds:

(1) Any illegally conducted agricultural carrier operations.

(2) The violations of any of the provisions of this chapter or of any operating permit issued thereunder.

(3) The violation of any order, decision, rule, regulation, direction, demand, or requirement, established by the commission pursuant to this chapter.

(4) The conviction of the agricultural carrier of any misdemeanor under this chapter.

(5) The rendition of a judgment against the agricultural carrier for any penalty imposed under this chapter.

(6) The failure of an agricultural carrier to pay any fee imposed upon the carrier within the time required by law.

5434. After the cancellation or revocation of a permit or during the period of its suspension, it is unlawful for an agricultural carrier to conduct any operations as such a carrier. The commission may either grant or deny an application for a new permit whenever it appears that a prior permit of the applicant has been canceled or revoked pursuant to Section 5433, or whenever it appears, after hearing, that as a prior permit holder, the applicant engaged in any of the unlawful activities set forth in Section 5433 for which his permit might have been canceled or revoked.

Article 8. Fines and Penalties

5441. Every agricultural carrier and every officer, director, agent, or employee of any agricultural carrier who violates or who fails to comply with, or who procures, aids, or abets any violation by any agricultural carrier of any provision of this chapter or who fails to obey, observe, or comply with any order, decision, rule, regulation, direction, demand, or requirement of the commission, or of any operating permit issued to any agricultural carrier, or who procures, aids, or abets any agricultural carrier in its failure to obey, observe, or comply with any such order, decision, rule, regulation, direction, demand, requirement, or operating permit, is guilty of a misdemeanor, and is punishable by fine of not more than five hundred dollars ($500) or by imprisonment in the county jail for not more than three months, or both.

5442. Every corporation or person other than an agricultural carrier, who knowingly and wilfully, either individually, or acting as an officer, agent, or employee of a corporation, copartnership, or any other person other than an agricultural carrier, violates any provision of this chapter or fails to observe, obey, or comply with any order, decision, rule, regulation, direction, demand, or requirement of the commission, or who procures, aids, or abets any agricultural carrier in its violation of this chapter, or in its failure to obey, observe, or comply with any such order, decision, rule, regulation, direction, demand, or requirement, is guilty of a misdemeanor, and is punishable by a fine of not more than five hundred dollars ($500) or by imprisonment in the county jail for not more than three months, or both.

5443. Every agricultural carrier and every officer, director, agent, or employee of any agricultural carrier who violates or who fails to comply with, or who procures, aids, or abets, any violation by any agricultural carrier of any provision of this chapter, or who fails to obey, observe, or comply with any order, decision, rule, regulation, direction, demand, or requirement of the commission, or of any operating permit issued to any agricultural carrier, or who procures, aids, or abets any agricultural carrier in its failure to obey, observe, or comply with any such order, decision, rule, regulation, direction, demand, requirement, or operating permit, is subject to a penalty of not more than five hundred dollars ($500) for each offense.

5444. Every corporation or person other than an agricultural carrier who knowingly and wilfully, either individually, or acting as an officer, agent, or employee of a corporation, copartnership, or any other person other than an agricultural carrier, violates any provision of this chapter or fails to observe, obey, or comply with any order, decision, rule, regulation, direction, demand, or requirement of the commission, or who procures, aids, or abets any agricultural carrier in its violation of this chapter, or in its failure to obey, observe, or comply with any such order, decision, rule, regulation, direction, demand, or requirement, is subject to a penalty of not more than five hundred dollars ($500) for each offense.

5445. Every violation of the provisions of this chapter or of any order, decision, decree, rule, direction, demand, or requirement of the commission by any corporation or person is a separate and distinct offense, and in case of a continuing violation each day's continuance thereof is a separate and distinct offense.

5446. All penalties accruing under this chapter are cumulative, and a suit for the recovery of one penalty does not bar or effect the recovery of any other penalty or forfeiture or bar any criminal prosecution against any person or corporation, or any officer, director, agent or employee thereof, or any other corporation or person, or bar the exercise by the commission of its power to punish for contempt.

5447. Actions to recover penalties under this chapter shall be brought in the name of the people of the State of California, in the superior court of the county, or city and county, in which the cause or some part thereof arose, or in which the corporation complained of, if any, has its principal place of business, or in which the person, if any, complained of, resides. The action shall be commenced and prosecuted to final judgment by the attorney of the commission.

5448. In any such action, all penalties incurred up to the time of the commencement of the action may be sued for and recovered. In all such actions, the procedure and rules of evidence shall be the same as in ordinary civil actions.

5449. All penalties recovered by the State in any action pursuant to this chapter, together with the costs thereof, shall be paid into the State Treasury to the credit of the General Fund. Any such action may be compromised or discontinued on application of the commission upon such terms as the court approves and orders."

LETTER OF TRANSMITTAL

SENATE COMMITTEE ON STATE AND LOCAL TAXATION

SAN FRANCISCO 2, March 23, 1953

*Hon. Ben Hulse, Chairman and Members of the Senate Interim Committee on State and Local Taxation
State Capitol, Sacramento, California*

HONORABLE GENTLEMEN: In accordance with the instructions of the committee pursuant to Assembly Concurrent Resolution No. 109, read and adopted June 23, 1951 by the California Legislature at the 1951 Regular Session, the research staff herewith submits Part Six of the committee report entitled "Property Assessments and Equalization in California."

By way of introduction and background the report first deals with the legal pattern of equalization within the State; presents a history of equalization through Chapter 1466, Statutes of 1949, and subsequent developments; and presents a comparison of assessment equalization in California with equalization procedures in other states.

The report then undertakes to examine the problems of utility valuation in general and state assessment of utility property in California in particular. Following this analysis, the intercounty equalization of locally assessed property is discussed. The report concludes with some observations relating to the problems of intercounty and intracounty assessment equalization which must be solved before real assessment equalization can be achieved in California.

The research staff wishes to acknowledge the generous assistance extended by the Valuation Division and the Division of Assessment Standards of the State Board of Equalization. A large debt is owed to the many real estate brokers and appraisers who as public-spirited citizens contributed their services to assist the committee in the appraisal aspects of the study. We further wish to express appreciation for the cooperation extended by the county assessors of the State. Special thanks are due the California Real Estate Association and the representatives of the major utility companies studied in this report. The assistance of the Legislative Counsel is also gratefully acknowledged.

Every effort has been made to document the report carefully and to acknowledge all sources of information. Any errors or omissions of acknowledgment are unintentional. The staff accepts full responsibility for them and stands ready to correct them.

The staff also wishes to thank the members of the committee for their assistance and counsel, and for their critical review of the content of the report.

Respectfully submitted,

WILLIAM K. SCHMELZLE
Executive Secretary

REQUEST FOR UNANIMOUS CONSENT

Senator Cunningham asked for and was granted, unanimous consent to have the following letter from the Legislative Counsel Bureau addressed to Senator Regan regarding rule making power of State Lands Commission printed in the Journal immediately preceding final passage of Senate Bill No. 626.

OPINION OF LEGISLATIVE COUNSEL

SACRAMENTO, CALIFORNIA, March 18, 1953

Hon. Edwin J. Regan
Senate Chamber

Rule Making Power of State Lands Commission—No. 7058

DEAR SENATOR REGAN: You ask what the scope of the rule making power of the State Lands Commission would be under Senate Bill 626.

In our opinion the provisions of Senate Bill 626 would not extend the rule making powers of the State Lands Commission, but would expressly provide that such rules as are adopted under existing powers vested in the commission are applicable to public agencies and political subdivisions, as well as private citizens, who occupy or use state-owned lands under jurisdiction of the commission.

The commission is vested with exclusive jurisdiction over all ungranted tidelands and submerged lands owned by the State, and of the beds of navigable rivers, streams, etc. (Sec. 6301).* The commission may make and enforce reasonable and proper rules and regulations consistent with law for the purpose of carrying out the provisions relating to public lands (Secs. 6001-8508).

Pursuant to such statutory authority the commission has adopted rules governing procedures applicable to the leasing or other use of lands, oil and gas operations, leases and prospecting permits for minerals other than oil and gas, and the sale of school and swamp and overflowed lands.†

Senate Bill 626 would not affect the rule making power of the commission. It would, however, expressly provide that such rules of the commission are applicable to public agencies and instrumentalities who use lands within the jurisdiction of the commission to the same extent as other users of such lands.

Very truly yours,

RALPH N. KLEPS, Legislative Counsel
By BERNARD CZESLA, Deputy

Two copies to Hon. James E. Cunningham, pursuant to Joint Rule 34.

12. To make contracts, and to employ labor, and to do all acts necessary for the full exercise of all powers vested in said district or any of the officers thereof, by this act.

SEC. 6. The district shall have and may exercise the right of eminent domain, either within or without said district, and in the manner provided by law for the condemnation of private property for public use, to take any property necessary to carry out any of the objects or purposes of this act, whether such property be already devoted to any public use by any district or other public corporation, or agency, or otherwise; provided, however, that the district in exercising such power shall in addition to the damage for the taking, injury, or destruction of property, also pay the cost of removal or relocation of any structure, railways, mains, pipes, conduits, wires, cable, poles, of any public utility which is required to be moved to a new location; and provided further, that notwithstanding any other provision of this act or any other law, no property shall be taken unless it is taken upon a finding by a court of competent jurisdiction that the taking is for a more necessary public use than that to which it has already been appropriated. The district shall also have and may exercise the right to condemn any existing works or improvements in said district or along streams flowing into said district now or hereafter used to control flood, storm and drainage waters, or to protect any property in said district or along streams flowing into said district from damage from such flood, storm and drainage waters, and it is hereby declared that the use of the property, lands, rights of way, easements, or materials which may be condemned, taken or appropriated under the provisions of this act is a public use subject to the regulation and control of the State in the manner prescribed by law; provided, however, that nothing in this act contained shall be deemed to authorize said district, or any person or persons to divert the waters of any river, creek, stream, irrigation system, canal or ditch, from its channel, to the detriment of any person, or persons having any interest in such river, creek, stream, irrigation system, canal or ditch, or the waters thereof or therein, unless compensation therefor be first provided in the manner provided by law.

The power of eminent domain vested in the district shall include the power to condemn in the name of the district either the fee simple or any lesser estate, easement, or interest in any real property which the board of supervisors of the district by resolution shall determine is necessary for carrying out the purposes of this act. Such resolution shall be prima facie evidence that the taking of such fee simple or any lesser estate or easement, or interest as the case may be, is necessary.

Whenever real property which is devoted to or held for some other public or quasi-public use is required by the district for flood, storm and drainage water control purposes, the district may condemn real property adjacent thereto or in the immediate vicinity thereof to be exchanged for the real property required by the district as afore-said for flood control purposes.

SEC. 7. The Board of Supervisors of Yuba County shall be and is hereby designated as, and empowered to act as ex officio the Board of Supervisors of the Yuba County Flood Control and Drainage District. As used elsewhere in this act the terms "board" and "board of supervisors" means the Board of Supervisors of the Yuba County Flood Control and Drainage District.

All ordinances, resolutions and other legislative acts for said district shall be adopted by said board of supervisors, and certified to, recorded and published, in the same manner, except as herein otherwise expressly provided, as are ordinances, resolutions or other legislative acts for the County of Yuba.

SEC. 8. The district attorney, county surveyor, county assessor, county tax collector, county auditor and county treasurer of the County of Yuba, and their successors in office, and all their assistants, deputies, clerks and employees, and all other officers of said Yuba County, their assistants, deputies, clerks and employees, shall be ex officio officers, assistants, deputies, clerks and employees respectively of said Yuba County Flood Control and Drainage District, and shall respectively perform, unless otherwise provided by the board, the same various duties for said district as for said Yuba County, in order to carry out the provisions of this act; provided, however, that where the county surveyor is a registered civil engineer and is employed by the board of supervisors to supervise the engineering work of said district, the board may provide for compensation for his services hereunder payable from the funds of the district, in addition to his salary as county surveyor of Yuba County.

SEC. 9. The board shall have power to make and enforce all needful rules and regulations for the administration and government of the district, and to appoint and employ all needful agents, superintendents, engineers, attorneys, and employees to properly look after the performance of any work provided for in this act and to operate and maintain said works, and to perform all other acts necessary or proper to accomplish the purposes of this act.

In addition to the officers and employees herein otherwise prescribed, the board may in its discretion appoint a chairman, a secretary and such other officers, agents and employees for the board or district as in its judgment may be deemed necessary, prescribe their duties and fix their compensation, which said officers, agents and employees so appointed shall hold their respective offices or positions during the pleasure of the board.

SEC. 10. The board shall have jurisdiction and power by resolution to employ competent registered civil engineers to investigate and carefully devise a plan or plans to control the flood, storm and drainage waters of the district, and the zones thereof, and the flood, storm and drainage waters of streams that have their sources outside of said district but which streams and the flood waters thereof flow into said district, and to protect the public highways, life and property within the district, and the watercourses and watersheds of streams flowing into the district, from damage relating to such waters; and to obtain such other information in regard thereto as may be deemed necessary or useful for carrying out the purposes of this act; and such resolution may direct such engineer or engineers to make and file reports from time to time with the board, which shall show:

1. A general description of the work proposed to be done, together with general plans, profiles, cross sections, and general specifications relating thereto, on each project or work of improvement.

2. A general description of the lands, rights of way, easements and property proposed to be taken, acquired or injured in carrying out said work.

3. A map or maps which shall show the location and zones, as may be required, of each of said projects or improvements, and lands, rights of way, easements and property to be taken, acquired or injured in carrying out said work, and any other information in regard to the same that may be deemed necessary or useful.

4. An estimate of the cost of each project or work of improvement, including an estimate of the cost of lands, rights of way, easements and property proposed to be taken, acquired or injured in carrying out said project or work of improvement, and also of all incidental expenses likely to be incurred in connection therewith, including legal, clerical, engineering, superintendence, inspection, printing and advertising, and stating the total amount of bonds, if any, necessary to be issued to pay for the same.

Such engineer or engineers shall from time to time and as directed by the board file with the board supplementary, amendatory and additional reports and recommendations, as necessity and convenience may require.

Such engineer or engineers, employed by the board, shall have power and authority, subject to the control and direction of said board, to employ such engineers, surveyors, and others, as may be required for making all surveys or doing any other work necessary for the making of such report.

The board may at any time remove any or all of the engineers or employees appointed or employed under this act, and may fill any vacancies occurring among them from any cause.

SEC. 11. A petition requesting the formation of a zone and the institution of a project or work of improvement permitted by this act shall:

- (a) Request the board to institute proceedings to establish a zone pursuant to this act;

(b) Describe the boundaries of the territory which is proposed for inclusion within the zone;

(c) State the project or work of improvement to be provided within the zone;

(d) Be signed by not less than either:

(1) The owners of a majority in assessed value of property within the proposed zone as shown on the last assessment roll of Yuba County; or

(2) A majority of the registered voters residing within the proposed zone.

SEC. 12. Before a petition is circulated, the proposed boundaries of the zone shall be submitted to the County Boundary Commission for recommendation and report in the manner provided for in Chapter 3, Title 6 of the Government Code.

SEC. 13. Prior to the hearing on the proposal by petition to establish a zone, the board shall, by resolution, direct the officer or employee of the district charged with the duty of supervising the engineering affairs of the district to make and to file a report with the board which shall show:

1. A general description of the project or work of improvement to be done; and

2. A general description of the lands, rights of way, easements, and property to be taken, acquired, or injured in carrying out such work; and

3. An estimate of the cost of such work including an estimate of the cost of lands, rights of way, easements, and property proposed to be taken, acquired, or injured in carrying out said work, and also of all incidental expenses and of all operating, maintenance and other costs likely to be incurred in connection therewith.

The report shall be considered by the board, which may, by resolution, either adopt the report as filed or refer it back to the officer or employee charged with the duty of supervising engineering affairs of the district for modification or change. When a report satisfactory to the board has been filed with the board, the board by resolution shall adopt the report and shall estimate the amounts of all capital expenditures and of all operating, maintenance and other acts necessary in connection with the institution of the proposed project or work of improvement with the said zone.

SEC. 14. Within 30 days after the receipt of the engineer's report on the proposal by petition for the establishment of a zone, which report has been approved by the board, the board shall adopt a resolution of intention to establish a zone in the form and in the manner specified in Section 16 of this act.

SEC. 15. The board shall determine as to each project or work of improvement, either proposed by petition or instituted by the board itself, that it is either:

1. Either in whole or in part for the district as a whole, and if in part only, what part; or

2. Either in whole or in part for the common benefit of two or more zones, hereinafter referred to as participating zones, and if in part only, what part; or

3. Either in whole or in part for the benefit of a single zone, and if in part only, what part.

SEC. 16. The board may institute projects for single zones and joint projects for two or more zones, for the financing, constructing, maintaining, operating, extending, repairing or otherwise improving any work or improvement of common benefit to such zone or participating zones. For the purpose of acquiring authority to proceed with the establishment of a zone, or any such project, either by the board on its own initiative or as requested by petition, the board shall adopt a resolution specifying its intention to undertake such project, together with the engineering estimates of the cost of same to be borne by the particular zones or participating zones and fixing a time and place for public hearing of said resolution and which shall refer to a map or maps showing the general location and general construction of said project. Notice of such hearing shall be given by publication one week for two consecutive weeks prior to said hearing, the last publication of which notice must be at least seven (7) days before said hearing, in a newspaper of general circulation designated by the board, circulated in such zone or each of said participating zones, if there be such newspaper, and if there be no such newspaper then by posting notice for two consecutive weeks prior to said hearing in five public places designated by the board, in such zone or in each of said participating zones. Said notice must designate a public place in such zone or in each of said participating zones where a copy or copies of the map or maps of said joint project may be seen by any interested person; said map must be posted in each of said public places so designated in said notice at least two weeks prior to said hearing.

At the time and place fixed for the hearing, or at any time to which said hearing may be continued, the board shall consider all written and oral objections to the proposed project. Upon the conclusion of the hearing the board may abandon the proposed project or proceed with the same, unless prior to the conclusion of said hearing written protests against the proposed project signed by the owners of at least 50 percent of the assessed value of property within such zone or participating zones be filed with the board, in which event further proceedings relating to such project must be suspended for not less than six months following the date of the conclusion of said hearing, or said proceeding may be abandoned in the discretion of the board. Protests may be withdrawn before the conclusion of the hearing.

SEC. 17. Whenever the board institutes a project for a single zone or a joint project for two or more zones, it shall appoint, for each zone, at the time of the adoption of its resolution of intent, an advisory committee of three persons who are property owners residing in the zone for which they are appointed, to represent before the board the residents and property owners of that zone. Each person so appointed shall be permitted to attend every meeting of the board in which any matter affecting his zone is discussed or considered. The board shall not discuss or consider any matter which affects any zone unless each member of the advisory committee for the zone has been notified in writing as to the time and place of the meeting at least five days before the meeting. Vacancies in the advisory committees shall be filled by appointment by the board.

SEC. 18. The board shall have power, in any year :

1. To levy ad valorem taxes upon all property in the district to pay the general administrative costs and expenses of the district, and to carry out any of the objects or purposes of this act of common benefit to the district ; provided, however, that said ad valorem tax shall not exceed three cents ($0.03) on each one hundred dollars ($100) of assessed valuation ; and

2. To levy taxes upon all property in each or any of said zones and participating zones to pay the cost and expenses of carrying out, constructing, maintaining, operating, extending, repairing or otherwise improving any or all works or improvements established or to be established within or on behalf of said respective zones, according to the benefits derived or to be derived by said respective zones ; and

3. To levy taxes upon all property in each or any of said zones, according to the special benefits derived or to be derived therein to pay the cost and expenses of carrying out any of the objects or purposes of this act of special benefit to such zones, including the constructing, maintaining, operating, extending, repairing, or otherwise improving any or all works of improvement established or to be established within or on behalf of said respective zones.

In the event of project cooperation with any of the governmental bodies as authorized in subdivision 6 of Section 5 of this act, and the making of a contract with any such governmental body for the purposes set forth in said subdivision 6, by the terms of which work is agreed to be performed by any such governmental body in any specified zone or participating zones, for the particular benefit thereof, and by said contract it is agreed that the district is to pay to such governmental body, a sum of money in consideration or subvention for the performance of said work by such governmental body, the board may levy and collect a special tax upon the property in such zone or participating zones, whereby to raise funds to enable the district to make such payment, in addition to other taxes herein otherwise provided for.

Said taxes shall be levied and collected together with, and not separately from taxes for county purposes, and the revenues derived from said district taxes shall be paid into the county treasury to the credit of said district, or the respective zones thereof, and the board shall have the power to control and order the expenditure thereof for said purposes ; provided, however, that no revenues, or portions thereof, derived in any of the several zones from the taxes levied under the provisions of subdivision 2 of this section shall be expended for constructing, maintaining, operating, extending, repairing or otherwise improving any works or improvements located in any other zone, except in the case of joint projects, or for projects authorized or established outside such zone, or zones, but for the benefit thereof. In cases of projects joint to two or more zones, such zones will become, and shall be referred to as, participating zones.

SEC. 19. (1) Whenever the board determines that a bonded indebtedness should be incurred to pay the cost of any work or improvement in any zone or zones, the board may by resolution, determine and declare the respective amounts of bonds in order to raise the amount of money necessary for each work or improvement and the denomination and rate of interest of said bonds. The board shall cause a copy of the resolution, duly certified by the clerk, to be filed for record in the office of the recorder of Yuba County within five (5) days after its issuance. From and after said filing of said copy of said resolution the board shall be deemed vested with the authority to proceed with the bond election.

(2) After the filing for record of the resolution specified in subdivision (1) of this section, the board may call a special bond election in said zone or participating zones at which shall be submitted to the owners of property within said zone or participating zones the question whether or not bonds shall be issued in the amount or amounts determined in said resolution and for the purpose or purposes therein stated. Said bonds and the interest thereon shall be paid from revenue derived from annual taxes levied upon the property situated within the zone or participating zones, and all such property shall be and remain liable to be taxed for such payments as provided in this act.

(3) Said board shall call such special bond election by ordinance and not otherwise and submit to the owners of property within said zone or participating zones, the proposition of incurring a bonded debt in said zone or participating zones in the amount and for the purposes stated in said resolution and shall recite therein the objects and purposes for which the indebtedness is proposed to be incurred ; provided, that it shall be sufficient to give a brief, general description of such objects and purposes, and refer to the recorded copy of such resolution adopted by said board, and on file for particulars ; and said ordinances shall also state the estimated cost of the proposed work and improvements, the amount of the principal of the indebtedness to be incurred therefor, and what part or installment of such indebtedness shall be paid each and every year, and which shall not in any one year be less than one-fortieth ( $\frac{1}{40}$ ) of the whole amount of the principal and interest of such indebtedness, and the rate of interest to be paid on said indebtedness, and shall fix the date on which such special election shall be held, and the form and contents of the ballot to be used. The rate of interest to be paid on such indebtedness shall not exceed five percent (5%) per annum. For the purposes of said election, said board shall in said ordinance establish special bond election precincts within the boundaries of each zone and participating zone and may form election precincts by consolidating the precincts established for general elections in said district to a number not exceeding six general precincts for each such special bond election precinct, and shall designate a polling place and appoint one inspector, one judge and one clerk for each of such special bond election precincts.

In all particulars not recited in said ordinance, such special bond election shall be held as nearly as practicable in conformity with the general election laws of the State.

Said board shall cause a map or maps to be prepared covering a general description of the work to be done, which said map shall show the location of the proposed works and improvements and shall cause the said map to be posted in a prominent place in the county courthouse for public inspection for at least thirty (30) days before the date fixed for such election.

Said ordinance calling for such special bond election shall, prior to the date set for such election, be published in a newspaper of general circulation circulated in each zone and participating zone affected for six consecutive times if published in a daily newspaper of general circulation, or two times if published in a weekly newspaper of general circulation. The last publication of such ordinance must be at least fourteen (14) days before said election, and if there be no such newspaper, then such ordinance shall be posted in five public places designated by the board, in each zone and participating zone for at least thirty (30) days before the date fixed for such election. No other notice of such election need be given nor need polling place cards be issued.

Each owner of property within the district may vote at any election in person or by proxy and may cast one vote for each one hundred dollars ($100) worth of property owned by him in the district, as determined from the last preceding tax roll of Yuba County.

Any defect or irregularity in the proceedings prior to the calling of such special bond election shall not affect the validity of the bonds authorized by said election. If at such election two-thirds ( $\frac{2}{3}$ ) of the votes cast are in favor of incurring such bonded indebtedness, then bonds for such zone or participating zones for the amount stated in such proceedings shall be issued and sold as in this act provided.

SEC. 20. The board shall, subject to the provisions of this act, prescribe by resolution the form of said bonds, which must include a designation of the zone or participating zones affected, and of the interest coupons attached thereto. Said bonds shall be payable annually or semiannually at the discretion of the board each and every year on a day and date, and at a place to be fixed by said board, and designated in such bonds, together with the interest on all sums unpaid on such date until the whole of said indebtedness shall have been paid.

The bonds shall be issued in such denominations as the board may determine, except that no bonds shall be of a less denomination than one hundred dollars ($100), nor of a greater denomination than one thousand dollars ($1,000), and shall be payable on the days and at the place fixed in said bonds, and with interest at the rate specified in such bonds, which rate shall not be in excess of five per centum (5%) per annum, and shall be made payable annually or semiannually, and said bonds shall be numbered consecutively and shall be signed by the chairman of the board, and countersigned by the auditor of said district either or both of which signatures may be engraved or lithographed, and the seal of said district shall be affixed thereto by the clerk of the board. The interest coupons of said bonds shall be numbered consecutively and signed by the said auditor by his engraved or lithographed signature. In case any such officer whose signatures or countersignatures appear on the bonds or coupons shall cease to be such officer before the delivery of such bonds to the purchaser, such bonds and coupons, and signatures or countersignatures shall nevertheless be valid and sufficient for all purposes the same as if such officer had remained in office until the delivery of the bonds.

SEC. 21. The board may issue and sell the bonds of such zones authorized as hereinbefore provided at not less than par value, and the proceeds of the sale of such bonds shall be placed in the treasury of the County of Yuba to the credit of said district and the respective participating zones thereof, for the uses and purposes of the zone, or zones voting said bonds; and the proper record of such transactions shall be placed upon the books of said county treasurer, and said respective zone funds shall be applied exclusively to the purposes and objects mentioned in the ordinance calling such special bond election as aforesaid, subject to the provisions in this act contained. Payments from said zone funds shall be made upon demands prepared, presented, allowed and audited in the same manner as demands upon the funds of the County of Yuba.

SEC. 22. Any bonds issued under the provisions of this act shall be a lien upon all property of the zone or zones of issuance, and the lien for the bonds of any issue shall be a preferred lien to that of any subsequent issue. Said bonds and the interest thereon shall be paid by revenue derived from an annual tax upon all property within said zone or participating zones and all property in said zone or participating zones shall be and remain liable to be taxed for such payments as hereinafter provided. No zone nor the property therein shall be liable for the share of bonded indebtedness of any other zone, nor shall any moneys derived from taxation in any of the several zones be used in payment of principal or interest or otherwise of the share of bonded indebtedness chargeable to any other zone.

Said bonds may be deposited and registered with the treasurer of the county, and it shall be an official duty of said treasurer to receive and register said bonds in the name of the holder and to keep a sufficient book of registry thereof setting forth a description of the bonds and the names and addresses of the respective holders, and to give each holder of such bonds so registered a receipt therefor; provided that said receipts shall be personal to the respective holders and not transferable. Such bonds shall be returned to such holders thereof or in case of death to the duly appointed personal representative of the holder's estate, upon the giving of receipt therefor, with or without return of the receipt given by the treasurer at the time of such deposit and registry. And the treasurer, at the request of such holder, or such personal representative, may detach and deliver to such holder or personal representative, mature coupons from time to time, first taking receipts therefor.

SEC. 23. The board shall levy a tax each year upon all property in the zone or zones of issuance sufficient to pay the interest and such portion of the principal of said bonds as is due or to become due before the time for making the next general tax levy. Such taxes shall be levied and collected in the respective zones of issuance together with and not separately from taxes for county purposes, and when collected shall be paid into the county treasury of said Yuba County to the credit of the zone of payment, and be used for the payment of the principal and interest on said bonds, and for no other purpose. The principal and interest on said bonds shall be paid by the county treasurer of said Yuba County in the manner provided by law for the payment of principal and interest on bonds of said county.

SEC. 24. The provisions of law of this State, prescribing the time and manner of levying, assessing, equalizing and collecting county property taxes, including the sale of property for delinquency, and the redemption from such sale, and the duties of the several county officers with respect thereto, are, so far as they are applicable, and not in conflict with the specific provisions of this act, hereby adopted and made a part hereof.

SEC. 25. Notwithstanding Section 54903 of the Government Code, the Yuba County Flood Control and Drainage District is validly created for the purposes of assessment and taxation. The creation of any zone in the Yuba County Flood Control and Drainage District shall not be effective for purposes of assessment or taxation for the Fiscal Year 1952-1953 and shall not be effective for such purposes for any fiscal year thereafter unless the statement and map or plat required by Section 54903 of the Government Code are filed with the county assessor and the State Board of Equalization on or before the first of February of the year in which the taxes are to be levied. Until such time as the creation of any zone shall be effective for purposes of taxation, any tax levied by the board shall be levied at a uniform rate on all property in the Yuba County Flood Control and Drainage District.

For the Fiscal Year 1952-1953, but for no other fiscal year, notwithstanding Section 24 of this act, the assessment and equalization of property for the purpose of district taxation shall be effected as provided in this section.

Assessments of the district for the Fiscal Year 1952-1953 are liens on the property the same as if they were county taxes, except that the district assessment liens attach as of noon on the day after this act becomes effective.

It is presumed that the assessments of property made by the county assessor and by the State Board of Equalization for county taxation purposes for the Fiscal Year 1952-1953 are the correct assessments for purposes of assessment by the district and the rolls prepared by the county assessor and the State Board of Equalization shall be used for purposes of levying and collecting the taxes for the district. If the ownership or taxable situs or value of any property changes between noon on the first Monday in March, 1954, and the date on which attaches the lien for assessments of the district for the Fiscal Year 1952-1953, then, on petition of the taxpayer affected to the assessing authority, suitable entry shall be made on the assessment roll, in the manner prescribed by the State Board of Equalization, to indicate such change in the ownership or taxability or value of the property for purposes of assessment by the district.

In equalizing the assessments made by the county assessor, the Board of Supervisors of Yuba County, sitting as the county board of equalization, in addition to its regular equalization duties, shall also, in the same manner and under the same rules, equalize the valuation of property for purposes of assessment by the district in accordance with the requirements of this section and any such changes made by the county board of equalization in the assessment roll shall be entered in the manner prescribed by the State Board of Equalization.

If, for purposes of assessments by the district, a change in the assessment for county taxation purposes is not sought under this section before the end of the period during which such assessment may be equalized, or corrected on a petition for reassessment, such assessment, if valid for county taxation purposes, is conclusively presumed to be the correct assessment for assessment purposes of the district.

The board may prescribe by ordinance any necessary procedure, in accordance with the policy of this act, for the purpose of assessing, equalizing, levying, and collecting taxes for the district for the Fiscal Year 1953-1954. Except as provided in this section, Section 24 of this act is applicable to the assessment and equalization of property for the purpose of district assessments for the Fiscal Year 1953-1954.

SEC. 26. The bonds of the district issued for any zone or zones thereof pursuant to this act, shall be legal investments for all trust funds, and for the funds of all insurance companies, banks, both commercial and savings, and trust companies, and for the state school funds, and whenever any money or funds may by law now or hereafter enacted be invested in bonds of cities, cities and counties, counties, school districts or municipalities in the State of California, such money or funds may be invested in the said bonds of said district issued in accordance with the provisions of this act, and whenever bonds of cities, cities and counties, counties, school districts or municipalities, may by any law now or hereafter enacted be used as security for the performance of any act, such bonds of said district may be so used.

This section of this act is intended to be and shall be considered the latest enactment with respect to the matters herein contained, and any and all acts or parts of acts in conflict with the provisions hereof are hereby repealed.

SEC. 27. All bonds issued by said district under the provisions of this act shall be free and exempt from all taxation within the State of California. It is hereby declared that the district organized by this act is a reclamation district and an irrigation district within the meaning of Section 1 $\frac{1}{2}$  of Article XIII and Section 13 of Article XI of the Constitution of this State.

SEC. 28. All contracts for any improvement or unit of work when the cost thereof according to the estimate of the engineer, will exceed two thousand dollars ($2,000), shall be let to the lowest responsible bidder or bidders in the matter hereinafter provided. The board shall first determine whether such contract shall be let as a single unit for the whole of the work, or shall be divided into severable convenient parts, or both, according to the best interests of the district. The board shall make call for bids and advertise such call by three (3) insertions in a daily newspaper of general circulation or by two (2) insertions in a weekly newspaper of general circulation printed and published in said district inviting proposals for the construction or performance of the improvement or work before any contract is made therefor. Such call for bids shall state whether such work is to be performed as a unit for the whole thereof or shall be divided into severable convenient specific parts, or both, as stated in the call. The board may let such work by single contract for the whole thereof as a unit or it may divide such work into severable convenient parts by separate contracts, as stated in such call, according to the best interests of the district. The board shall require the successful bidder or bidders to file with the board good and sufficient bonds to be approved by the board conditioned upon the faithful performance of the contract and upon the payment of their claims for labor and material in connection therewith, such bonds to contain the terms and conditions set forth in Chapter 3 of Division 5 of Title 1 of the Government Code and to be subject to the provisions of that chapter. The board shall also have the right to reject any and all bids. In the event all proposals are rejected or no proposals are received pursuant to advertisement therefor, or the estimated cost of such work does not exceed the sum of two thousand dollars ($2,000), or the work consists of channel protection, or maintenance work, or emergency work when necessary in order to protect life and property from impending flood damage, the board of supervisors may without advertising for bids therefor have said work done by force account. The district shall have the power to purchase in the open market without advertising for bids therefor, materials and supplies for use in any work therewith either under contract or by force account; provided, however, that materials and supplies for use in any new construction work or improvements, except work referred to in the preceding sentence, may not be purchased if the cost thereof exceeds two thousand five hundred dollars ($2,500), without advertising for bids and awarding the contract therefor to the lowest responsible bidder.

SEC. 29. Any improvement for which bonds are voted under the provisions of this act, shall be made in conformity with the report, plans, specifications and map therefore adopted, as above specified, unless the doing of any of such work, described in said report, shall be prohibited by law, or be rendered contrary to the best interests of the district by some change of conditions in relation thereto, in which event the board of supervisors may order necessary changes made in such proposed work or improvements and may cause any plans and specifications to be made and adopted therefor.

SEC. 30. Whenever bonds have been authorized by any zone or participating zone of said district and the proceeds of the sale thereof have been expended as in this act authorized, and the board shall by resolution determine that additional bonds should be issued for carrying out the work of flood control, or for any of the purposes of this act, the board may again proceed as in this act provided, and submit to the qualified voters of said zone or participating zone, the question of issuing additional bonds in the same manner and with like procedure as hereinbefore provided, and all the above provisions of this act for the issuing and sale of such bonds, and for the expenditure of the proceeds thereof, shall be deemed to apply to such issue of additional bonds.

SEC. 31. Should a proposition for issuing bonds for any zone or participating zones submitted at any election under this act fail to receive the requisite number of votes at such election to incur the indebtedness for the purpose specified, the board shall not for six months after such election call or order another election in such zone or participating zone for incurring indebtedness and issuing bonds under the terms of this act for the same objects and purposes.

SEC. 32. The repeal or amendment of this act shall not in any way affect or release any of the property in said district or any zone thereof from the obligations of any outstanding bonds or indebtedness until all such bonds and outstanding indebtedness have been fully paid and discharged.

SEC. 33. There is hereby granted to Yuba County Flood Control and Drainage District the right of way for the location, construction and maintenance of flood control channels, ditches, waterways, conduits, canals, storm dikes, embankments, and protective works in, over and across public lands of the State of California, not otherwise disposed of or in use, not in any case exceeding in length or width that which is necessary for the construction of such works and adjuncts or for the protection thereof. Whenever any selection of a right of way for such works or adjuncts thereto is made by the district the board thereof must transmit to the State Lands Commission, the Controller of the State and the recorder of the county in which the selected lands are situated, a plat of the lands so selected, giving the extent thereof and the uses for which the same is claimed or desired, duly verified to be correct. If the State Lands Commission shall approve the selections so made it shall endorse its approval upon the plat and issue to the district a permit to use such right of way and lands.

SEC. 34. (a) If by any judgment in condemnation or agreement the district shall be required to relocate any street, road, highway, railroad, canal or other property subject or devoted to public use, the board shall have power to acquire in the name of the district, by agreement or condemnation, all rights of way and other property necessary or proper for compliance with said agreement or said judgment of condemnation and thereafter to make such conveyance of such relocated street, road, highway, railroad, canal, or other property as may be proper to comply with said agreement or judgment. It shall be provided in all agreements for exchange of property and judgments requiring relocation of other public uses as specified in this section and in Section 6 of this act, that in making such exchanges it shall be specifically provided that such property so condemned and exchanged be limited to public use by the party with whom such exchange is made.

(b) In the event the district and any common carrier railroad or other public utility fail to agree as to the character or location of new improvements or works sought to be performed by the district, the character and location of such new improvements or works and any other controversy relating thereto shall be submitted to and determined by the Public Utilities Commission; and jurisdiction of such controversies is hereby vested in said commission.

(c) Proceedings under this section relating to the jurisdiction of said commission may be instituted, maintained and determined in the mode prescribed in Sections 1206 to 1217 inclusive of the Public Utilities Code.

SEC. 35. Claims against the district whether arising out of contract, tort, or the taking or damaging of property without compensation must be made in writing and filed with the board within six months after the cause of action arises. Claims shall be presented in the general form and manner prescribed by general law relating to the making and filing of claims against counties. Such claims may be amended within said six months to correct defects in form or statement of facts. No action against the district shall be commenced or maintained unless such claim relating thereto has been filed as hereinabove prescribed and action thereon commenced within one year after the cause of action arose.

SEC. 36. The legal title to all property acquired under the provisions of this act shall immediately and by operation of law vest in said district, and shall be held by said district, in trust for, and is hereby dedicated and set apart to, the uses and purposes set forth in this act. The board is hereby authorized and empowered to hold, use, acquire, manage, occupy and possess said property, as herein provided; and said board may determine, by resolution duly entered in their minutes that any property, real or personal, held by said district is no longer necessary to be retained for the uses and purposes thereof, and may thereafter sell, lease or otherwise dispose of said property in the manner prescribed by law for such action by counties.

SEC. 37. The district formed under this act in order to determine the legality of its existence, may institute a proceeding therefor in the superior court of this State, in and for the County of Yuba, by filing with the clerk of said county a complaint setting forth the name of the district, its exterior boundaries, the date of its organization and a prayer that it be adjudged a legal flood control and drainage district formed under the provisions of this act. The summons in such proceeding shall be served by publishing a copy thereof once a week for four weeks in a newspaper of general circulation published in said county. The State of California shall be a defendant in such action, and consent therefor is given. Service of summons therein shall be made on the Attorney General. The Attorney General shall appear in such action on behalf of the State in the same manner as with appearances in civil actions. Within thirty (30) days after proof of publication of said summons shall have been filed in said proceeding, the State, any property owner or resident in said district, or any person interested may appear as a defendant in said action by serving and filing an answer to said complaint, in which case said answer shall set forth the facts relied upon to show the invalidity of the district and shall be served upon the district attorney before being filed in such proceeding. Such proceeding is hereby declared to be a proceeding in rem and the final judgment rendered therein shall be conclusive against all persons whomsoever, including the district and the State of California.

SEC. 38. Employees appointed by the board under this act when required by resolution thereof of the board of supervisors of the district, shall execute bonds conditioned, executed, approved, filed, and recorded in the general manner and form provided by law for officers, other than supervisors, of said county, before entering upon the duties of their respective employments.

SEC. 39. This act, and every part thereof, shall be liberally construed to promote the objects thereof, and to carry out its intents and purposes.

SEC. 40. If any provision of this act, or the application thereof to any person or circumstance, is held invalid, the remainder of the act, or the application of such provision to other persons or circumstances, shall not be affected thereby".

MOTION TO PRINT LETTER FROM GOVERNOR'S OFFICE

Senator Breed asked for, and was granted, unanimous consent to have the following letter from the Governor's Office regarding a salt water barrier on San Francisco Bay, printed in the Journal:

STATE OF CALIFORNIA, GOVERNOR'S OFFICE
SACRAMENTO, March 12, 1953

*Hon. Marvin Sherwin, Chairman
Assembly Ways and Means Committee
State Capitol Building
Sacramento 14, California*

DEAR MR. SHERWIN: This will acknowledge your letter of March 5, 1953, reading as follows:

"In your message to the Legislature on January 5, 1953, you proposed a study concerning a salt water barrier on San Francisco Bay. Would you please enlarge on those views for the use of my committee, stating what connection, if any, the subject has with a highway toll crossing of San Francisco Bay between Marin and Contra Costa Counties."

It is a pleasure to comply with your request because the salt water barrier proposal has unfortunately been linked inseparably in the minds of many people with a toll crossing for vehicular traffic. This has created some confusion in public thinking and has divided many of the proponents of the two projects in spite of what I consider to be irrefutable evidence that neither the desirability nor economic feasibility of either project depends upon the other, and that they are severable in every respect.

The idea of a barrier on San Francisco Bay somewhere below the confluence of the Sacramento and San Joaquin Rivers is not new. Such a proposal was made as early as the 1860's and has recurred in various forms since that time. It has continued to be a controversial matter throughout the years in Federal, State, and affected local governments.

In 1880 the State Engineer made a study of a barrier across Carquinez Straits to aid in the control of floods in the lower reaches of the two rivers. This study reported that the storage capacity above the barrier would not be sufficient and that such a barrier would not be effective in lowering flood planes.

Subsequent to this report the construction of a barrier at various locations on the bay was given consideration as a means of preventing invasion of salt water into upper San Francisco Bay and the delta regions.

In 1921 Captain C. F. Jarvis, of the Army Corps of Engineers, published in the "Transactions of the American Society of Civil Engineers" a report to that organization on the subject. The report was inconclusive, but it did advocate serious future consideration of the possibilities of a salt water barrier.

In 1923 A. Kempkey of the State Department of Public Works, also made a preliminary study and report on a barrier to be located at the upper end of Carquinez Straits. Mr. Kempkey stated that the project seemed to possess elements of value entitling it to serious consideration. The findings were reported in "Proceedings of Sacramento River Problems Conference" January 1924.

As a part of an investigation made by the San Francisco Bay Marine Piling Committee between 1920 and 1927, Mr. C. E. Grunsky made preliminary studies and designs of a barrier in the "narrows" below San Pablo Bay. The "Grunsky Report" described in some detail the benefits to be derived from a barrier, but recognized the magnitude of the expense involved. He felt that sooner or later means for the erection of a properly located and properly designed barrier would be found. His views were published in the final report of the committee entitled "Marine Borers and Their Relation to Marine Construction on the Pacific Coast," 1927.

At about this same time upper irrigation interests represented by the Sacramento Valley Development Association and the delta interests represented by the Delta Land Syndicate requested the United States Bureau of Reclamation to make an investigation for the purpose of determining the feasibility, probable effectiveness, and the approximate cost of a barrier. The result of this request was the "Report on Salt Water Barrier", 1929 by Walker R. Young, engineer for the Bureau of Reclamation, wherein was published the findings of a cooperative study undertaken by the United States Bureau of Reclamation, the State Department of Public Works, and the Sacramento Valley Development Association. This publication is also known as Bulletin No. 22, Division of Water Resources, Department of Public Works. The State's participation in this investigation was authorized by California Statutes 1923, Chapters 122 and 286. The investigation was directed chiefly to the physical aspects of a salt water barrier. Eleven sites were considered and three were selected for special investigation and study, those three locations being at Dillon Point and Army Point in Carquinez Straits, and at Point San Pablo at the lower end of San Pablo Bay. The conclusion was drawn that it would be physically feasible to construct a salt water barrier. However, since the cost appeared to be so great, economic studies were recommended to determine whether the benefits would be commensurate with the costs.

An Assembly committee to investigate California water resources in 1927 concluded that further study and further public hearings were necessary before the committee could recommend a salt water barrier to the Legislature.

In 1929 a Joint Legislative Committee on Water Problems first reported favorably on a salt water barrier and later in the same year recommended further study with respect to its location and economic feasibility. It further recommended against including the barrier in a proposed state bond issue. Pursuant to Chapter 832, Statutes of 1929, the State Department of Public Works, through its Division of Water Resources, undertook a study of a state water plan. In connection with the development of this plan, the economic aspects of a salt water barrier were considered. The results of this investigation are presented in Bulletin No. 28, Division of Water Resources. Included in the study was the effect of a barrier upon manufacturing industries, industrial waterfront structures, irrigation, reclamation, flood control, navigation, fishing, municipalities, and sewage and industrial waste disposal. In this connection, estimates were made of immediate and future water requirements for all purposes. An essential feature of the investigation was the study of the ability of alternate plans, with and without a barrier, to provide the basic requirements of salinity control and dependable fresh water supplies for the upper bay and delta regions. Recognizing that a barrier was physically feasible, the final conclusion of the investigation was that the structure was not necessary nor economically justified as a unit of the state water plan. Also included in Bulletin 28 is a report of a study made under the direction of C. H. Purcell, State Highway Engineer, on the feasibility and suitability of combining a highway crossing with a salt water barrier. This report concluded that any amount which might be contributed from highway funds toward the building of a barrier would be so small in comparison with the total cost that it could not be considered as an influencing factor. It further pointed out that traffic requirements precluded the possibility of using a barrier as a low level crossing and that therefore the highway facility would assume the character of a high level bridge. At San Pablo Strait, it was stated, the traffic demands would not warrant participation of a highway crossing until 1955, and then only to the extent of 3 or 4 percent of the cost of the barrier.

Also in 1929 Senator Sharkey of Contra Costa County proposed S. C. A. 38 and in conjunction with Senator Swing of San Bernardino County S. C. A. 44. Both provided for a salt water barrier at Carquinez Strait. S. C. A. 38 was held in Senate Committee. S. C. A. 44 was recommended for passage by the Senate committee, adopted by the Senate, recommended for passage by the Assembly committee, and refused adoption by the Assembly after thorough debate on the floor.

Also in 1929 a federal-state water resources commission was appointed, and in 1931 reported "we definitely recommend against the so-called salt water barrier; that is the building of a dam across the Carquinez Strait to restrain the incursion of salt water into Suisun Bay * * * cost out of proportion to benefits."

In 1931 a partial report from the Chief of Army Engineers on the Sacramento, San Joaquin and Kern Rivers, concluded that the construction of a barrier was not economically justified at that time.

Also in 1931 a report of the Joint Committee on Water Problems concluded that a barrier was not then necessary for salinity control but that future developments in the bay area might require its construction.

In 1933 the Central Valley Project Act was passed by the Legislature and sustained by the people on referendum. It included in its objectives "salinity control" but made no reference to a salt water barrier among the features of the project.

Thereafter throughout the years, the so-called Reber Plan, which includes salt water barriers, has been submitted to numerous other State and Federal legislative committees which took no action concerning it.

In 1945 Congress, by House Resolution 529, Seventy-Ninth Congress, Second Session, directed the Secretary of War and the Secretary of Navy to review a prior report "for the purpose of investigating and reporting upon the need and feasibility * * * of constructing a bridge from San Francisco to Bay Farm Island, or a system of dams across San Francisco Bay as provided in the so-called Reber Plan. * * *" Pursuant to this resolution there was established what has come to be known as the Joint Army-Navy Board which in 1947 reported that the Reber Plan as a highway crossing "would result in the dislocation of industry, is economically unfeasible and is not tenable from the standpoint of navigation and national defense." The State Department of Public Works on a similar study reached a like conclusion.

The State Joint Legislative Committee on Water Problems in 1947 reported that the committee held a hearing on the Reber Plan in 1944. It determined that no conclusion would be reached pending the Joint Army-Navy Board hearing in 1947, and thereafter simply noted that the Joint Army-Navy Board discarded the Reber Plan as unfeasible.

In 1949 the "California Assembly Fact Finding Committee on Tidelands, Reclamation and Development, Related Traffic Problems and Relief of the Congestion on Trans-Bay Crossings" was appointed. Assemblyman Richard J. Dolwig was chairman of that committee. The committee employed Mr. John L. Savage, Consulting Engineer of Denver, Colorado, together with the International Engineering Company of San Francisco, to prepare a report with specific direction that an investigation of the Reber Plan be made. The report was made to the committee in January 1951. It is my understanding that it was not transmitted to the Assembly. However, a copy is available and its conclusions are as follows:

"1. The Reber Plan is physically feasible; that is, the various structures contemplated could be built.

"2. The Reber Plan in its entirety is neither functionally nor economically feasible; that is its realization would not produce the desired results, and would seriously hamper the national defense, and its costs would exceed the value of the benefits.

"3. The Reber Plan in its entirety should be given no more consideration.

"4. A north barrier, a ship channel, and a south barrier, as described herein as parts of the Reber Plan, taken individually merit no further consideration.

"5. Another plan involving the construction of a dam in Carqueinez Straits, a 22-mile tunnel, and a south barrier, in its entirety, is not economically practical.

"6. A southern barrier, much different from that contemplated in either the Reber Plan or the above-mentioned plan, might be practicable as a Bay crossing and should be further investigated.

"7. The entire question of salinity protection in the Delta Region should be further investigated."

The reports of this committee in 1950 and 1951 declined to approve the Savage report and recommended further study of the Reber Plan in the following language:

"Many open questions have been raised in the course of the consultants' work. There is the possibility that later some might be resolved adversely to the plan. These considerations suggested that a somewhat less ambitious plan be investigated. * * *"

In March 1952 the Assembly Interim Committee on Conservation, Planning, and Public Works reporting on the program for salinity control in the delta region stated, "In adopting the plan for control of salinity by release of fresh water, the Legislature and state engineers did not fail to take into account the possibility of effecting the control by means of a solid barrier at Antioch or some point further down stream. There were many issues considered in arriving at this decision, and it is not within the scope of this report to review them, but probably the most compelling fact was the conclusion that since there appears to be more than enough water to spare for this project, the expenditure of funds for impounding flood flows in the high lands would be more economical than construction of a solid barrier."

It is obvious that in spite of all of these various studies and reports that have been made through the years concerning a salt water barrier, there is no consensus on the subject. It is also a fact that many of them have been preliminary in nature, that some of them have been directed to specific locations, and that others are quite general in nature. They are premised on a variety of objectives ranging from protection against floods to the conservation of fresh water. None of them is up to date. Economic conditions as well as physical conditions in the Bay area have radically changed since the last definitive investigation (Bulletin 28) was made twenty-odd years ago. New ideas have been broached in more recent years and new methods of construction have been developed. New and contemplated water projects affect the situation. Shasta Dam is in operation, Folsom Dam is under construction, the Feather River Project is in the authorization stage, and the diversion of the Trinity River is being considered.

Any conclusion on the subject must be arrived at in the light of existing circumstances and conditions that can reasonably be envisioned for the future. I have therefore become convinced that an up-to-date definitive study should be made of the barrier proposal. It was for this reason that I made the following recommendation in my message to the Legislature on January 5, 1953: "For many years a salt water barrier has been advocated for San Francisco Bay. It is a controversial subject. Studies of various phases of the proposal have been made through the years by the United States Bureau of Reclamation and by departments of our State Government but there still is no agreement concerning the feasibility of such a barrier. Many people are sincerely of the opinion that it would materially benefit agriculture, industry, and the communities and counties bordering on the Bay and that it has not been adequately studied. The project, if feasible, would be of such great importance to the Bay area that I believe the Legislature would do well to have the State Division of Water Resources make a definitive study of it in order to determine its practicability." The survey should be comprehensive in scope and should include not only the determination of the engineering and economic feasibility of salt water barriers in both the northern and southern parts of San Francisco Bay for the conservation of water, but also the consideration of other possible works for the development of the agricultural, industrial, and municipal potentialities of the entire San Francisco Bay and delta areas.

It is difficult to know beforehand what a study of this kind would cost but the scope of the investigation of necessity calls for a substantial outlay.

I believe it would be in order for the Legislature to allocate from either the fund created for the investigation of the desirability of purchasing the Central Valley Project, or from some other appropriate fund, the sum of $500,000 with perhaps half of that amount appropriated for immediate use to the Division of Water Resources.

The conservation of water is so important that time is always of the essence in the consideration of our water problems. If we are to have a study of the salt water barrier problem, it should be started at the earliest possible date. To this end I am willing, as I have already stated publicly, to give the necessary letter for consideration of an appropriation for this purpose as an emergency matter prior to the adoption of the budget. This would enable the Division of Water Resources, if approved by the Legislature, to start the work in time to include consideration of salinity conditions of this year.

Most of the studies and reports mentioned herein are not in general circulation. I am therefore attaching to this letter a list of the documents. The reports are available in the Department of Public Works and the Legislative Journals in the State Library.

You also asked in your letter what connections, if any, a salt water barrier has with a highway toll crossing of San Francisco Bay between Marin and Contra Costa counties. It is the conclusion of the Toll Bridge Authority based upon the findings of nationally recognized bridge experts as well as its own engineers that there is no connection between the two; that the construction of the two projects jointly could not be of economic advantage to either. They point out that even though a portion of a salt water barrier might be used for a road surface, that the requirement of the Navy for a vertical clearance of 180 feet for the passage of ships to Mare Island through locks would necessitate a high level structure, which when added to the other costs of a crossing would exceed the cost of the Richmond-San Rafael Bridge. It is obvious therefore that there could be no financial advantages flow to the salt water barrier from a consolidation of the two projects. Their findings also preclude the use of a draw bridge for the passage of ships, because of the necessity of keeping the channel open for the passage of ships as long as an hour at a time. The testimony on this subject is available in the reporter's transcripts of the hearings on the Richmond-San Rafael Bridge.

It should also be borne in mind that the Secretary of the Navy, Dan A. Kimball, on May 28, 1952, in a letter to the Bay Area Council stated in reference to the joint Army-Navy Board study of 1947 the following:

"When various locations for and types of crossings were reviewed against a background of navigation and national defense requirements it became evident that certain limitations would govern what type of crossing would be acceptable at each proposed location. The channels leading to the Shipyards at Hunter's Point and Mare Island were considered to be too important to be restricted by any type of low-level bridge with a draw or lift span at these channels. The construction of dams or causeways would create many unacceptable conditions one of which is the inherent system of locks which would be required. These limitations are still pertinent and are quite in accord with the policy statements which you reported in your letter as being given to you unofficially."

The Toll Bridge Authority was of the opinion that if it was to take care of the traffic needs of fast growing Marin and Contra Costa Counties, there was no action open to it except to provide for the bridge now under construction. I want you to know, however, that at no time has the Toll Bridge Authority considered the Richmond-San Rafael Bridge as in any way incompatible with a barrier as a water conservation project. And at no time has it done anything inconsistent with it. For a statement of the manner in which the Richmond-San Rafael Bridge was initiated by the Legislature itself, and was carried to the construction stage under its mandates, I refer you to my letter of March 3, 1953 to the Speaker of the Assembly which was printed in the Journal of March 3, 1953, Page 1272.

Sincerely,

EARL WARREN, Governor

COMMUNICATIONS

The following communication was received and read and ordered printed in the Journal:

SENATE, CALIFORNIA LEGISLATURE, March 24, 1953

Hon. Harold J. Powers

President pro Tempore of the Senate
Sacramento, California

DEAR SENATOR POWERS: At the conclusion of business on yesterday, Monday, March 23rd, the Senate had passed and sent to the Assembly 318 Senate measures, and the Assembly had passed and sent to the Senate 556 Assembly measures.

Today we have remaining 56 calendar days, omitting Saturdays and Sundays, in which to transact the business of this session. Assuming again that we will transact the same amount of business this session that we did in 1951, we have before us 2,015 measures to be disposed of.

Dividing 2,015 by 56, reveals the fact that we will have to dispose of an average of 36 measures per day to get through within the time allowed by the Constitution.

It should be remembered that calling the roll and passing a Senate Bill does not of necessity remove that bill from the file. If it is amended by the Assembly, we will have one more roll call, if we concur in the amendments, and two more roll calls if we refuse to concur and adopt a committee conference report. From this it is evident that we will have to record an average of more than 40 roll calls a day from now on to complete the work of the session in the time allowed.

Very truly yours,

J. A. BEEK, Secretary of the Senate

Senate Bill No. 548, "An act to add Section 4322 to the Agricultural Code, relating to the stabilization and marketing of fluid milk and fluid cream," in my opinion constitutes an emergency bill within the meaning of that term as used in Section 34 of Article IV of the Constitution of the State of California, the consideration of which should not await the final enactment of the Budget Bill.

STATE OF CALIFORNIA, GOVERNOR'S OFFICE

*To the Honorable Members of the Senate
Sacramento, California*

GENTLEMEN:

Senate Bill No. 75, "An act making an appropriation for investigation and study of salinity control barriers in San Francisco Bay."

in my opinion constitutes an emergency bill within the meaning of that term as used in Section 34 of Article IV of the Constitution of the State of California, the consideration of which should not await the final enactment of the Budget Bill.

It is important that if such studies are to be made, plans preparatory thereto should be begun at the earliest possible date.

I therefore recommend consideration of Senate Bill No. 75 as an emergency measure.

Respectfully submitted,

EARL WARREN, Governor

Recommendation of the Governor

In accordance with Article IV, Section 34, of the Constitution, the Governor presented the following communication recommending the passage of Senate Bill No. 278 :

STATE OF CALIFORNIA, GOVERNOR'S OFFICE
SACRAMENTO, March 10, 1953

*To the Honorable Members of the Senate
Sacramento, California*

GENTLEMEN :

Senate Bill No. 278, "An act to amend Section 4 of Chapter 7 of the Statutes of 1951, relating to revenues of tide and submerged lands, declaring the urgency thereof, to take effect immediately," in my opinion constitutes an emergency bill within the meaning of that term as used in Section 34 of Article IV of the Constitution of the State of California, the consideration of which should not await the final enactment of the Budget Bill.

This bill would amend the 1951 statute relative to the use of impounded oil revenues from the tide and submerged lands. The present allowance of $12,000 per month available to defray the expenses of the State Lands Commission in administering these lands has proven insufficient. To make available sufficient funds to defray the expenses of the State Lands Commission enactment of this measure is necessary.

I therefore recommend consideration of Senate Bill No. 278 as an emergency measure.

Respectfully submitted,

EARL WARREN, Governor

In accordance with Article IV, Section 34, of the Constitution, the Governor presented the following communication recommending the passage of Assembly Bill No. 1863:

STATE OF CALIFORNIA, GOVERNOR'S OFFICE
SACRAMENTO, March 2, 1953

*To the Honorable Members of the Senate,
Sacramento, California*

GENTLEMEN:

Assembly Bill No. 1863. "An act to codify the Agricultural Producers Marketing Act by adding Chapter 11 to Division 6 of the Agricultural Code and repealing Chapter 764 of the Statutes of 1933, relating to the marketing of agricultural products."

In my opinion constitutes an emergency bill within the meaning of that term as used in Section 34 of Article IV of the Constitution of the State of California, the consideration of which should not await the final enactment of the Budget Bill.

This bill has been submitted to the California Code Commission as a codification of existing law. The Legislative Counsel advises me, however, that it contains an appropriation and therefore may not be enacted before the final adoption of the budget without a letter from me.

It is desirable that this measure be enacted early in the session, and I therefore recommend its consideration before final action on the budget.

Respectfully submitted,

EARL WARREN, Governor

Amendment No. 7

On page 2 of said bill, after line 38, insert

"SEC. 5. Section 4.5 is added to said act, to read :

SEC. 4.5. Every retirement allowance payable under this act for time commencing on the effective date of this section to any judge who was retired for service or for disability prior to that date is hereby increased to the amount it would be if Section 2 and Section 4 of this act, as those sections exist on the effective date of this section, had been in effect on the effective date of the retirement of the judge to whom such retirement allowance is payable.

This section does not authorize any decrease in any retirement allowance, nor does this section give any retired judge, or his successors in interest, any claim against the State for any increase in any retirement allowance paid or payable for time prior to its effective date.

SEC. 6. Section 75032 of the Government Code is amended to read :

75032. Every judge now retired or hereafter retiring pursuant to Section 75025, shall, during the remainder of his life, receive an allowance equal to one-half the salary payable, at the time payment of the allowance falls due, to the judge holding [which he last received as the incumbent of a] the judicial office to which he was last elected by the people. The allowance shall be paid by the State at the times and in the manner provided for the payment of salaries of justices of the Supreme Court.

SEC. 7. Section 75033 is added to the Government Code, to read :

75033. Notwithstanding any other provision of this chapter, if the service of a judge, who has been elected as such by vote of the people, is discontinued by any means other than death, resignation, recall, impeachment or retirement pursuant to this chapter, he shall have the right to elect within ninety (90) days thereafter, and without right of revocation, whether to allow his accumulated contributions to remain in the fund. Failure to make such election shall be deemed an irrevocable election to withdraw his accumulated contributions. A judge who so elects to allow his accumulated contributions to remain in the fund shall, upon his application therefor to the State Controller after attaining age 65, be retired, and receive a retirement allowance based upon the judicial service with which he is credited, in the same manner as other judges, except that his retirement allowance is an annual amount equal to 5 percent of the compensation payable, at the time payments of the allowance fall due, to the judge holding the office which the retired judge last held prior to the discontinuance of his service as judge, multiplied by the number of years of service with which the retired judge is entitled to be credited at the time of such discontinuance of his service, not to exceed eight years.

SEC. 8. Section 75061 of the Government Code is amended to read :

75061. Every judge now or hereafter retired for disability shall receive a retirement allowance payable at the times and in the manner provided for the payment of salaries of justices of the Supreme Court. The retirement allowance shall be computed as follows :

(a) If eligible to retire under the provisions of Section 75025, he shall receive the allowance provided in Section 75032.

(b) Except as provided in Section 75080, if he is not eligible to retire under the provisions of Section 75025, he shall receive an allowance equal to one-half of the salary [which he last received as the incumbent of a judicial office], payable, at the time payments of the allowance fall due, to the judge holding the judicial office last held by him, which allowance shall be paid to him for five years from the date of his retirement, and thereafter for a period of time equal to the period, if any, by which his aggregate service as a judge exceeds five years.

SEC. 9. Section 75070 is added to said code, to read :

75070. The surviving spouse of a judge who dies after retirement under any of the provisions of this chapter or before retirement after becoming eligible to retire under the provisions of Section 75025 or Section 75033 shall be paid from the Judges' Retirement Fund an allowance equal to one-half the amount of retirement allowance that would be payable to the judge were he living and retired under this chapter. "Surviving spouse," as used in this section, does not include a person who has been married to the judge for less than 10 years next preceding the death of the judge. The allowance is payable commencing upon the death of the judge and continuing until the death or remarriage of the surviving spouse unless the judge dies after retirement for disability upon a retirement allowance payable for a limited period of years instead of for life, in which case the allowance to the surviving spouse is payable only if that period has not expired and shall terminate upon the expiration of that period or upon the death or remarriage of the surviving spouse, whichever first occurs.

Sec. 10. Section 7507 is added to and made to read:

7507. Every appointment under the previous order this chapter for a term commencing on the effective date of this statute is null and void, and no judge who was retained for service on the temporary basis of that date is eligible for reappointment. It shall be 3. Section 7509 and Section 7510, as those sections appear on the effective date of this statute, shall have no effect on the effective date of the retirement of the judge to whom such retirement agreement is given.

This section does not constitute any discharge in any retirement agreement, nor does this section give any retired judge or his representative an interest, any claim against the State, or any increase in any retirement allowance paid or payable for time prior to the effective date.

Sec. 11. Sections 9 to 10, inclusive, of this act become operative only if Chapter 11 of Title 8 of the Government Code is amended by the Legislature on or before 1955. Repeals Sections 9 and 10 and adds to the same title on such Chapter 11 of Title 8, Section 9, in which case the contents of the Judges Retirement Act shall be amended by this act and are repealed.
